JOHN SHORTER and CO., 382, George-street.

AMUSEMENTS for all classes of people. The best and only legitimate one for hard-worked persons, no matter how they work, either by brains or hand—Go fishing. You can get to Como, on the George's River, catch plenty of fish, and see the finest scenery in the world, and at a small cost; or you can go to Peat's Ferry, to the Hawkesbury River. Plenty of fish, and as regards scenery, that it is too well known to need any comment. These are the places people ought to go to for their health; and doctors will all tell you go fishing if you want to have long life. As regards Fishing Tackle, you had better go to EASTWAY BROTHERS, at 411, George-street, as they are the only ones that have and know the proper Tackle to give you. Many persons have gone fishing and caught no fish simply because they had not the proper Tackle. EASTWAY BROTHERS are continually going out with gentlemen on these rivers, and know what sort of Tackle to give you. Don't make a mistake and go to EASTWAYS, of King-street, as they are not the EASTWAYS of George-street.

NEW ISSUES OF SHARES.

The present improvement in trade and other evidences in various directions that the new year will witness a marked revival in colonial enterprise invite the submission of a further issue of the Shares of this Company, which were withdrawn during the period of extreme depression through which this colony has recently passed.

Advantage has been taken of this interval to perfect all arrangements for the complete development of the objects of the company. Its assurance and investment departments are now well founded, its present capital carefully invested, and the confidence of the public fully secured.

In seeking, therefore, to increase its Capital, the Directors desire it to be understood that no addition is necessary for the continuance of its assurance business. The funds already subscribed and paid up, or guaranteed by securities of undoubted value, give a guarantee to the public for the due discharge of all liabilities which is not exceeded by assurance offices of the highest standing. No increase of capital would therefore be sought were it not that the Directors are compelled to meet the requirements of the Legislature by a large increase of capital before application for a Special Act of Incorporation.

Fortunately, the founders of the Company—having wisely followed the example of many of the most prosperous "Trust" Companies established in Holland, at the Cape, and in the United States, in combining in one institution, but under distinct departments (as distinct as though separate companies), the business of "Trust" Management with that of Life Assurances and Investments in Mortgages of Real Property—are able to employ a large capital with considerable profit, the experience of the Company during the past year having shown that while the field for employment of capital in first-class mortgages is almost without limit in a young country where so much is waiting development, such advances tend to bring much "Trust Management" business; and an amount of Life Assurance to cover advances to legatees and other beneficiaries under trusts and wills, and to borrowers under mortgages which is only to be limited by the amount of capital available for loans. With these opportunities for profitable investment the Directors confidently offer the balance of a

and a
THIRD ISSUE of £90,000 £1 PREFERENCE SHARES, upon the terms above, and in the prospectus more fully stated.

The Fourth Issue is reserved for allotment in London, where arrangements are already in progress for the appointment of a Local Board.

GREAT SUCCESS OF TRUST COMPANIES.

Trust Associations have been in active operation in Holland for nearly a century, and several have been established in South Africa for over thirty years, and have so won the perfect confidence of the public that there are now no less than Eighteen such Companies quoted in the "Cape of Good Hope Prices Current," nearly all of which unite the business of the management of "Trusts" with "Assurance" and "Guarantee" operations. RECENT QUOTATIONS to APRIL LAST SHOW CONSIDERABLE INCREASES in their DIVIDENDS. In proof of this, attention is requested to the following tabulated quotations from the "South African Share List," revised to the 31st March last, of the amount paid up and selling price per share, and the annual dividends paid, and their equivalent yield per cent. per annum:—

Transvaal Ex's and Trusts Co.	1878	0	10	3	0	7	6	75

* The shares of the three companies firstly mentioned in the above list are nominally £200, with £10 paid, the balance of £190 being guaranteed by deposit of securities or cash on deposit (as in the case of the "guaranteed shares" of this company).

The above quotations show the unparalleled dividends secured by original investments in shares of a "Trust" Company when made at its commencement, so as to secure the advance of profits from its foundation. All are prospering, those established over 20 years paying from £30 to £750 per cent., those established over 10 and under 20 years paying from £30 to £250 per cent. Similar companies have also been established in Sweden, and 12 in New York, Chicago, and other principal cities of the United State, with like success, during the past 10 years. These have been followed by five companies in Victoria, one in South Australia, one in New Zealand; one other has recently commenced operations in this colony, THE PERPETUAL; its shares, 5s paid, sell at 13s, giving a premium of £160 per cent.; and one in London, where it is battling with the opposition of interested parties. Space forbids any tabulated record of the American companies, but of those near home it may be noticed that the company first established in Melbourne (1878) already pays dividends of £20 per cent., and its shares of £1 paid sell at £7 per share, giving a profit of £600 per cent. Others, not so long established, are selling at a smaller premium, and there can be no reason why this company should not in time rival the success of the most successful of these institutions. TRUST COMPANIES, IT IS CLEAR, MAY CLAIM TO NET THE LARGEST RETURN UPON CAPITAL OF ANY FINANCIAL INSTITUTION. Life Assurance Companies rank next in their rates of profit, the proportion reserved for shareholders yielding in well-established associations from £30 to £85 per cent.; and the bulk of our "Land and Mortgage" societies, while passing large sums to their reserve funds, pay dividends of £20 per cent. Such large dividends are, of course, the result of a large growth of business; but as this Company combines all these operations, the basis of its business will so quickly extend that, assuming but a small profit of but £6 per cent. from each department, an early dividend of £18 per cent. may be confidently relied on, with continued increases year by year as additional capital is introduced.

The objects of this Company are contained in the Memorandum of Association, which is endorsed on this prospectus.

The property acquired by the Company consists of the several claims and mining areas on the Croydon goldfields, in the colony of Queensland, situated at or near Tabletop, and known as the Mount Morgan Prospecting Claim, Mount Morgan No. 1 East, Mount Morgan No. 1A West, Mount Morgan No. 1 West, Mount Morgan No. 2 West, and Mount Morgan No. 3 West, containing an area of about 10½ acres, or a length of one thousand one hundred and fifty feet along the line of reef by four hundred feet in depth, together with all raised stone, plant, implements, and tools, and other rights, privileges and appurtenances belonging to the said several claims. With the mining area described above, the Company also acquires a machine site excellently situated on Tabletop Creek.

The following letter from Mr. J. H. Rendall to a gentleman in Brisbane, who applied to him for information, speaks for itself:—

Dear Sir,—As requested I beg to give you what information I can about the Tabletop Mount Morgan amalgamated claims on the Croydon goldfields derived from actual personal inspection and from a comparison with the best claims on the field, after some four months' residence there.

They are located immediately above and overlooking the Town of Tabletop, considered by every visitor to the field to be the centre of the most permanent looking, the largest, and the most reliable gold-bearing reefs on the field. Already there are some 3000 people in and around Tabletop, with coaches running twice each day from Croydon. The Northern Miner (Charters Towers) reports on Tabletop, after their special correspondent had spent six weeks on the field:—

"The best gold on the field is got on the ranges about Tabletop, 12 miles from town. Those ranges are almost mountains of quartz, and the reefs go down vertically or very nearly so. It is the most important part of the field in regard to reefing, the reefs being bigger and the gold better than is found in any other part of the field."

The Charters Towers Mining Record, a very reliable paper, of the 17th September, writes of Tabletop Mount Morgan:—

"In the same locality as the Republic Company's, viz., Tabletop, is situate a hill known as Mount Morgan, which is causing a deal of inquiry. The formation is a mixture of quartz and pipeclay, and three grand reefs are to be seen with a sort of bastard granite walls. In addition to the P. C. three claims have been taken up to the west and one on the east, but in view of the contemplated floating of the property in the southern market the whole of these claims have been amalgamated. On the north a claim has been taken up in such a position that the owners do not expect to cut the reef under 250ft. Gold can be seen in all the stone raised, of which fully 1000 tons are at grass. They will be able to raise plenty of quartz, as the reefs are from 5ft. to 6ft. wide, and prospects from the greatest depth attained have gone 6oz. to the ton. The new company will also erect a battery, which will be connected with the mine by a tramway."

The machine site secured is on Tabletop Creek, just below the town, and is considered a splendid site, there being plenty of room for building and machinery wood-stacking, and well removed above the creek level. A dam will throw the water back some distance, and by taking the stuff for the dam from the bed of the creek a good storage capacity will be obtained.

Everyone who visits Croydon visits Tabletop by coach, and the Bobby Dazzler, Great Eastern, Republic, Federation, Ace of Hearts, and other claims all within a few minutes' walk, and most of them in sight of Tabletop, satisfy all visitors as to the immense future of this portion of the field.

A special feature in connection with this Mount Morgan is that at the foot of it the Federation has sunk a shaft 35ft. and got 7ft. of a reef going straight into the mountain, thus proving that there is gold right through it, and when the thousands of tons of surface stone already in sight are taken into consideration, some conception of the immensity of the value of this property may be made.

From the day the machine is erected the mine will be a dividend-paying one, and continue so for ages, so far as present indications are concerned, or as can be judged from the immense body of stone now known to exist.

The Croydon Miner of the 31st August states:—"Among the mines talked about on Tabletop is the Mount Morgan, the name itself adding a lustre to what promises to be a rich and permanent holding. This mine is situate on or rather embraces the whole of a hill overlooking, and about a quarter of a mile from, the township. It is formed of what seems to be calcined quartz boulders, dipping into a pipeclay formation, and, so far as at present worked, holds three well-formed reefs, cased between well-defined bastard granite walls. The claims taken up are the P.C. and Nos. 1A, 1, 2, and 3 West, and No. 1 East, and the whole property has been amalgamated with the view of floating it as a company in the southern market. The P.C. has been working on the underlie, and is now down about 15ft., the reef dipping to the north and showing good gold, the stone being calcined and crystallised quartz in about equal quantities. This claim has been blocked off on the north by M'Donald, Abbott, and party, who are down 30ft., but have not struck the reef, which they expect to reach at 250ft. The No. 1 are now driving south-easterly, both the surface stone and soil showing gold freely. Nos. 2 and 3 are on the same reefs as the prospecting claim, two of the reefs being close together, and the third a few hundred yards away running south, and being of the same peculiar pipeclay and calcined quartz formation as in the other. At least 1000 tons of stone are on the surface, from any point of which good prospects can be obtained, and the lot should give a good return for a crushing. The reefs are from four to six feet wide, dipping almost perpendicularly, and as high as 6oz. prospecting have been obtained from the deepest sinking. The amalgamated area includes 1150ft. by 400, and about 500 yards below the mountain on Tabletop Creek, a machine site has been secured, down to which is a gradual slope suitable with but little outlay for the laying down of tram lines to and from the mine. This property should form a most compact and profitable investment for a company, and, if floated, would doubtless aid in giving a good name to Croydon properties among southern investors."

I have sat on the top of Mount Morgan from 9 o'clock in the morning until after midday, and seen stone dollied from all over the top of the mountain, all of which carried gold, and some showed splendid prospects. I have heard the working shareholders offer to bet the "Bobby Dazzler" shareholders they would pick stone from Mount Morgan and let "Bobby Dazzler" men pick their best stone, and they would back Mount Morgan to beat the other claim, and this challenge was not accepted. The "Bobby Dazzler" is admitted by all to be an immense fortune for all in it, but Mount Morgan contains several "Bobby Dazzler" reefs apart from the wonderful quantity of auriferous surface stone.

Any further information required I will gladly give you.
Yours very faithfully,
J. H. RENDALL.

Messrs. Barker and Frew, the well-known Croydon mining agents and sharebrokers, have telegraphed to a gentleman in Brisbane respecting this property:—"Know the claim to be a good one; several reefs in ground; excellent prospects from them."

Mr. W. C. Brown, the pioneer of the Croydon goldfields, also wires to a Brisbane friend concerning these claims:—"Mount Morgan one of the best properties to invest in on the field, either in scrip or shares."

Mr. T. D. Kellaway, mining assayer, wired in the month of September last:—"Visited mine; too little work has been done to speak definitely; very large quantities quartz on surface; as much of reefs as opened shows large body stone; took several prospects; consider average upwards of ounce."

Stone taken from the Company's claims, without being specially picked, has been submitted for analysis, with the following results:—

Albert-street, Brisbane,
13th September, 1887.

I hereby certify that I have examined the sample brought in to me on the 10th instant, and find by fire assay that it contains gold at the rate of 3oz. 2dwt. 17gr., and silver at the rate of 2oz. 1dwt. 19gr. to the ton of 2240lb.

The sample consisted of two pieces of white quartz, with numerous stains and incrustations of oxide of iron.

Brisbane, October 12th, 1887.

I hereby certify that I have examined the sample brought into me yesterday from Tabletop, Croydon, and find by fire assay that it contains fine gold at the rate of 4oz. 6dwt. 6gr. and silver at the rate of 1oz. 19dwt. 5gr. to the ton of 2240lb.

The sample consisted of four pieces of milky-white reef quartz, a little gold being visible, especially under the magnifying glass. The total weight of this sample, from which I made my assay, was five pounds one ounce (5lb. 1oz.)

With the moneys derived from the shares now offered to the public the directors propose to immediately erect crushing machinery of the most improved nature, in the confident anticipation that results as shown in the following statement of proposed receipts and expenditure may be realised:—

EXPENDITURE.

20-stamper battery, with all appurtenances, say...	3000	0	0
Freight to Normanton, say ...	300	0	0
Carriage to Tabletop, say 40 tons at £15 ...	600	0	0
Dam at machine site, say ...	660	0	0
Buildings, cost of erection, &c. ...	2000	0	0
	£6560	0	0

Present Weekly Expenses—

	£	s.	d.
20 men (miners) to represent the 1150ft. along the reefs, including the 150ft. reward, at £4 per week ...	80	0	0
Dynamite, steel, timber, and other expenses, say...	10	0	0
	£90	0	0

Weekly Working Expenses when the Machine is Erected—

	£	s.	d.
Miners' wages, &c., as at present ...	90	0	0
Seven men at £4 per week, say ...	28	0	0
Two engine-drivers at £7 per week, say ...	14	0	0
One manager, say ...	7	0	0
Wood, carriage of stone to mill, &c., say ...	80	0	0
Sundries, say castor oil, quicksilver, tools ...	30	0	0
	£253	0	0

RECEIPTS.

When Mill is in Full Work—
20-stamper battery can crush 200 tons of stone easily per week, and, taking the low average of 1oz. to the ton, which is well within the mark, the result would be 200 tons at 1oz., equal to 200oz. of gold; 200oz. of gold worth, say, £3 10s per oz. ... £700 0 0

	£	s.	d.
Total receipts per week, say... ...	700	0	0
Total expenditure per week, say ...	253	0	0
Balance of profit per week, say ...	£447	0	0

Taking this for a year would give an annual profit of £23,244. As it is not the intention of the directors at the present time to call up more than 10s per share, the actual paid-up capital of the Company would be £25,000, upon which amount the above annual return would pay highly satisfactory dividends. IT IS ESTIMATED THAT THE CRUSHING OF THE STONE NOW AT GRASS—SAY 1000 TONS—WILL PAY THE EXPENSES OF FORMATION OF THE COMPANY AND ERECTION OF THE MACHINERY.

At a later stage it may be considered advisable to erect a 50-stamper battery, which could be kept constantly going, the stone appearing practically inexhaustible. The "Federation" mine, situated at the foot of the mountain, has, at 30 feet, a 7-foot reef running right into the heart of the mountain, stone from which the owners expect will go 5oz. to the ton. The existence of this reef augurs well for the permanence of the consolidated company's claims at a depth which it will take a long time to reach.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT—MONDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

In Banco.—(Before their Honors Mr. Justice INNES, Mr. Justice DEFFELL, and Mr. Justice OWEN.)

MANN V. SMITH.

Mr. Rogers and Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Dr. G. J. Sly, appeared on behalf of the appellant (defendant) in support of a motion to make absolute a rule nisi for a new trial of the above action; and Mr. Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. Gibson, instructed by Mr. J. M'Laughlin, appeared to show cause. The action, which was tried before Mr. Justice Faucett and a jury of four in November last year, was brought by James E. Mann against H. Selwyn Smith, to recover damages for an alleged libel contained in a letter written by the defendant on the 2nd January, 1886, to Eyre G. Ellis, solicitor, in respect to the plaintiff's business affairs. The jury returned a verdict in favour of plaintiff with £200 damages, and the defendant now appealed on various grounds, among others that the verdict was against evidence, that the letter upon which the alleged libel was based was a privileged communication, that his Honor ought to have nonsuited plaintiff, that his Honor refused to allow plaintiff to be cross-examined as to the instructions received in writing by him from John Brinsmead and Sons, London, and that the damages were excessive. It appeared that last year the defendant was acting for creditors in the insolvent estate of plaintiff, who had formerly carried on business with Horace G. Brinsmead, and he (defendant) was fully empowered by the creditors to act in their interests in every way in the insolvency, and investigate the affairs of the insolvent throughout. Mann was very largely indebted to the Union Bank, and it appeared that in order to secure that debt he had delivered to the bank a written guarantee made by his wife—formerly Miss Farrell—who was entitled to considerable property in her own right. Some short time prior to the insolvency, the plaintiff conveyed a quantity of assets to the bank under circumstances which were alleged to amount to an undue preference; and, upon an action being brought against the bank by the official assignee, he obtained a verdict. Before this action, some negotiations had been going on for a settlement, and Mr. Smith, acting for the creditors, went to Messrs. Ellis and Makinson, who were solicitors for Mrs. Mann's trustees and the Farrell family, and Mr. Ellis requested Mr. Smith to furnish a full report in regard to Mr. Mann's insolvency. Mr. Smith did so; and it was certain portions of this report which were complained of as libellous, and upon which the action was brought.

Mr. Rogers submitted first of all that his Honor ought to have nonsuited the plaintiff. They had the fact that the defendant was acting for the general body of creditors, excepting two unimportant ones, and that Mrs. Mann's interests were involved to a large amount. She was a member of the Farrell family, and Mr. Ellis, to whom Mr. Smith went, was practically her solicitor, and he requested Mr. Smith to write this letter, which contained the libel complained of. Under these circumstances he submitted that the occasion was absolutely privileged. He cited Clarke v. Molineaux, 3 D.B., p. 237; Beatson and Skene, H. and W., p. 838; and Spill and Maule, L. R., 4 Exc., p. 232. He contended that the defendant acted in the interests not only of the creditors, but also in the interest of Mrs. Mann's trustees, and that being invested by the creditors with all these powers he actually saved plaintiff from the creditors. He also contended that the Judge was in error in refusing to allow plaintiff to be cross-examined as to the instructions which he received in writing from John Brinsmead and Sons, because it was plaintiff's conduct in regard to those instructions which was considered to be open to grave objection.

Mr. Stephen, on the same side, also contended that the letter was written on a privileged occasion, and that there was no evidence of mala fides. He cited "Odgers on the Law of Libel and Slander," p. 204.

The arguments were then adjourned until the following day.

UHDE V. ASCHE.

The following is the full text of the judgment of his Honor the Chief Justice in the above case, which was argued on November 1:—

The CHIEF JUSTICE said: We are all of opinion that there must be a new trial in this case. Of course, in delivering judgment I am only expressing my own opinion, because it may turn out that we are not quite agreed upon one portion of the evidence. However, that is a matter which is not material, and cannot affect the result. I am of opinion that there is absolutely no evidence of eviction. It appears here that Uhde let Asche three rooms of a house for a year, two rooms being down stairs and the other up stairs. These rooms were let to the defendant for the purpose of being occupied by a doctor, two as consulting rooms, and one as a sleeping room if the doctor required it. It appeared that the defendant did not require these rooms afterwards for the use of the doctor, and he seems to have gone to some fishman, and asked him if he could find anyone to take these rooms, there being no clause in the lease against subletting. It appears also, according to the evidence of the defendant, that when he applied to this fishmonger the latter produced Michell. Mr. Gannon and Asche came together some time after the 23rd May, though why Mr. Gannon was brought upon the scene at that stage it is hard to understand; and Uhde is immediately told that Michell is brought there for the purpose of being a subtenant, and that it was the intention of Michell to open an oyster shop in one of these rooms. Plaintiff naturally enough showed his disinclination to this, whereupon Gannon said, "There is no stipulation in your lease against it, and whether he opens an oyster saloon or not, you will have to submit to it." Plaintiff submitted to what he considered to be inevitable, and Asche brings Michell down and gets the locks put in order, and Michell appears afterwards and locks the doors. At the end of the week he comes down and does not seem in any very great hurry; but he uses language to Mrs. Uhde which he afterwards expressed his regret for having used. He tells Mr. Uhde that he intends to open an oyster saloon, and that he will have the place open all night for girls, &c. That showed pretty clearly what sort of man he was. Mrs. Uhde expressed a disinclination to have this, and Michell goes away and comes back in the evening, and finds the door, as one would naturally have supposed, shut. He does not appear to have attempted to go in in any way or knock, but he goes away. Two or three days elapse and Michell comes back again—at what time he does not say—and finding the outside door still shut, and a notice on the door stating that persons wanting anything should go round, he pushes against the door but finds it firm. He does not appear to have knocked or rung, and this is an end of Mr. Michell, who immediately went to his landlord, Mr. Asche, and handed the keys to him. Mr. Asche takes no steps until more than a week after the month's rent is due, and on the 30th June he writes to plaintiff, saying that the keys are then at his disposal. This is the first intimation that Mr. Uhde has that defendant intends to give up the place. It appears to me that under the circumstances there was no evidence of eviction. The learned Judge below found that there was, and seeing that one of their Honors, at any rate, thinks there was some evidence, however slight, I express only my own opinion in the matter. In the case put by Mr. Bruce Smith there was an actual notice to quit given to the sub-tenant, who had given up possession and had been out of possession fully a year before the landlord brought his action, and there the action of the landlord was held to be the expulsion of the tenant from the premises. Two other cases cited by Mr. Bruce Smith were Upton v. Townend, 17 C. B., p. 30, and Upton v. Greenless. Both cases were argued, and there was very considerable doubt in the minds of the learned Judges as to the true legal meaning of the word "eviction" there, and after hearing argument the learned Chief Justice laid down what appears to me to be a very safe definition of eviction. (His Honor here read an extract from the judgment.) It must, therefore, be some act of a grave and permanent character, done by the landlord with the intention of depriving the tenant of the enjoyment of the demised premises. Now, I fail to see after reading the evidence carefully, anything here of a grave and permanent character done by the landlord with an intention to deprive the tenant of the demised premises. No doubt if the tenant had knocked at the door and intimated his intention to enter by that door, and the landlord had told him he could not enter, that would be evidence of an intention to deprive the tenant of the permanent enjoyment of these premises, and would have been a distinct act by the landlord similar to giving notice to quit. I see no evidence of any act done by Michell which showed an intention on his part to occupy the rooms. It appears to me it was a mere threat, and that he was brought there simply for the purpose of inducing Uhde to relieve Asche of an onerous lease. However, whether there was evidence of an eviction or not, Asche kept possession of the place until the 30th June; and having kept possession of the place until that time—that is after the supposed eviction took place—the case must go down for a new trial, inasmuch as an eviction by a landlord only suspends the rent during eviction. The law is clearly laid down in Morrison v. Chadwick, 7 C.B. reports, p. 283. His Honor quoted from the case.) In this case Mr. Asche has done something equivalent to re-entering and resuming possession, and not until the month's rent has fallen due and a new month commenced does he tender the keys. On these grounds I think the case must go down for a new trial, when defendant may be able to give evidence of the eviction and strengthen his position.

First Jury Court.—(Before his Honor the CHIEF JUSTICE and a jury of four.)

LYONS V. HOFFNUNG (PART HEARD).

The plaintiff in this case was Samuel Lyons, official assignee in the insolvent estate of Wm. Clare, and the defendants were a firm of seven gentlemen trading as S. Hoffnung and Co., of Sydney.

Mr. Pilcher and Mr. Bruce Smith, instructed by Messrs. Allen and Allen, were for the plaintiff; and Mr. Salomons and Mr. Cohen, instructed by Mr. D. L. Levy, were for the defendants.

The chief point at issue was whether goods sold on credit could be stopped in transit by the sellers on their learning of the purchaser being in insolvent circumstances, or whether, having been already sold, they formed part of his insolvent estate, and could be taken possession of by the official assignee on behalf of the general creditors of the estate.

The plaintiff sued the defendants for £2000 damages for having converted to their own use, and deprived the plaintiff of the use of certain cases of goods shipped per s.s. Gambier, for delivery to William Clare, at Kimberley, consisting of earthenware, tobacco, cordials, ironmongery, implements, and other goods suitable for a general store. Other counts charged that Clare, shortly before the sequestration of his estate, being then insolvent, transferred to the defendants certain goods, and thus preferred them as existing creditors to other creditors.

The defence was that the goods were not, and never were, the plaintiff's, as alleged. Before the time of the alleged conversion the defendants stated that they were the owners of, and sold the goods to, William Clare for a certain price, upon certain terms of credit agreed upon between them. The defendants, in pursuance of the bargain, shipped the goods on board the steamship Gambier, to be carried to Kimberley, Western Australia, on their way to delivery to William Clare. But while they remained in possession of Messrs. Howard Smith and Co., as carriers, and before delivery to Clare, and before payment of the price, the defendants first learned the fact that Clare was in insolvent circumstances at the time of the bargain being made with him, and as a matter of fact he became insolvent shortly afterwards. Before the termination of the transit from defendants to Clare defendants stopped the goods and re-obtained possession of them, which possession they now contended they held lawfully. Under these circumstances they urged that William Clare did not alienate, transfer or deliver the goods to them as alleged by the plaintiff; and they also denied that they were in any way preferred by him to other creditors. The goods supplied by defendants to Clare were of the value of £532.

A large number of witnesses were called to prove the purchase and consignment of the goods, and the case on either side was closed.

Mr. Cohen proceeded to address the Court for the defendants.

His HONOR raised the issue as to whether, where the consignee had paid the freight in advance to the shipping owners, that did not constitute a new contract between the shipping owners and the consignee, so as to preclude the right of stoppage in transit. The argument would have to be adjourned until the following day, and he requested counsel for the defendants to look up this point.

The case stands as part heard.

Second Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FAUCETT and a jury of four.)

PERDRIAU V. MOORE AND ANOTHER (PART HEARD).

Mr. G. B. Simpson, Q.C., and Dr. Sly (instructed by Mr. G. J. Sly) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Bruce Smith and Mr. Cockshott (instructed by Mr. C. J. Burns) for the defendants. This was an action brought by the plaintiff (Henry Perdriau) against William Moore and Thomas Moore to recover the sum of £323 17s. 4d. for damage and loss sustained by him, owing, as alleged, to the defendants' servants having so negligently and unskilfully managed and directed a certain steamer called the Leveret on the 20th May last, in Sydney Cove, that she ran into and sank the plaintiff's steamer Genista, in consequence of which the plaintiff was put to great expense in raising and repairing the vessel and gear, and also lost the profits arising out of the working of such vessel for a considerable period.

The case for the plaintiff was closed last week. The version of the accident given by John Buckley, master of the Leveret, was that on the afternoon of the date of the collision he left Clontarf for Circular Quay, and upon reaching Pinchgut he gave orders to go half speed; he was at the wheel himself, and he made a long round, going close to Kirribilli; the North Shore horse boat waited for him to pass, and the Leveret entered the Quay about mid-channel, a little, if anything, to the westward, the time being about 6.30 p.m.; witness saw a boat coming out of the Quay, approaching the Leveret's green light, and she afterwards proved to be the Genista, and the Leveret's green light was kept to the Genista's green for some time; he also blew his whistle at intervals after leaving Pinchgut; suddenly the Genista ported her helm, and, going at full speed, ran across the Leveret's bow; the Leveret, seeing the change in the Genista's course, immediately went full speed astern in order to avoid a collision, but he did not succeed in getting away from the Genista, which was so seriously injured that the passengers had to be taken off by the Leveret and landed at the floating jetty. The evidence of the chief engineer was to the effect that the Leveret's engines had taken 15 or 20 revolutions astern before the collision took place.

The evidence being concluded, Mr. Bruce Smith addressed the jury on behalf of the defendants, and the case was then further adjourned until to-day.

Third Jury Court, Darlinghurst.—(Before Mr. Justice STEPHEN and a jury of four.)

SANGUINETI V. BANK OF AUSTRALASIA.

Mr. F. E. Rogers, with him Mr. E. P. Field, instructed by Mr. Gillespie, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. G. C. Heydon, instructed by Messrs. Norton and Co., appeared for the bank.

This action was brought to recover the sum of £500 damages for the dishonour of plaintiff's cheque, and also for the neglect of the defendants to credit the plaintiff, in account current, with a sum of £50, thereby depriving him of the use of that sum for a period of nearly a month; and that the plaintiff was in consequence injured in his credit and reputation in his business. Plaintiff was a baker and grocer, carrying on business at Copeland, a mining township, 43 miles from Stroud, at which place he had an account in the Bank of Australasia. In April last, in payment of an account due by him to Mr. Jesse Ireland, of Newcastle, he forwarded to that person a cheque for £19 14s., at that time having a balance in the bank at Stroud of £1 7s. 9d. At the same time he forwarded in a registered letter, addressed to the manager of the bank, Stroud, the sum of £41 in bank notes and a cheque drawn by one George Pritchard for £9, making £50 in all, which would bring his account at the bank up to £51 7s. 9d., or, deducting the amount of cheque which had to be collected, £42 7s. 9d., with which to meet the cheque forwarded to Mr. Ireland, who was a wholesale grocer of Newcastle. That cheque was paid into the Bank of Australasia at Newcastle, where Mr. Ireland banked, and forwarded on to the branch bank at Stroud, where it was dishonoured. The cheque was made payable to "J. Ireland or bearer." The plaintiff then had correspondence with the bank, the officials of which stated they had received no such registered letter as stated, but afterwards found that such letter containing the £41 and the £9 cheque had duly come to hand, but had been mislaid. The plaintiff had banked with the defendants since the 13th of August, 1886, when he had opened an account with the sum of £30 7s. 7d., and since that time had constantly drawn cheques upon his account in the ordinary course of business. It appears that in November of last year, through some mistake, the bank also dishonoured a cheque of the plaintiff, but on that occasion no steps were taken by the latter, as in this case. After the second cheque had been dishonoured in April last, the plaintiff consulted his lawyer, and communication was entered into with the bank authorities with a view to an amicable arrangement, but it fell through.

Practically the defendants offered no defence; they admitted the receipt of the letter containing the notes and cheque, and pleaded that it had been mislaid, merely defending the action in mitigation of damages; but Mr. Rogers, in his opening remarks, drew special attention to the fact that the defendants had paid nothing into Court. The only witness examined was the plaintiff.

The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £50.

INSOLVENCY COURT—MONDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge M'FARLAND.)

EXAMINATION MEETINGS.

Re Samuel Bennett Bailey. Examination of insolvent. He was further examined by Mr. G. H. Reid (on behalf of the official assignee). S. B. Bailey now deposed that he left Merriwa in 1870; the furniture there was settled on Mrs. Bailey; there were seven or eight rooms in the house; witness kept a store at Merriwa; he next came to Sydney, bringing some of the furniture with him; he lived as a tenant until he went into the house at North Shore; in the North Shore house there were five rooms; the Manly property (Restormel) witness bought previously from Mills and Pile for £2450; that was in 1885; witness paid a deposit of £100 on that property, and gave three promissory notes for the balance, £2350; witness's father was the contractor for the house erected on the North Shore property; he was paid by "draws" on the building society; witness's father was the contractor and the architect and acted as valuator for the society; his father obtained the advance on behalf of witness from the building society; witness bought the Restormel (Manly) property before the North Shore property was sold; Restormel remained in his hands about 12 months before he settled it upon his wife; it was in witness's name until about July 7, 1886, when it was conveyed to his brother as trustee for his (insolvent's) wife; after witness settled Restormel upon his wife she obtained from the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company a loan of £2800 on mortgage; when the money was paid for the North Shore property it was paid into the A. J. S. Bank, as that bank had paid witness's bills to Mills and Pile in respect to the Manly property; Mrs. Bailey had two houses at Manly, called "Carrington" and "Harbord;" witness might have included in a statement he gave a bank the Restormel property, but that was, he thought, before the sale of the North Shore property. Mr. Reid also examined the witness with a view to showing that he had until very recently always represented that the Restormel property was his. £200, of money obtained on loan, was, witness said, paid for Harbord and Carrington to Mr. C. B. Pitt, solicitor, and the remainder on an orchard at Pittwater, bought from Huntley and Barnard; Mr. Huntley was the former owner of the orchard; the orchard was bought in Mrs. Bailey's name; witness was now working that orchard; the orchard was bought for £400, and had been mortgaged for £400 to the Burwood Building Society—about 12 months ago; the proceeds of that mortgage were placed to witness's credit in the A. J. S. Bank; the moneys got were dispersed in various ways—he could not tell how; since witness went to Restormel, he had made purchases of new furniture; amongst those from whom he bought furniture were Harris and Ackman, and Campbell Brothers; the money to pay for the furniture was obtained as an overdraft by witness from the A. J. S. Bank; the proceeds of a bill of sale on the Restormel property went to witness's account; he was pressed for money at that time; witness could not say whether he told Mr. Blaxland, accountant at the A. J. S. Bank, that the Restormel property was his own; witness was not aware that for some time he in his dealings with the A. J. S. Bank treated the Restormel property as his own; he had some shares in the Eveleen Silver-mining Company; witness sold some and pledged the remainder; he could not say when he sold them and to whom; he got about a couple of thousand pounds for those shares; he pledged some of the shares about 18 months ago to Mr. Himmelhoch; the A. J. S. Bank sold to Mr. Samuel Bennett shares in the Oxford Land Company for £300; witness did not get any of that money; witness was interested jointly with James Murray, James Hunt, and G. M. Dunn in the Brighton Land Company; shortly before his insolvency he handed over to them certain Brighton Land Company's shares, the consideration for which was they had severally endorsed bills for him; he about two months before his insolvency gave them those shares to hold as collateral security, but did not sell them to them; witness held some shares jointly with Mr. L. H. Nathan, from whom he received a cheque for £600. The examination was adjourned till Monday next.

Re John Knox and Andrew Knox, adjourned examination of insolvent and witnesses. Mr. C. J. Manning appeared on behalf of the official assignee. John Chard, of Franklin-place, Glebe, deposed that he was brother-in-law to the insolvents; witness was in possession of a shop at the corner of Cowper and King streets; the property belonged to Mr. Scott; insolvents had the shop, and sold out to witness; that was about six months prior to the sequestration of their estate; he paid them £150 in cash; he earned that money by working for it; he worked as a gardener and at several other things; he had saved and put away that money; he kept the money in his house, save times when he carried it in his pocket; witness paid the money in the shop to John Knox; the other insolvent was not present; witness had at home a receipt for the money; he had since been paying rent to Mr. Scott—£1 14s. 8d. a fortnight; witness was in possession of the house next door; he did not know who was the owner of that house; when he bought the Knoxes out he bought the house as well; there was no owner to that house when the Knoxs had it; he had paid no rent for it; witness claimed possession of the house by virtue of his agreement with the Knoxs; witness had obtained from the Knoxs a lease for seven years; that lease included the house next door as well as the shop. The examination terminated.

Re Abraham Goldberg, adjourned examination of insolvent and witnesses. Mr. Johnson appeared on behalf of the official assignee. Richard M'Coy, J.P., deposed that he had known the insolvent for two months; witness became bail for the insolvent in regard to a charge of fraudulent insolvency, and was now one of his sureties; witness became bail in the sum of £600; at the time he first became bail he had no indemnity; there was no understanding that by reason of becoming bail witness would not lose; witness's son had said, "I do not think you will be running any risk if you become bail, as I feel sure if Goldberg be committed he will remain for his trial;" upon that witness undertook the risk; witness could not say that he became bail as a matter of friendship; witness was informed by Mr N. Cohen or witness's son that the brother to the insolvent, Mr. Samuel Goldberg, wished him to become bail; N. Cohen was engaged with Samuel Goldberg in the money-lending business; N. Cohen was a friend of witness's son; witness was not personally acquainted with his co-surety in the matter; witness's son was employed professionally for Mr. Goldberg, and it was because his son said he thought he would not undertake any risk if he became bail that he did so.

Samuel Goldberg, brother to the insolvent, deposed that he was carrying on a loan office—the National Loan, Banking, and Discount Company; he had carried on that business for about two months; the insolvent had managed that business for witness; the assignment of Abraham Goldberg's estate took place about two months before the loan office was started; witness was previously a commercial traveller in the employment of his brother; witness's capital, when he started the loan business, was about £1600; witness had had in his hands a cheque for £396 0s. 8d., drawn by Charles Moore and Co.; witness's brother gave him that cheque, and witness cashed it; witness went to Charles Moore and Co.'s to identify the endorsement on the back of the cheque; he did that because the bank would not pay the cheque without the signature of the endorsee being identified; witness did not add £3 19s. 4d. and obtain eight £50-notes and then pay into the bank £400; to the best of his belief he could not say whether he received in payment for the cheque seven £50-notes; witness took back from the bank the proceeds of that cheque and paid them to his brother; witness had seen it stated in a newspaper that there was no entry in insolvent's cash book of that sum; witness, about five or six months ago, cashed for his brother an open cheque for £300; he thought it was on the City Bank; in witness's opinion his brother never signed any cheques whilst he was employed in connection with the loan business; he paid his brother £8 a week for managing that business; witness could himself have managed that business, but his brother having had more commercial experience than he had, he employed him to manage the business; witness had earned the £1600 during the 10 years he had been in Sydney; at first he received £5 a week as traveller for his brother, and afterwards £8; witness always drew cheques (signed by himself) for advances he made in connection with the loan office; witness had never been insolvent; he had had £1200 in his safe at his office; he had kept that sum in his office for five or six weeks; whenever he advanced money after banking hours he drew cheques upon his own bank, which he paid out of money in his safe; he afterwards banked those cheques.

During the course of the examination of the witness Samuel Goldberg, the Judge observed that it appeared to him very plainly that the witness was both evading the questions and prevaricating, and unless he mended his ways he (his Honor) would be compelled to take a certain course. The witness had better be careful. The examination was, however, concluded without the course indicated by the Judge being adopted.

R. W. W. M'Coy, solicitor, deposed that Mr. S. Goldberg, asked witness if he would ask his father to act as bail for Abraham Goldberg; that was on Saturday; on the Sunday following witness mentioned the matter to his father, telling him that the accused protested his innocence; he (witness) thought he would go to trial, and that there was no risk; witness had the last six or seven weeks acted for Mr. Samuel Goldberg; witness never heard of any arrangement whereby a sum of money was to be deposited as an indemnity to his father.

Percy M'Cauley (recalled) deposed that the name of the clerk who kept the sales-book in insolvent's business was James Naghton, about 20 years of age, who lived in the direction of Waverley; witness did not know where he was now; the office of the insolvent was always closed on Saturdays; the insolvent's business was done by Goldberg, witness, Naghton, three boys, and a packer; witness believed that some goods were sent to Jones Bros.; he had heard that no such people as Jones Bros. could be found at Yass; to the best of witness's belief goods were sent from Goldberg's addressed "Jones Bros., Yass;" there was an entry in witness' handwriting in the books of goods having been so sent; the name of the packer was H. Owen; to the best of his witness's belief the alleged sales to Messrs. Jones of Yass, J. C. Turner of Queanbeyan, Basham of Bathurst, and Hughes and Co. of Singleton, were bona fide sales; witness never saw at Goldberg's anyone of the name of J. C. Turner, Basham, Hughes and Co of Singleton, Jones Bros. of Yass; he could not say that he ever saw any letters or orders signed by any of those persons; witness believed that all the goods entered to Tutty and Co., of Goulburn, were sold to them; he believed that all those goods were sent to Tutty and Co., of Goulburn; witness did not recollect ever seeing the cheque for £396 0s. 8d. drawn by Chas. Moore and Co.; that cheque was not entered in the cash book; before witness went to Charles Moore and Co. for the cheque for £700 the insolvent informed him that the cheque would be an open one, and he (witness) inferred from that that the insolvent wanted it cashed, and he therefore went to the bank and got it cashed; he could not tell whether he gave the £50 notes he got from the bank for the £700 cheque to Mr. Goldberg or put them in the safe; witness had such implicit faith in Mr. Goldberg that he believed those £50 notes were paid away in business; the bulk of Goldberg's payments were made by cheque; witness cashed a cheque for £300 odd drawn by Kellett and Alford, and obtained £50 notes for it; the fact of having to cash cheques for £50 notes for Goldberg did not suggest to witness that there was anything wrong; an entry was made on May 13, the right-hand side of folio 127 of the cashbook, but it had been scratched out with a knife and another entry substituted; witness always kept the cash book; he would not swear that he did not scratch out with a knife the entry which had been removed; he could not swear he did not do it; he must have scratched it out; he would now say that he had no doubt that he scratched out the former entry; he believed he scratched out "A. Gazzard, £504 8s. 6d.," the sum credited to Gazzard; that payment was made to Gazzard on May 13th, but now appeared to have been made on May 16th; he would swear positively that that erasure was not made only a few days prior to the stoppage of the business; the substituted entry represented the receipt of £750, proceeds of the cheque which he had cashed; he did not know that it was a grossly improper thing to make erasures in a cash book; it would be usual for a cash-book to show what was done with an amount of £760; yet that cash-book did not show what had been done with that sum of £750; when witness pointed out that he had made that entry in the cash-book and there was nothing to show what had been done with it, Goldberg said "Oh never mind, I will keep that amount in my private book." The witness was also examined relative to other erasures in the books, and entries substituted by him for those which had been removed. Some of these erasures were in the ledger account against Tutty and Company, and were, witness said, rendered necessary by the account being complicated, by reason of the frequent return of goods by Tutty and Co.

At this stage of the proceedings the examination was adjourned for a week.

SCHEDULES FILED.

William Bradley, of Smithtown, Macleay River, storekeeper. Liabilities, £1992 0s. 6d.; assets, £228 14s. 11d. Benjamin Benjamin, of Sydney. Liabilities, £2612 0s. 7d.; assets, £7106 9s. 3d.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT—MONDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge WILKINSON.)

MUNGALL V. MARTIN.

In this case, the plaintiff, Robert Mungall, of Sydney, sued John A. Martin, of George-street, for money received by the defendant for the use of the plaintiff, and for interest upon money due from the defendant, and for money found to be due from Martin to the plaintiff on accounts stated between them. Mungall claimed the sum of £84 5s. The defendant pleaded a set-off against the plaintiff's claim of £74 2s., together with the sum of £10 6s. 6d., including costs, paid into court. His Honor, by consent, gave a verdict for the plaintiff for £20, without costs.

BROWN AND OTHERS V. DAVIDSON.

A claim for £23 9s. for goods sold and delivered. A nonsuit was entered by consent.

KRAUSE V. CASSON.

A claim of £25 for goods sold and delivered, &c. The plaintiff was William Krause, of George-street, and the defendant was C. A. Casson (trading as C. A. Casson and Co.), of Sussex-street. Plaintiff claimed that the defendant did not deliver to him certain goods which he had purchased, to wit, English hams, but delivered to him goods of another kind, viz., colonial hams, which were inferior in quality and worthless. After hearing a number of witnesses his Honor gave a verdict for the defendant.

MANDELSON V. GANDON.

The plaintiff sought to recover the sum of £12 from P. J. Gandon, Macquarie-place, for advertising as per contract. After hearing evidence, his Honor gave a verdict for the plaintiff for the amount claimed.

DARLINGHURST QUARTER SESSIONS.

MONDAY.

(Before Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.)

UNNATURAL OFFENCE.

John Kelly, 20, and Alfred Marsh, 55, who were on Saturday found guilty of an unnatural offence, were brought up for sentence.

His HONOR, addressing Marsh, said the jury had recommended him to mercy, but why they had done so he (the Judge) could not say; he, however, would give effect to that recommendation, and would sentence him to four years' imprisonment, and, in addition, ordered him to receive a whipping of 12 strokes privately with the instrument known as the "cat," on Monday next. With Kelly the case was different, and he would be sentenced to five years' penal servitude; and, in addition, would be privately whipped with 24 strokes of the cat on Monday next.

BIGAMY.

John Wright, alias Edwin Rowland Ernest Leonard, alias John Edward Langridge, was indicted on a charge of having intermarried Frances Jane Davis, his first wife, Elizabeth, being still alive.

Mr. T. C. J. Foster prosecuted on behalf of the Crown, and prisoner was defended by Mr. R. H. Levien.

The facts of the case, as stated on behalf of the Crown, are as follows:—The prosecutrix, then named Elizabeth Incher, was married to the prisoner, who then went by the name of Edwin Rowland Ernest Leonard, on the 3rd of April, 1871, at Sydney. They lived together for four years, at the end of which time prisoner, who was a mounted trooper, was sentenced to several terms of imprisonment. He was released at the end of two years, but did not return to his first wife, whom he left with two children, for which she brought him before the Court. In March, 1878, he was married to Frances Jane Davis at St. James's Church, Sydney. Three children were the result of this marriage, and the parties were living together when prisoner was arrested. In cross-examination the prosecutrix stated there was no reason for her husband to have suspected her of unfaithfulness, and that nothing of that kind had ever occurred; she had received two letters from him while he was in gaol, but she had not answered either of them, as it "was not worth while." When pressed as to what she meant, prosecutrix said that although the prisoner called her in the letter his "own dear wife" it was all deceit. She knew for a long time past that he had been living with another woman, but she did not know that he was married. Frances Jane Langridge gave evidence of the second marriage nine years ago, and stated that she had always been treated by the prisoner with the greatest of kindness. The prisoner went into the box and deposed that he had, after coming out of gaol, tried to find his wife, but had been unable to do so, and that he had come to the conclusion she was dead. The charges on which he had been convicted were forgery and uttering. The sentences were three, and concurrent, and he had been released from gaol at the end of the shortest of the three sentences. Several witnesses were called for the defence to show that the prisoner had tried to gain tidings of his first wife prior to his second marriage.

Mr. Levien addressed the jury at some length in very forcible terms, dwelling on the fact that in the absence of his wife, and being unable to learn any news of her, prisoner was justified in assuming that she was dead.

His HONOR, in the course of his remarks, observed that marriage in this colony was made far too easy, and he was afraid that the new divorce law would make it still more so. With regard to the case before them it was a very sad one, for a great wrong had been done to both the first and second wife, the latter, of course, not having been legally married at all, while her children were illegitimatised. His Honor pointed out that it would have been no easy matter for the prosecutrix to have discovered her husband's second marriage by means of searching the registrar's books, in consequence of his having married his second wife in a false name, and the fact that the prisoner had assumed no less than three names was, in his Honor's opinion, a very strong point against him.

After being absent an hour, the jury returned into court with a verdict of guilty.

Evidence of character was given in favour of the prisoner, who, it was stated, after coming out of gaol, had worked hard to retrieve his position.

His HONOR said he would defer sentence till the following morning.

ALLEGED LARCENY.

John Fitzgerald, a respectable-looking man, was charged with stealing two loads of asphalt, the property of the Australian Gaslight Company.

The accused was defended by Mr. Roberts, sen.

The jury stopped the case, considering that there was no felonious intent whatever on the part of the accused.

One of the jurymen stated that it was a common practice for carters to go and get this asphalt and pay for it afterwards. His Honor remarked that it could only be a case of conversion under any circumstances. Accused was then discharged.

ALLEGED ROBBERY BY A SERVANT.

Sylvan Pinand, an elderly Frenchman, was charged with stealing a quantity of crockeryware, linen, &c., the property of Louis Uhde, the proprietor of the Grand Hotel, where prisoner was employed as washer-up and kitchenman. For some time past Mr. Uhde has missed articles of linen and plate, and a quantity of articles of various kinds were found at prisoner's private house, and identified as being part of the stolen property. Mr. Uhde stated that the robberies going on had been of a most systematic character, but he did not think that prisoner was the ringleader among the thieves. After a short consultation, the jury found the prisoner guilty, and he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

CHARGE OF BURGLARY.

Thomas Wilkie, a man about 35, and John M'Farlane, a youth about 18, were charged with having broken into the General Gordon Hotel, Marrickville, on the night of Sunday, October 2. There was a second count in the indictment charging them with stealing six half-flasks of brandy. Mr. C. T. Richards appeared for Wilkie. The entrance to the hotel was effected through the trap door in the street, and it was stated that the younger prisoner was the worse for drink. The defence adopted was that there was no felonious intent on the part of the prisoners, but that they had gone into the cellar for the purpose of getting a drink, as, being Sunday, the landlord would not serve them; and it was further alleged on their behalf that the trap door was not fastened; but the Judge told the jury that this made no difference, as if a man simply lifted up the trap and went down with intent to steal, he was just as guilty as if he had forced an entrance. The jury found the prisoners guilty of breaking and entering with intent to steal, and they were remanded for sentence.

The Court then adjourned.

JURORS FINED.

The following jurymen were fined for non-attendance:—John Byron Beauregard, William Green Hibble, Thomas Alcock, Uriah Foster, Robert Edward Hardy, William Wainman, Robert Denning, and Howell David Powell.

FINE REMITTED.

The fine of a juryman named Hibble, inflicted at an earlier period of the day, was remitted, on the ground of the juror's illness.

CASES FOR TO-DAY (TUESDAY).

George Fisher and others, for robbery; Joseph Lee, stealing in a dwelling; Ah How, breaking into a shop and stealing (three charges); John W. Buckley, embezzlement; and Thomas Elliott, robbery.

CURED OF SCIATICA BY ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS.
Eugene Rubino, Stock and Bond Broker, No. 34, Wall-street, New York city, U. S. A., says:—In 1881 I was confined to my bed by sciatica. The pain not only went down my thigh, but affected my side as well. I suffered greatly, and after having been shut up for four weeks, determined to abandon doctors and their prescriptions, and try ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. I placed two on my thighs, one on my hip bone, and one on my side. I was completely cured in four days, and on the fifth day after the application was at my business.—[ADVT.]

BALM FOR A SORE HEART.—Having been troubled for many years with the tetter, and spent many a hard-earned dollar, I was given a trial of the Cuticura Remedies, and thank God my hands are well. I never had anything to do me good like that. Sometimes my heart was sore, thinking I would have to give up altogether with my sore hands, and having a small family to take care of; but oh, thank God my hands are well, so I again return thanks. Elizabeth Buckley, Lyttelton, N. Z.—[ADVT.]

POLICE.

Mr. Abbott, S.M., disposed of 64 Charge cases at the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday. John Thompson, alias Henry Crossley, 25, clerk, was fined 40s., with the alternative of 14 days' hard labour, for having incited a prisoner to resist a constable who was in the execution of his duty. R. Russell, 23, file-layer, was sentenced to three months' hard labour, for having stolen a clock, valued at £4, the property of Alfred Bennett, one of the proprietors of the Evening News. Annie Williams, a frequently-convicted young vagrant, was sent to gaol for six months' hard labour for being without lawful visible means of support. She complained that no sooner was she out of gaol than the police re-arrested her, and gave her no chance to reform. Several constables, however, proved her to be an incorrigible and dangerous character, and a constant inmate of Chinese opium-houses. Alexander Sinclair, labourer, was fined £10, with the option of a month's imprisonment, for having stolen four fowls. William Burrows, who had stolen £1 10s., the moneys of Lilly Whitney, was sent to gaol for six months with hard labour. John Kerr, 36, chemist, for indecency in Hyde Park, was ordered to pay £2, or to go to gaol for 14 days. Mr. Clarke, S.M., dealt with a large number of petty debts cases on the Summons side.

Mr. A. M. Fisher, D.S.M., presided in the Charge branch of the WATER POLICE COURT. Andrew Wilson, found guilty of having stolen two bottles of champagne and a bottle of whisky, valued together at 27s., the property of his employer, Thomas Brown, was sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment, with hard labour. Edward Noble, bricklayer, for having in his possession a spirit-level, which was reasonably suspected to have been stolen, was ordered to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour for one month. Thomas Roberts, labourer, 38 years of age, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, with hard labour, for having no lawful visible means of support. William Furlong, labourer, was fined for drunkenness, and was mulcted in a further penalty of 40s., or 21 days' imprisonment, for having assaulted the arresting constable. James Purvis, seaman, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment with hard labour for stealing the sum of £2 2s., the money of Otto Arndt. Thomas Murphy, labourer, was fined 40s., with the option of one month's imprisonment, for having used obscene language in the bar of the Star and Garter Hotel, King-street, while open to the public. Henry Marshall, cook, was sentenced to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour for one month, for having in his possession a door-mat, reasonably suspected to have been stolen. Mr. J. M. Marsh, S.M., dealt with the business in the Summons Division of the court.

Mr. Whittingdale Johnson, S.M., presided at the NEWTOWN POLICE COURT. George Green and Robert Ellis, for riotous conduct, were each fined 12s. 6d. or three days. George Taylor for a similar offence, was fined 22s 6d., or seven days. Philip Roeles and Alexander Storm were fined 12s. 6d. each for reckless driving. Harry Wilson 16, and James Tripp 13, for riotous conduct in Erskineville-street, Macdonaldtown, were fined 5s. each. John Campbell 19, labourer, for stealing a half-sovereign, the property of John Parrotti, was sentenced to three months' hard labour, and for assaulting the arresting constable, one month, the sentences to be cumulative. Alfred Scowan and John Hall, two young men, were each sentenced to six months' hard labour for stealing a purse containing £5 in silver and notes, the property of Elizabeth Jervis, storekeeper, at Ashfield, on the 2nd ultimo. It appeared that Hall, in company with Scowan, went to the store ostensibly to buy some packing-bags, and while prosecutrix, with him, was looking for them in the yard, Scowan, who remained in the shop, took the purse out of the till. Prosecutrix charged him with the theft, and he then placed the purse with £1 1s. in it on the counter.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

SAD BOATING ACCIDENT.

The City Coroner, Mr. H. Shiell, J.P., held an inquest yesterday at the Rushcutter Bay Hotel, New South Head-road, touching the death of a young man named Leopold Walker Ogilvie, 17 years of age, who was drowned in Rushcutter Bay on Sunday. The deceased was a clerk, and resided at No. 315, Glenmore-road, Paddington. The evidence showed that he left his home at about 9.30 a.m. on Sunday, saying that he was going out boating. Shortly after 10 a.m. he and a lad named Sydney Matchett, 16 years of age, embarked in a 7ft. canvas dingy at Rushcutter Bay. The boat was supplied with two sails and rudder. She went out for about 30 yards very easily, and then suddenly lurched over, filled, and sank. The two youths at once began to swim ashore. Matchett succeeded in reaching the land, but Ogilvie sank in view of his companion, when about four yards from the beach. The body was recovered half-an-hour later. In giving his evidence, Matchett stated that it was a puff of wind that caused the boat to capsize, and that at that time he had charge of the main-sheet and tiller. On feeling the wind filling the main sheet he did not slacken the rope. On the Coroner putting him some technical questions relating to the sailing of the craft, the witness failed to comprehend them, and consequently admitted that he had not had much experience in handling boats under canvas. Dr. Ellis having given evidence that Ogilvie's death was due to suffocation by drowning, the jury returned a verdict accordingly, adding that the drowning was accidental.

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

An inquest was held yesterday by the City Coroner at the Sutherland Hotel, Harris-street, Pyrmont, concerning the death of Mr. Palmer, manager of the Sydney Ice Company, who met with an accident on Sunday evening, upon the firm's premises in Harris-street. The deceased was a married man, and about 52 years of age. The evidence showed that while Mr. Palmer was in the act of showing some friends over the establishment, he endeavoured to disentangle a lady's dress from some machinery. In doing so he was drawn upon part of a machine, and he suffered such severe injuries that he died soon afterwards. The jury returned a verdict that he died from the effects of injuries accidentally received, and added that in their opinion lights should be placed on the walls of the floor of the building upon which the occurrence happened.

MARINE BOARD.

A meeting of the Marine Board was held at the Custom-house yesterday afternoon, the following members of the board being present:—Captain Hixson, president; Captain Broomfield, vice-president; Captains Jenkins, Robertson, Fox, Maclean, and Moodie, and Commander Lindeman, secretary.

The board proceeded to hold an inquiry into the abandonment of the schooner Ada and Ethel, which occurred on the evening of the 26th October last, about 10 miles S.E. of Seal Rocks. The vessel was a fore-and-aft schooner of 72 tons register, built on the Williams River about two years ago, and was owned by Mr. Charles Messel, of Pyrmont. She was on a voyage from the Manning River to Sydney, with a cargo of hardwood, and on the evening of the day when she left the Manning River the vessel was found to be leaking heavily, and the water gained on the crew with such rapidity that she had to be abandoned an hour afterwards, the crew reaching Port Stephens safely in their boat.

Fred Cooper, master of the schooner, stated that he held a Marine Board coast trade certificate; the weather at the time of the abandonment was a nice fresh breeze from the E.N.E.; no one was lost or hurt by the occurrence; had been captain of the vessel for about three months; she was well found, in good order, and was a strong vessel; left the Manning River at 3 p.m. on the 26th instant, and was towed over the bar; the vessel struck lightly on the bar when crossing; when he abandoned the vessel there was about 3ft. 6in. of water in her, and three-quarters of an hour afterwards she sank; about half-past 7 in the evening discovered that the vessel was leaking; commenced pumping, but after pumping for 20 minutes found 2ft. of water, and a few minutes after found 3ft. in the hold; continued to pump until about 8 o'clock, and abandoned her about half-past 8; his intention was, if possible, to beach the vessel at Port Stephens, but he was unable to get her to the land, as she leaked so fast; had no idea of what caused the leak, and could not tell where the water was coming in; the vessel was insured for £950, but he did not know this at the time of the loss; he had sounded the vessel about a quarter of an hour after crossing the bar, but had found no water in her then.

Oliver Anderson, mate of the vessel, and J. Williams, one of the crew, also gave evidence corroborative of the captain's statements. The board reserved their decision in the case until Monday next.

RAILWAY HASTE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I notice that at last attention has been called by a correspondent in your paper to the dangerous practice which seems to be on the increase at our suburban stations of undue haste in starting the trains, and not allowing sufficient time for passengers to get in and out of the cars. "Reform" calls attention to a case in point at Macdonaldtown, and I beg to state that I have had personal experience of the same thing once or twice at various stations, the guards starting the trains before all the passengers had alighted. On one occasion I and part of my family had alighted and the remainder were struggling to get out when the train started and took them on to the next station. I had just time to push back an old gentleman of 84 on to the platform of the carriage, to prevent his being thrown out and killed. I may state that these occurrences have taken place on ordinary days, and not at any specially heavy traffic time. The fault, no doubt, is to some extent caused through the American cars having but two doors and very narrow platforms, and something will have to be done to remedy the evil. I think a little trouble on the part of the guards and the porters at the stations in insisting on passengers alighting from one end and entering by the other would somewhat abate the crowding and danger which now take place. It is the knowledge that they may not be able to struggle out in time through the stream of incoming people, which is the cause of passengers rising from their seats before the train stop and standing in the passage ready to rush out after the pull-up jerk comes; and any regular train traveller knows the discomfort, not to say ludicrous effect, of that peculiarity of our railway machinery. Could not a sliding-door be made in the centre of each carriage? I am, &c.,

THE BULLI EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Bulli Fund Executive Committee met yesterday afternoon, at the Town Hall. There were present the Mayor (Mr. A. J. Riley, M.L.A.), in the chair; the Hons. G. A. Lloyd and J. Macintosh, Alderman Meeks, Messrs. Beale (Mayor of Darlington), Byrnes (Mayor of Parramatta), Garlick, Knapp, and Robertson.

Mr. LLOYD reported that the sub-committee specially appointed to assist in drafting the Distribution Bill had had two interviews with Messrs. Allen and Allen and Colquhoun, and that such progress had been made that they were now only waiting for the schedule, which the hon. secretary (Mr. Robertson) was preparing, and would have ready very soon, so that the bill could be presented to Parliament probably next week.

Mr. J. W. Poulter (Mayor of Wollongong) wrote accepting the position as one of the trustees.

Some discussion took place, on the application of Mrs. Birch, for the payment of a lump sum which had been passed by the committee. It was decided that she should be informed that the matter was under consideration, and would be dealt with at next meeting.

Hon. F. Abigail (Minister of Mines) wrote resigning his position as a member of the executive committee, owing to his numerous duties. The resignation was accepted.

Alderman Meeks handed in a written statement showing the particulars of the expenditure of £100 by Alderman Beare and himself for relief purposes. The statement was adopted.

On the motion of Mr. LLOYD, seconded by Mr. KNAPP, the following resolution was carried:—"That the children—boys and girls—who lost their fathers through the Bulli Colliery disaster, shall for the purposes of the Act to be submitted to the Houses of Parliament, be taken to have attained the ages given by their mothers or guardians at the 30th September, 1887, and in the case of children born after the disaster be taken to have attained the age of a year on the 30th September, 1888."

NATIONAL MINING ACCIDENT FUND.

Mr. GARLICK said he had for many years considered the question of having some fund established for the relief of widows and others who suffered through mining accidents. There was not at present any fund from which such relief could be given. He had seen almost every pay day the miners at certain collieries subscribing to give some temporary relief to the afflicted. He was sure the miners and all interested would be glad to see some such fund established, and from calculations which he had made there was no doubt that the matter could be very easily carried out. There were, according to the "Statistical Register," [illegible] persons employed throughout the colony at coal and shale mines last year. Supposing the number of boys was put down at one-quarter of this number—a very large percentage—there would then be left 5961 men, who, subscribing 4d. a week, would contribute £5164, while the boys, at the rate of 2d. a week, would give £860 6s., and the mineowners contributing at the rate of three-eighths of a penny per ton of the coal produce—taking last year's output—would give a sum of £4481 17s. 8d., making a total of £10,508 7s. 8d. per annum. He had spoken to many mineowners on the matter, and not one had objected to the proposal. He then quoted opinions from several newspapers representing many districts in favour of his scheme, and concluded by moving the following resolution:—"That this committee regrets that no mining accident fund exists of a national character in New South Wales. That this opportunity ought not to be lost to create such a fund. That miners and mine owners should at once subscribe and pay the charges against this fund, and thereby form a national fund for all time. That a subscription of 4d. per week per man and 2d. per week per boy now working in and about coal and shale mines in this colony would return the sum of about £4000 sterling per annum. That this sum, supplemented by a contribution of three-eighths of a penny per ton on the coal and shale raised in the various mines by the owners would more than meet the whole of the demands against this fund and provide for individual cases now left unnoticed and uncared for. That this fund would then be set aside for a National Mining Accident Fund. That the foregoing resolutions be forwarded with the proposed bill to each House of Parliament for its consideration."

Mr. BEALE seconded the resolution pro forma, and complimented Mr. Garlick on his proposal. He believed, however, that this committee could take no action in the matter, as they would thereby be exceeding the powers given them by their constitution.

Mr. LLOYD said the resolutions were very good, but it was impossible for the committee to entertain them. It would, perhaps, support the scheme if brought up in some other way, but the resolution was certainly out of order in being brought before that committee.

Mr. MACINTOSH said that whether the motion was in order or not there was no evidence before the committee that either the mine owners or miners were in favour of the proposal. He was not opposed to a permanent accident mining fund, but considered it would be necessary for those interested to petition Parliament if they desired such a fund to be established.

Mr. BYRNES said there was no doubt that Mr. Garlick would never have brought the motion before that committee were it not his wish that a portion of the Bulli fund should go to form the nucleus of the fund proposed. They could not recommend such a scheme to Parliament on such scant information as that before them. He could not support the motion.

Mr. GARLICK said that all he wished was to get an expression of opinion on the matter. He was aware that a certain procedure was necessary to bring the proposal before Parliament. He withdrew the motion.

Mr. LLOYD objected to the motion being withdrawn, and it was put and negatived.

ATTEMPTED INTIMIDATION.

Mr. BEALE informed the committee that on coming from one of the meetings recently, he was accosted at the entrance to the Town Hall, by the chairman of the public meeting held in the Temperance Hall not long ago, to protest against the Bulli Executive Committee's proposal for distributing the fund, and threatened to be horsewhipped.

The meeting then adjourned.

AUSTRALIAN FRUIT IN INDIA.

Letters and newspapers are to hand with regard to the shipment of Australian fruit recently forwarded to India, as an experiment, by Mr. Inglis, Minister for Education. The trial shipment was received there in October by Messrs. Davenport and Co., per the s.s. Clitus, and a few days afterwards it was placed on sale at Messrs. Mackenzie, Lyall, and Co.'s. The shipment comprised 109 lots of oranges and 10 lots of lemons, each case containing 125 of fruit. The agents report that the steamer arrived at the Custom-house, Calcutta, on the 14th October. There was a little delay in getting the consignment landed, owing to the steamer being kept at Garden Reach to discharge the horses she brought up. As it was, the cases had to be landed there, and to be boated up to town. They advised having sold the consignment by public auction, and ventured to think, considering the absence of so many people holiday-making, the competition was exceedingly good, and, indeed, far better than they anticipated. They did all in their power to advertise the sale. They also presented a case to the Bengal club, and cases to one or two influential residents, and had a couple of cases open in the sale for distribution to brokers and other callers. As they managed this before the day of sale, they thought it had a good effect on the sale, and led to several orders being sent in from influential natives and Americans, the great consumers of fruit in the city. Considering the moist heat to which the oranges arrived, the agents thought they turned out in very fair quality. Directly they were landed they had the cases opened and sorted, all those that were bad being removed at once, and the rest being packed in cases of 125 each, guaranteed good. Fortunately they had not received any supplies from Sylhet, and there was a great scarcity of fruit just then, so that there were many inquiries for cases, but the account sales would show how small the private demand was, and how, when once satisfied, the bazaar fruit dealers were able to reduce the price. From the percentages given in the account sales, it would be observed that the fruit packed in open crates appeared to have stood the voyage best, but the percentage of unsound fruit was very heavy, being nearly 30 per cent. on the whole shipment. As there was hot close weather, the agents were afraid to hold over any portion of the shipment, which they regretted, as they afterwards had several inquiries for cases, and could probably have sold at a better price than in the sale. On the whole, the quality of the fruit was considered good, although most of it appeared to be of a coarse thick-skinned variety, which would compare unfavourably with their Sylhet fruit. Still the venture had been fairly successful, and Mr. Inglis was assured that he might rely upon a ready sale next year, if he could ship to arrive in India in August, September, and October, and by a faster steamer than the Clitus. There was no fruit in India in August or September worth calling by name, and the agents thought that if they had good notice and spent a little money in advertising before arrival, they could show a fairly good return. They added that the lemons did not take at all, although very fine and juicy, their own limes having a flavour that was more appreciated. Several press notices enclosed spoke well of the venture. The Indian Daily News said that the oranges were of good flavour and fairly juicy, but pointed out that it would certainly have been wiser to have landed the fruit so soon as the steamer arrived, as every hour made a difference when the process of deterioration set in. It believed, however, that a profitable sale was possible for a very considerable trade. The Englishman says that the colonial fruit bore more resemblance to the European product than to that brought down in the cold weather from Sylhet, and it adds that its flavour was excellent and that it stood the voyage well.

THE PRIMATE AND DR. JEFFERIS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Dr. Barry's courteous letter would be ill-answered by a controversial reply, and we hold too many of the higher verities in common for me to seek to enter the lists. If my address to the Congregational Union called in question certain grave statements of his, my sole aim was to illustrate my subject by quoting the opinions of an acknowledged leader of thought.

I am well content to let our differing opinions be taken for what they may seem to be worth. Dr. Barry writes as a Diocesan Bishop should. I have spoken as the "overseer" of a single Christian assembly ought. Our contradictions spring naturally, perhaps necessarily, from our divergent points of view. For my own sake, however, I should like to say that there was no covert reference to the recent action of the Synod about the Divorce Bill in my simple story about the Church and School Lands Bill. That part of my address was written two months ago.

I am, &c., JAS. JEFFERIS.

OUR MELBOURNE LETTER.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 5.

We are struggling to the end of our annual week of pleasure. The glories of Cup day have been revived and repeated, and are already drifting into the pallid haze of the past. The weather, though the city is again enveloped in the Scotch mist with which we have been recently made familiar, was all that could be desired for the first two days of the racing. A hot wind on Tuesday brought a flush into the faces of the ladies, but the lawn was as bright as of yore, while the crowd jammed itself together on the brow of the hill, and seemed to swing with the motion of the horses, and the populace on the flat massed itself against the railings. For those within the charmed circle of society there has been a surfeit of dining and dancing: for the many a display of fireworks, with soaring rockets and the life-like representation of a flaming volcano smothering a mimic town. Every form of amusement known to man has been well patronised, except the opera, which, perhaps, ought not to be reckoned among amusements. The regular devotees, the lovers of opera, have gone as usual; but the great bulk of the crowd sought something more easily exciting and requiring less attention.

The annual denunciation of gambling, which was begun by Mr. Fitchett, of the Wesleyan Church, has been maintained by the Bishop of Melbourne and Dr. Bevan. The last mentioned endeavoured to find a safe middle course. He would not condemn whist among friends for sixpenny points, but he objected to betting on the races because the many small sums contributed by the public maintain an objectionable class in the community, and encourage dishonest practices. Of course, we have also sporting parsons who made a point of being present on Cup day; and the well-known Anglican minister of Toorak defends himself by saying that there is almost as much money staked on the boat race between Oxford and Cambridge, which is attended by half the clergymen of the Church in England. If the churches desire to alter public opinion, they will require to throw aside all needless exaggerations. They are apt to paint the Flemington meeting as a letting loose of all that is bad in the community, and the charge is at once resented. "The first obstreperous man I saw," said a decent member of the kirk, in answer to a philippic, "was making his way home from a picnic at Brighton." Some of the clergymen, however, seem to think that they ought to go to the course and address the assemblage then and there. One who fled from temptation to the Young Men's Christian Association picnic, prayed publicly that the Lord would send the ministers to the meeting in a few years to counteract the gambling evil. It did not seem to occur to him that he might have answered his own prayer that very day.

There is the usual difference of opinion as to the attendance on Cup day. The Argus, which made a calculation of the vehicles, and allowed the moderate estimate of 15,000 for the flat, puts down the total number at about 84,000; while Mr. Byron Moore insists that there must have been 40,000 more on the course. The extra thousands he puts on the flat, where there is ample scope for the imagination to work, inasmuch as the people enter by no gate in particular, and the number can be estimated according to one's wishes. Both of the authorities, however, admit that there was a slight falling-off in the attendance, as was evidenced by the railway returns. This may be due to the fact that some people prefer to attend on the other days when the Stand and the Hill are less crowded, or to the fact that there was this year less excitement and enthusiasm over the horses engaged in the race. There has been no appreciable diminution, however, in the crowd of visitors who throng Melbourne. The hotels have been full and noisy, and at the clubs strangers have been appearing in large numbers, and both have resounded with the arguments of losers and winners. If these are drawbacks to the sport of racing, especially in a year when the favourites went the round in losing, there are some also to the ordinary citizen who cares nothing for it. He is jogged and elbowed out of his accustomed path. He can hardly get a glass of beer at his accustomed hotel, his tailor refuses to make him a waistcoat, his tobacconist has barely time to serve him, he is jostled and rendered miserable by the people who persist in walking on the wrong side of the pavement; and he endeavours to shrink into himself and occupy as little room as possible.

The session of Parliament promises to be a complete failure, unless the Ministry is able to gain a greater control over the House than it has yet acquired. Meeting at 3 o'clock has not helped in the least to advance business, and any attempt at sitting up late threatens to provoke stonewalling. The House has been engaged in re-discussing the Estimates, and raking up petty grievances, that could as easily be redressed without public mention of them. We seem to be passing through a perfectly helpless and imbecile stage of Parliamentary Government. There is no very bitter feeling; there is rarely anything that could be called a scene; the Premier and the Leader of the Opposition, though they have occasional tiffs, are continually making friendly arrangements for the dispatch of business; and yet the business of the country remains stationary. It cannot be ferried across the endless stream of talking. Whatever is petty, whatever is personal, whatever will make it appear that a member is willing to spend more time over the complaint of a constituent than over public affairs, is eagerly laid hold of. It is easier and apparently more popular to champion some one person who furnishes all the particulars of his case than to discuss measures which concern the whole community. Parliament is simply a mild debating club, a stage whereon to pose. Thus three hours, valuable at this period of the session, were spent over a trumpery petition by Mr. Fitzgibbon, the Town Clerk of Melbourne. It seems that in 1881 the Essendon and Brunswick Town Councils resolved to build a bridge on a site within some property belonging to Mr. Fitzgibbon, or, rather, to his wife. By 1886 they had changed their minds, and changed the site to the property of the Madden family. When Mr. Fitzgibbon prayed Parliament to strike the grant proposed for this purpose off the Estimates—at the same time accusing the whole world, town councils, and Cabinets included, of breach of faith—and Mr. Madden replied on behalf of the family by an onslaught on his opponent, the House was equally divided, and the Government promised an informal inquiry in order to prevent a continuation of the wrangling. But while such things are debated, the measures of the session are delayed, and the chances left to most of them are growing beautifully less. Unless they are passed at the end without discussion, they will be doomed to that fate, a resurrection from which is difficult. When there will be again an opportunity for debating them thoroughly it is impossible to say. Next year the revision of the tariff will absorb all attention, and nobody can foresee what may arise out of that movement.

The farmers have at last formulated a list of the protective duties which they desire. They demand an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent. on imported stock; of 3s. per cental on barley, wheat, oats, peas and maize; of £1 per ton on potatoes; of 2s. per dozen lb. on condensed milk; of 4d. per lb. on butter, cheese, and ham; and of 3d. a dozen on eggs. They ask further that a bounty of a shilling should be placed on every bushel of wheat exported from Victoria. It must not be imagined, however, that this formidable tariff represents the unanimous opinion of the farmers in the colony. The agitation began in the Goulburn district, and, though it has been aided by the Kyneton and other powerful farmers' unions, there are some unions which stand out against it. In parts of Victoria the stock tax has been found so oppressive that the people would gladly be rid of it for ever. But the case, as it is presented, is one that must be regarded as fair in protectionist circles, for if the town industries are established at the expense of the country, agriculture has an equal right to the fostering care of the State. It is true that any imposition of duties, besides putting an end to trade and probably provoking resentment in other colonies, would increase the price of bread to the general public. This may be a small matter to the artisans, who are protected in their short hours of labour and high wages, but it will be a serious concern to many households. There are people though the fact is overlooked, who are neither artisans nor farmers. There are the consumers, the men who earn fixed salaries, the shopkeeping classes, the multitude who are not protected. These, however, being unorganised, seem to count for nothing. The farmers have imbibed the theory of protection, and if they insist upon it and force it upon their members they are bound to wring some concessions from Parliament and the Government. An easier way is, of course, open to them. If they are taxed from head to foot; if they have to pay a high duty on their clothing and their implements, if they have to sell in the cheapest market and work from daylight till dark, they can use all their influence to reduce the duties and the taxation. They can insist, not on raising the price of beef and bread, but on being furnished with cheaper implements and cheaper clothing. Such a course, however, just though it would be to all, would be opposed to the theory; and we shall probably have to see how far faith in protection can be carried. But it must be said that the large demands of the farmers, which naturally disquieted the Government, do not altogether bring rejoicing to the protectionists. Mr. Gillies informed the deputation that they had raised some new points; Mr. Deakin advised them to form unions and make their wants known—as if they had not formulated some very plain wants; the protectionist organs talk vaguely of the greatness of the agricultural industry, and shirk the details of the scheme. A dear loaf would not be popular with any class, and it would involve hardship to many of the labouring classes, especially on the goldfields.

Mr. Mirams, having managed to persuade the electors of Williamstown, has been returned to the House with his umbrella and tariff scheme, ready for the forthcoming war of figures. He received a kindly welcome, and took his seat in the Opposition corner beside the member who, during his enforced absence, has undertaken the rôle of manipulating statistics. Mr. A. T. Clark, who resigned his seat for Williamstown in the Assembly in order to contest the North Province for the Council, has been rejected by a large majority in favour of Dr. Lefevre. The latter led in every division, and Mr. Clark was disgusted to find himself defeated even in his own district of Williamstown. After denouncing the ingratitude of his former constituents he cordially offered his support to Dr. Lefevre at any future time; and so flits from the political scene one who has been an actor in many troublous times.

N. S. W. CONGREGATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

The annual meeting of the New South Wales Congregational Sunday School Union was held in the Pitt-street Church last evening, under the presidency of the Rev. Dr. Jefferis. There was a good attendance, amongst those present being the Revs. Dr. Dale, J. Robertson, M.A., R. Dey, S. Bryant, S. Savage, Hon. G. A. Lloyd, Mr. Charles H. Slayter, Mr. Thomas Pratt, and Mr. C. Wigzell. The combined choirs, under the direction of Mr. W. I. B. Mote, rendered a selection of sacred music during the evening, Mr. H. C. Kent presiding at the organ. After devotional exercises,

The CHAIRMAN said they were met together to celebrate the work they were doing in connection with all their schools. He wished he could say that the union embraced the schools of all the churches, but it was only a union of the schools connected with their own federated Congregational Churches. One needed to be explicit upon this point, because there were some people who did not quite understand the kind of meetings which they had been holding during the past week. (Hear, hear.) He found in the newspapers of that day that a high dignitary of the Church of Rome had been under the impression that their meetings were a sort of Evangelical Union gatherings, and that the chief aim they had in holding those meetings was to unite all the various denominations together. It certainly betrayed a singular want of knowledge of the state of things ecclesiastically among them when an impression of that sort could be received. (Applause.) That, however, was not the only false impression that seemed to have been created. Archbishop Moran had declared that the kind of union that he supposed they were seeking to establish might very fitly and aptly be compared to the union among those disaffected ones who called themselves Nihilists! He had compared the Christian Churches desiring to unite together upon common grounds of knowledge and Christian doctrine to Nihilists! He (Dr. Jefferis) could not trust himself that night to deal with a statement like that. It was not only a grievous outrage upon Christian men—(applause)—but it was a grievous outrage upon Christianity itself. (Loud applause.) He had no doubt that other opportunities would be found for dealing with a slander so terrible as he deemed this to be. (Applause.) If the Archbishop had been pondering over any of his (Dr. Jefferis') utterances—as he imagined he had—delivered in that church during the past week, and if he (the Archbishop) had ever known anything about other utterances of his delivered in this city, he would know from these that he had never even discussed the theological tenets of the Roman Catholic Church. All that he had ever done in dealing with that Church was to express his surprise—and that he had done pretty often—that men of the British race were willing, in religious things, to submit themselves to the dictation of a foreign prince of a foreign nation. (Hear, hear.) If union was to be attained, it certainly was not to be attained in the way in which the Archbishop had been speaking. There was a union of blind men concerning colours; there was a union of deaf men concerning sound; but that was not the kind of union they as Christians wanted. (Hear, hear.) They wanted to read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest those Divine truths which Christ had delivered to them, and if they felt that there was reason for an expression of opinion upon them, they deemed it a tribute to truth and to the Lord Himself. He would not say more—he did not intend to say all he had said—but he had no doubt whatever that what they had seen in the newspapers that day would be dealt with by Christian men. (Applause.)

Mr. CHARLES H. SLATYER (one of the hon. secretaries of the union) then read the eighth annual report, which was of a satisfactory nature. Amongst other things, it was shown that the collections for the Hospital Fund amounted to £113 10s. 10d. This sum had been apportioned amongst various benevolent and charitable institutions.

The financial statement, read by Mr. C. Wigzell, showed a credit balance at deposit and in the bank amounting to £114 2s. 4d.

Mr. HEBBLEWHITE moved the adoption of the report and treasurer's statement, also that the following be elected officers for the ensuing year:—President, Rev. Dr. Jefferis; vice-presidents, Messrs. J. Pomeroy and J. Cranna; treasurer, Mr. C. E. Wigzell; secretaries, Messrs. Charles H. Slatyer and T. Pratt; committee, Messrs. Orr, Wills, Mote, Hull, and Miller; visitor, Mr. A. Firth.

Seconded by Mr. BETTS, and carried.

The Rev. J. ROBERTSON then delivered an address, urging with much force that if ever the world was to be brought to Christ a great alteration would be required in the conceptions and methods of many people who were co-operating for that end, and the subject of the Christian relationship and standing of children would have to receive a great deal more attention than it had yet received.

The Rev. Dr. DALE, who was warmly received, followed and spoke for a considerable time, his remarks in the main having reference to Sunday schools and Sunday school work. He said that at least 75 per cent. of the children attending the public elementary schools in England and Wales were to be found in the Sabbath schools. (Applause.) This was a fact of great interest, and one which appealed with singular urgency to the conscience and heart of all Christian churches. He believed that that fact in many of its aspects was unparalleled in the history of Christendom. He also believed that never before in the history of the Church did so large a number of its members freely consecrate their services in order to instruct their children in the truth concerning Christ Jesus our Lord. They were often disposed to complain of the decline of faith in the age in which they lived, but they would appeal in vain to any period of the Christian Church in order to discover so large an army of volunteers giving their time and strength freely to help in building up the kingdom of Christ. After referring to the fact that many of the scholars who had received instruction in the Sabbath schools were not to be found in the churches to-day, the rev. gentleman earnestly appealed to Sunday school teachers and workers to teach Christ and Him only to the children, and concluded by exhorting them always to remember that only as they taught in the true spirit of Christ could they hope for success in their great work.

PROPOSED CONGREGATIONAL COLLEGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—At the luncheon in the Temperance Hall when Dr. Jefferis was pressing on Congregationalists the claims of their proposed new college, he is reported to have said that "since colleges have been established they had discovered perhaps a little late that such colleges should be established in connection with their churches, which were less sectarian than others. They had no distinctly defined creed to which subscriptions were necessarily given, and they believed that the element of religious education in the pure and more Scriptural form could be given without offending the prejudices of any."

Now in adverting to these words I do so simply from a sense of duty to the institution with which I am at present connected. In the laudable desire to provide a college in which they may educate their own youths after their own methods, the Congregationalists in this colony are only doing that with which every friend of high-class and Christian education must sympathise. I must, however, so far as Newington College is concerned, take exception to Dr. Jefferis' remarks touching sectarianism. During the quarter of a century Newington has been in existence the sons of parents representing almost every religious denomination have enjoyed its advantages, and not only has there never been the breath of complaint against it on any ground of sectarianism, but on the contrary commendations have poured in from all quarters, and from parents associated with the denominations outside Wesleyanism, who have been deeply grateful for the valuable training which it gave to their boys. Our religious teaching is in that "pure Scriptural form" which Dr. J. himself approves. We do not trouble about the Shibboleths of party. We are content to deal with those vital elements of truth which are the common property of all the churches, and aim simply at this to develop in each boy if we may a love of truth and purity and goodness. Our highest ambition is the production of noble youths, who shall develop into noble men, and go forth into the various spheres of life to play their parts in a manner that shall be worthy of themselves and helpful to the best interests of this great land.

I am, &c., WM. KELYNACK,
November 4. President Newington College.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

The Prince of Wales's Birthday has always been a popular fixture for race meetings, and the anniversary of 1887 is no exception to the rule. The Rosehill Racing Club commence their Spring Meeting to-morrow, and the fact that up to the present only two horses have been struck out of their engagements, tells well for the efforts of the handicapper, besides indicating large fields. Race meetings will also be held at Murrumburrah, Lithgow, and Collie Blue, in this colony. The meeting to be held under the auspices of the Williamstown Racing Club will provide amusement for the Melbourne sportsmen; while in the North the Queensland Turf Club commence their Spring Meeting, and the Rockhampton Jockey Club also hold a reunion.

Wollongong Amateur Turf Club race meeting was registered with the secretary of the A. J. C. yesterday.

Martinet was struck out of the Sires' Produce Stakes and Foal Stakes of the Murrumbidgee Turf Club spring Meeting yesterday.

A day's racing in announced to take place under the the auspices of the Forbes Jockey Club, on January 2, when a five-event programme will be discussed.

The sportsmen of the Williams River district have issued the bill of fare programme provided for January 2, when, under the auspices of the Dungog Jockey Club, five events will be played out, and for which the added money totals £95.

The annual meeting of the members of the Clarence Tattersall's Race Club was held at Grafton on the 2nd instant, Mr. M. Rush presiding, when the report and balance-sheet were adopted. The report pointed out that, despite the general depression, the committee had been successful in the management of the affairs of the club, and the balance-sheet for the period under review showed close on £44 on the right side. The election of office-bearers for the current year was postponed till Saturday next, 12th instant.

Elsewhere in this issue the secretary of Tattersall's Club announces that settling over the V. R. C. Spring Meeting takes place at the rooms, Pitt-street, on Thursday next.

Drummer Boy was struck out of the Disposal Stakes, and First Chester out of all engagements in connection with the Spring Meeting of the Rosehill Racing Club, yesterday.

A number of local sportsmen met at Wollongong on Saturday evening last with the object of forming an amateur Turf Club, and after the subject was fully discussed the institution was inaugurated, and the following officers appointed:—President, Mr. Wiley; hon. secretaries, Messrs. E. Ramsay and C. E. Weston; judge, Mr. W. J. Richards; handicappers, Messrs. Richards, Ahearn, and Weston. It was decided to hold the first race meeting on January 2, and a six-event programme was framed, with added money amounting to £175.

Western Australian files to hand state that the match for £200 a-side between Mr. Turnbull's South Australian-bred horse Baron Necker, by Neckersgat, from Ursula, and Mr. F. R. Hassall's Metal, by Tubal Cain, from Stockrose, bred by Mr. Gardiner, of Victoria, which was to have come off at Bunbury on the 15th ultimo, resulted in a walk-over for the former. The result caused great disappointment to the sportsmen of the district, as the event had created considerable interest for several weeks previously, and Metal had been backed for a large sum of money down to 6 to 4 on. Up to seven or eight days before the date fixed for the match both horses had been doing good work, and were supposed to be in excellent form, everything indicating a capital contest; but then rumours began to get abroad that the favourite was falling off, and a couple of days later the rumour was confirmed, as one of his legs filled, and he had to be thrown out of work. Consequently the son of Tubal Cain was unable to come to the post on the eventful day, and the "Baron" had a walk-over for the stakes. Both horses are engaged in the Perth Cup, to be run for at the midsummer meeting, and in which the son of Neckersgat has the comfortable impost of 8st., while Metal has been apportioned 5lb. more for that event.

The Western Australian handicapper seems to have a pretty exalted opinion of the Victorian-bred horse Duration, by Hughenden from Hinnomungie, as he has allotted the North Gippslander the top weights of 10st. 7lb. and 11st. 13lb. respectively in the Perth Cup, 2 miles, and the Ladies' Purse, 1¼ miles, the principal events of the Western Australian Turf Club's annual meeting.

The prizes to be distributed by the Scone Jockey Club at their annual meeting on Boxing Day total close on £100.

Latest English files to hand contain particulars of the racing at Manchester, Newmarket, and Ayr, during the last week in September. At the Manchester meeting the Breeders' Foal Stakes, of 1400 sovs. for two-year-olds, five furlongs, was secured by Lord Londonderry's ch. c. Hazlehatch, by Hermit from Hazledean, who ran second to Friar's Balsam in the Middle Park Plate at Newmarket Second October meeting. Hazlehatch was followed home by Bright Star (a daughter of Bend Or and Bright Beauty), and Sky Pilot, by Skylark from Ada Mary, the distance having been covered in 1 minute 4 seconds. The winner, who was bred by Mr. Chaplin, was sold at the annual sale of Blankney yearlings for 1750 guineas, and passed into the hands of his present owner at that figure. The colt is engaged in most of the leading events of the coming season. The September Plate, of 1000 sovs., 1 mile, run for at the Manchester Autumn Meeting, resulted in a dead heat between True Blue II., by Caerulens from Restorative, and Tib, by Tibthorpe from Nelly Rose, who were followed home by Thunderstorm, a son of Thunderbolt, and Little Sister, in 1 minute 21 seconds. At the Newmarket First October Meeting, the well-performed filly Reve d'Or, by Hampton from Queen of the Roses, won the Ninth Great Foal Stakes from Florentine, by Petrarch from Hawthorndale, who filled second place, and Maxim, by Peter from Electric Light, and Fealty, by Hampton from Ragman Roll, who ran a dead heat for third place. The Newmarket October Handicap, of 1000 sovs., 1 mile and two furlongs, was won by Mr. Valentine's filly St. Helen, by Springfield from St. Hilda, 3 years, who carried 6st. 6lb. and defeated a representative field of 11 in 2 minutes 11 2-5th seconds. Braw Lass, a four-year-old daughter of See-Saw and Princess Louise Victoria, won the Great Eastern Railway Handicap, six furlongs, in 1 minute 15 2-5th seconds. The Jubilee Ayrshire Handicap Plate, of 1000 sovs., 1 mile and 3 furlongs, fell to Sorrento, a three-year-old son of Springfield and Napoli, who defeated a field of 10, including such performers as Candlemas, by Hermit, King Milan, by Thurio, Eglamore, and Hungarian, in 2 minutes 20 1-5th seconds.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

THE LATE V. R. C. SPRING MEETING.

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

The general settling over the V. R. C. Spring Meeting took place to-day. A great amount of money changed hands. On the whole the fielders had the best business, seeing that Dunlop's Melbourne Cup victory only represented some £20,000, divided among the owners and general public, whilst the double event of the two cups was hardly, if ever, laid. The Derby and Melbourne Cup double, however, was picked in several instances. Two backers, representing considerable amounts, did not show up to time, but it is anticipated that their accounts will be settled in due course.

TOWNSVILLE TURF CLUB.

BRISBANE, MONDAY.

A telegram from Townsville reports that at a meeting of the Townsville Turf Club to-day, Mr. Enright, the owner of the horse Gladiator, recently disqualified, withdrew him from his engagements. The threatened difficulty between the Northern Association and the Club has been settled amicably. The executive of the Association decided that all disqualifications for dishonest practices in South Queensland, Sydney, and Melbourne be endorsed immediately by the Northern Association.

SALE OF RACING STOCK.

MELBOURNE, MONDAY.

At a sale of thoroughbreds to-day by Yuille and Co., at Newmarket, Silver Prince realised 1150 guineas; Thunderbolt, 500 guineas; Disowned, 315 guineas; Hogmanay, 130 guineas; Glendurt, 125 guineas; Chicago, 320 guineas; Discovery, 120 guineas; a bay gelding, by Mercury—Swallow, 171½ guineas.

CRICKET.

A meeting of the committee of the New South Wales Cricket Association was held on Monday night at Aarons's Exchange Hotel. There were present Mr. P. B. Walker (chairman), Messrs. W. B. Fairfax, V. Cohen, Gibson, Teece, Harris, Clayton, P. Sheridan, Beal, J. Shepherd, Riddell, Urquhart, Goddard, and Halligan. The report of the selection committee announcing the names of the team selected to represent New South Wales against Shaw's team was read. (The names appeared in yesterday's Herald.) A letter was read from Mr. J. Lillywhite pointing out that the association had never charged an English team for patronage before, and suggesting, as two teams would play here this season, that the percentage for patronage be reduced. A second letter was read from the same gentleman, asking for patronage for matches to be played on December 9, 10, 12, and 13, and January 13, 14, 16, and 17. Mr. Gibson brought forward a resolution in favour of reducing the percentage to 2½ per cent. on the gross proceeds for all matches played here this season by both English teams. Mr. Teece seconded this motion. It was urged on behalf of the resolution that this proposal to charge 5 per cent. had taken the promoters by surprise, and that it would be a heavy handicap on their venture financially. Several speakers opposed the resolution, on the ground that the delegates could not rescind what amounted to a decision of the general meeting of the association. It was also alleged that Mr. Lillywhite had had sufficient intimation of the intention of the association to charge a percentage. Mr. Cohen moved as an amendment that Mr. Lillywhite's letter re patronage be acknowledged, and he be informed that the Association would give the matter its earnest consideration at the end of the tour of the teams of Messrs. Lillywhite and Vernon. The motion was carried by seven votes to six. It was decided to grant patronage to both English teams, subject to such charges as the Association might enforce. A letter was read from Mr. J. C. Rounding, suggesting that three representative matches be played next year between England and Australia to celebrate the centenary; also, proposing certain prizes in connection with the matches. It was decided to allow the letter to stand over until next meeting. Mr. Gibson gave notice of motion that he would ask whether Mr. Evans had been written to asking him to practise for the approaching match. The meeting then terminated.

The English cricketers were on Monday the guests of the New South Wales Cricket Association at a picnic down the harbour. Mr. C. A. Smith, the captain, was unfortunately indisposed, and although he joined the party at the quay temporarily, he was unable to leave town with it. At half-past 10 o'clock a well-appointed launch left Prince's Stairs and steamed around the harbour. A large party disembarked at Balmoral, where nets were dragged; but the success attending this venture was not extraordinary. The steamer went on to Pearl Bay, and having landed its passengers returned for the fishing contingent. An excellent luncheon was laid by Mr. Forster in the picturesque grounds at Pearl Bay. Mr. P. B. Walker occupied the chair, the company numbering about 50. After the loyal toasts, the chairman proposed "Our Visitors," coupled with the names of Mr. L. C. Docker and Mr. Lillywhite. He commented on the improvement to Australian cricket which followed from the visits of English teams, and expressed a hope that a match would be arranged here between the two English teams. Mr. Docker, in reply, said that they would be glad to meet Mr. Vernon's team, not for the sake of any rivalry, but to afford Australians an opportunity of seeing the English teams playing against each other. Mr. Lillywhite said that they desired to meet Mr. Vernon's team in January, although at present the latter refused to do so. Such a meeting, he desired to point out, would give the colonial players a rest at a time when they would really require it. The English teams should, he thought, also play a combined match against All Australia. This concluded the toast list, and after a pleasant interval the party returned on board, reaching Sydney about half-past 6 o'clock in the evening. The trip, despite the blustering weather was a most enjoyable one, and the Englishmen expressed themselves as being highly delighted with it, and in general with the very hospitable treatment accorded them.

The following matches were played last Saturday:—

The Emeriti and Newington first elevens played at Stanmore, and the Collegians were treated to an afternoon of leather hunting. At the call of time the Emeritis had lost five wickets for 214 runs (D. Aitken 79, R. Barbour 63, not out).

The Second Manly and Balmain B team played at Manly Park, and the match resulted in a victory for Manly by 36 runs with two wickets to spare. Scores: Balmains, 111 (Shenston 24); Manly, eight wickets for 147 (F. Smith 54, Andrew Fraser 43). Passau (five for 30) bowled well for the victors, as did Shute for the losing side.

Marrickville (12) met the Osbornes at Wentworth Park, the result being a draw. Scores: Osbornes, 160 (Noble 43); Marrickville, one wicket for 42 (A. French, not out, 21).

Glentworth met St. Luke at Ashfield. Scores: Glentworth, 112; St. Luke, 36.

Commercial School beat Kogarah by one innings and 36 runs.

The Clyde C. C. met the Corio B team on their own wicket, Moore Park, and succeeded in defeating them by 74 runs. Scores: Clydes, 116; Corio, 42. Bradley, four wickets for 7, and Mulready, three for 3, did the bowling for the winners.

Liverpool played a match at Campbelltown, and were defeated by the local players by eight wickets and 68 runs. Campbelltown made 144 for three wickets, and Liverpool 78. A. Payten batted well for 76, not out; while Fowler contributed 26, and Jones 22. Wearne made 31 for the visitors.

The Standard and Clarendon clubs concluded their match for the Eaves Cup, and it resulted in an easy win for the Standard by seven wickets and 8 runs. Scores: Standard—first innings, 56 (F. Howard 14, not out; Crocker 11, Lane 10); second innings, three wickets for 50 (C. Smith 18, not out). Owing to the destructive bowling of Howard and Hogan, the Clarendon obtained only 22 in their first innings, but in their second essay they scored 72 (Moir 35). Allerton was the most successful bowler for the losers.

Stanmore and the Lands Office clubs met at Norwood Park, the result being a draw. Scores: Lands Office, 85; Stanmore, seven wickets for 60.

St. Joseph's College C. C. played on their grounds their seventh match this season against the Ormonde C. C. The game resulted in a draw, greatly in favour of the collegians.

A match between the Gloucester and Young Corio C. C. was played on the latter's ground, and resulted in a win for the former by 25 runs. Scores: G. C. C., 80 (E. Hamilton, 43); Young Corio, 55.

Windsor Grammar School and Sydney High School played at Windsor, the Grammar School winning by 35 runs. Scores: Grammar School, 126; High School, 91.

Corio (a team) and Surry United, concluded their match, the result being a win for the Corio by 28 runs. Nine each only batted, Sweetman and Folkes being unavoidably absent. At call of time on the first day, the game stood Surry United, 187; Corio, no wickets, for 24, and the latter brought their total up to 215; Hinchey totting up 111 by a splendid display of batting, being three hours at the wickets without a chance being given, and his performance places him in the front rank of junior batsmen. G. Tindale, 45; Newell, 18; Sullivan, 14 (not out), also showing good form. Ironsides (four wickets), Hume (two), Thomson and Morris (one each), were most successful with the ball, and the fielding of the Surry United was up to their usual standard of excellence, although Searle was unable to take the wicket owing to an injury on the first day. The following are the full scores:—

PEDESTRIANISM.

Pedestrians are reminded that nominations for the Sir Joseph Banks thirteenth grand handicap of 325 sovs. close on Saturday night, November 12, with the promoter, Mr. Frank Smith, at the committee rooms, Burrangong Hotel. In addition to the prize-money, Messrs. Tooth and Co. will present the winner with a handsome trophy, value 50 guineas, consisting of a gold chronometer and albert.

The committee of the Cobargo Athletic Club, which disqualified Thomas Gagen for life last May, have written to the Sir Joseph Banks proprietary, stating that, from circumstances and evidence they have received, they have decided to remove the said disqualification from Gagen. This decision has been confirmed by the Sir Joseph Banks committee. Gagen will now be allowed to run at all sports conducted under the Sir Joseph Banks rules.

AQUATICS.

NEW SOUTH WALES NATIONAL REGATTA.

Yesterday evening the committee of the last New South Wales national regatta met at Aarons' Exchange Hotel, Mr. W. Cope acting as chairman, when the balance-sheet was submitted by the treasurer, which showed a debit balance of £30 2s. 2d., which will be carried forward to next year. Upon the motion of Mr. W. J. M'Leod, seconded by Mr. P. W. Creagh, the balance-sheet was adopted. Afterwards a public meeting was held, to elect a committee to carry out the Centennial Regatta of 1888. Mr. I. J. Josephson was unanimously voted to the chair. The attendance was very large, and represented members from nearly every aquatic club, both sailing and rowing, in Port Jackson. Mr. P. W. Creagh proposed,—"That the anniversary regatta be held next year as usual—which is to be called the Centennial Regatta—on any day that may be convenient for the Government." Mr. Drewett seconded the resolution, and on being put to the meeting was carried. The election of officers then took place, with the following result:—Patron, his Excellency Lord Carrington; president, the Mayor elect; vice-presidents, Hon. J. B. Watt, Sir Henry Parkes, Messrs. W. G. Laidley, P. J. Clark, Hon. G. Thornton, Hon. C. J. Roberts, Mr. J. R. Fairfax, Hon. J. P. Burns, Mr. J. P. Garvan, Dr. Milford, Sir P. Jennings, Messrs. I. J. Josephson, W. J. Trickett, J. H. Want, A. J. Milson. Committee:—Messrs. F. Bennett, J. R. Pedley, R. Moody, W. H. Cerdeaux, E. A. Gaden, W. Reeks, E. W. Knox, P. W. Creagh, E. M. Dietrich, H. H. Robey, W. Cope, J. Blackman, V. B. Macdermott, Major Gascoigne, J. R. Drewett, J. W. M'Leod, P. O. Williams, E. P. Simpson, W. J. Merriman, G. Snow, A. Fairfax, T. F. Knox, G. Hellings, J. R. Love, A. Ickerson, J. E. Myers, T. E. DOUBLE BAY REGATTA.

The handing over of the prizes won at the Double Bay regatta took place at Mortimer's Hotel, Double Bay, last night, Mr. P. R. Pedley presiding, and Mr. George Hellings (honorary secretary), and J. J. Mackintosh (honorary treasurer) also being present. A protest in reference to one of the sailing races, after long and careful deliberation, resulted in the following decision:—"That seeing by the Elamie's protest the Hermione was only half-a-length ahead when the Hermione threw about, the committee are of opinion that the collision was caused by the Elamie, the Hermione being at the time in stays. Protest dismissed." The prizes were then distributed as follows:—All yachts: Sao, Dr. Milford, £30. Senior sculls: N. Johnson and J. Kennedy, trophies value £7 7s. Boats of Double Bay, &c.: Our May, W. Stannard, £7; Nellie S., ditto, £4; Puritan, F. W. Flower, £2. Residents: H. Messenger, £7. Half-deckers, over 20ft.: Triton, J. M'Kinley, £9; Maiden sculls: H. E. Butchart and F. J. Payne, trophies value £4 4s. Open boats: Pomona, J. M. Firth, £6; Waverley, H. Woolnough, £2. All-comers: C. Nelson, £15; H. Messenger, £3. Half-deckers, 20ft. and under: Hermione, R. Clark, £8. Junior sculls: J. A. Smith and T. W. Greig, two trophies value £6 6s. Canvas dingies: Violet, O. Taylor, £4; Bessie, T. L. Mulhall, £2; Thomas Punch, J. Smith, £1. Wooden dingies: Our Boys, G. Holmes, £6. Cricketers and Footballers: A. R. Richardson and A. Richardson, trophies value £5; A. Ireland and R. BOWLS.

The Balmain and Glebe Clubs met in a four-rink match on the Balmain green last Saturday, and notwithstanding the rain, which came down nearly all the time of play, the game was played out without retirement from the green. At the end of two hours and a-half the Balmain club scored a win by eight points, as will be seen from the following scores:—

GERMAN AND ENGLISH TRADE IN SOUTH AMERICA.

The following extract from the reports of British Consuls on the subject of German versus British merchants in South America is from the Times:—"The Consul at Valparaiso says that merchants there complain generally that English manufacturers do not study the changes in the requirements of the market in the same manner as their Continental competitors. The consequence is that while articles of regular consumption which seldom change in character are imported chiefly from England, those which require manipulation as well as good taste in their preparation, and which constantly change in design or make, are imported principally by continental houses. As the Chilian market requires constant change in the character of its merchandise, it has given our antagonists an opportunity of competing successfully with British goods. The Consul at Rio Grande do Sul deals with the subject at more length; but his conclusions may be briefly summarised. In his district Germans control more importing houses than any other nationality, they live and thrive on smaller profits, and there is always some one in the house who is being trained to carry the business on when the principals retire. This latter practice rarely prevails in British houses abroad; 'to this fact may be traced the decay of many old houses, and the short-lived commercial efforts of the separate units into which they usually split up.' Moreover, German goods, if inferior, are cheaper, and they are sometimes fraudulently marked, or the labels and marks are colourable imitations. Success obtained by these last methods can of course be only temporary. Complaints of bad packing are made against British glass and china ware manufacturers; the Consul has been informed that only the coarsest earthenware is imported to Rio Grande do Sul from Great Britain, because it is the only kind the merchants dare order on account of breakages from bad packing. Preference is therefore given to French and German wares. Another important cause of strenuous and successful competition is that facilities are now within the reach of everybody for importing direct from any European port instead of through London and Liverpool as formerly, and as a consequence the business of the old commission importing houses has decreased. It is right, however, to add with reference to the Rio Grande district that it possesses a considerable population which is either German by nationality or descent, and which naturally purchases from German merchants.

"Mr. Archer, the Vice-Consul at Porto Allegre, in the same district argues that it is not so much that British manufacturers have been driven out of the field, as that British merchants have had the foreign trade of their own country wrested from them, and as one of the reasons for this he mentions the circumstance, already alluded to by Mr. Bennett, that the heads of British houses never take the trouble of providing themselves with successors, while the Germans invariably do so. This may, he suggests, be due in part to the difficulty in finding suitable successors to a business in the employees of a British house, 'for it is, unfortunately, a fact that the British clerk is inferior to his German colleague in commercial education and qualifications, such as knowledge of foreign languages, &c.' Whatever the reason may be, there appears to be a continuity in German mercantile houses in South America which does not exist in the establishments of their British competitors; the former exist regardless of the death or retirements of members, while the latter are founded and die in a generation. The Consul at Santos thinks the great secret of German success in South America, as elsewhere, is their thorough training as mercantile men; German merchants possess 'the inestimable gift of being able to ingratiate themselves with the people with whom they reside and have to deal,' and their 'mercantile and industrial communities form one homogeneous mass from the Fatherland to the uttermost limits of the world, and work together for mutual benefit like one immense machine.' But in almost every case the cry of our officials abroad is that British commercial travellers are badly needed; but this point has been reiterated so frequently that it is unnecessary to press it here. On the whole, it appears that the British commercial position in South and Central America is being seriously threatened by German competition, not because German wares are better, but because they are pushed with more energy, judgment, and commercial knowledge."

FREE TRADE VICTORIOUS, OR PROTECTION TRIUMPHANT—WHICH IS IT?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—May I be permitted to make a few remarks on the extraordinary letter with the above heading, which appeared in the Herald of the 3rd instant. Your correspondent, "An Australian," informs us that his previous letter, which was published on the 7th ultimo, has been found "too hot" for freetraders, and that, therefore, none have replied. Considering that the letter in question was dealt with editorially on the very day it appeared. "An Australian" is as far from being correct as he can be, in stating that his letter remains unanswered. The comment in question left nothing to answer, and I, for one, do not care to beat a dead horse. Your correspondent's second letter, however, is so full of serious misstatements that I desire to trespass on your space to expose his ignorance. We are told that the Victorian farmers "under a protective policy" are selling cheap farm produce, thus "disproving the fallacy of freetraders that protection means higher prices." This remark shows how utterly at sea your correspondent really is. The present position of the Victorian farmer is that he is working without protection, at any rate as far as his chief article of produce is concerned, viz., wheat. This can be easily seen by reference to the very issue of the Herald that contained "An Australian's" letter. A report was there given of a conference of Victorian farmers, in which it was decided to ask the Victorian Government to give them a bounty of one shilling a bushel on wheat. What does this mean? Simply that the Victorian farmer wants protection, and that if he obtains it the whole of the wheat produced in Victoria will be raised in value, an increase equal to 25 or 30 per cent. on present prices. Higher price is always the object sought by protection, and there is no protection where there is no higher price.

We are informed that importers are "free-trade sharks," and that owing to the protective duty on sugar in this colony, "the sugar company keep the price so low that no importers can step in;" and yet what is the fact? That during the past three years the following quantities of sugar have been imported into New South Wales (re-exports deducted):—In 1884, 630,503cwt.; in 1885, 515,393cwt.; in 1886, 487,153cwt.: a total in three years only of 1,633,049cwt. or 182,901,488lb., and yet we are to believe that "no importer can step in."

In this article the full duty of £5 per ton is added to the price by our local producers on their own production. They are able to do so, since their production is well within our consumption. If any one doubts this let him take a sample of New South Wales sugar, and I will guarantee that, colour and quality being equal, he can buy it in Queensland and elsewhere at £5 per ton less money. "An Australian" refers to the low prices ruling for sugar as proof that protection does not raise the price; but he forgets that sugar has fallen in value all the world over, and that the comparison he should make is one between the price in New South Wales with protection and price elsewhere without protection, and not between our price of to-day and our price of past years. Does it never occur to persons who, like "An Australian," speak of importers as "sharks" that such a term, if correct here, is equally correct when applied to all those traders in England and elsewhere who import from and who pay New South Wales millions every year for her produce?

Here is another matter: "Every other colony has a fleet of foreign-going steamers running to Sydney; Free-trade New South Wales has one of about 250 tons. I blush and feel humiliated that it is so." Why should "An Australian" blush if this were so. He ought to rejoice, for the fewer steamers we have, the fewer opportunities are there for "free-trade sharks" to ply their nefarious occupation. But is the statement a fact? If any of your readers want information on the subject that will enable them to come to true conclusions as to our position in the shipping industry, I advise them to look up the report of the deputation that in August last waited upon the Victorian Government with reference to the position of Victorian shipping. It was said that 20 years ago the two colonies were running a neck-and-neck race; but that to-day New South Wales owned exactly twice the tonnage of Victoria, and the spokesman of the deputation, Mr. Reid, claimed that they ought to have some support or protection in accordance with what is known as the "settled policy" of Victoria. No man can read that report without wondering that it should be possible for any man to make the remarks made by "An Australian."

I am, &c.,
EDWARD PULSFORD,
Secretary Free Trade Association.
Sydney November 7.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Looking at the signs of the times, it can scarcely be doubted which of these will be finally triumphant as a fiscal policy.

The necessity and wisdom of a protection policy in the interests of a nation are proclaimed in Holy Writ:—"How can he get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and that glorieth in the goad that driveth oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and whose talk is of bullocks?"

Kendal, in his song of "Billy Vicars," says:—

"Indeed, I'm forced to say aside,
To you, O reader, solely,
He only wants the horns and hide
To be a bullock wholly.

"He being bush-bred stands, of course,
Six feet, his dirty socks in;
His lingo is confined to horse,
And plough, and pigs, and oxen."

proving that as we run down the ages the same sentiments prevail.

"He giveth his mind to make furrows, and is diligent to give the kine fodder. So every carpenter and workmaster that laboureth night and day, and they that cut and grave seals, and are diligent to make great variety, and give themselves to counterfeit imagery, and watch to finish a work; the smith also sitting by the anvil, and considering the ironwork; so does the potter, sitting at his work, and turning the wheel about with his feet, and maketh all his work by number. All these trust to their hands, and everyone is wise in his work. Without these cannot a city be inhabited. These will maintain the state of the world, and their desire is in the work of their craft."

Within the last day or two a Reuter's telegram gave the intelligence that the protectionist societies in England are organising and closing up their ranks, and every day seems to make it more clear that the growing desire of the people of Great Britain for a reconsideration of the fiscal policy of 1846 cannot much longer be ignored by Parliament. In an article in National Review for September, headed "Cobden's Dream," occurs the following:—"We have seen our traders driven from market to market, and other countries have closed their ports and adopted higher tariffs. These same nations—America, Germany, France, Belgium, and Russia, half ruin us by competition in neutral markets, and have positively taken advantage of our own free ports, and inundate our home markets with their goods so completely that our factories are lying idle, and thousands upon thousands of our people are unemployed. Mr. Kennedy, the chief of the Commercial Department of the Foreign Office, in giving evidence before the Royal Commission on Trade Depression said, "The policy adopted in many countries has been to augment customs duties and to encourage home production." On the occasion of the system of free imports being finally adopted by the House of Commons, Disraeli opposed it with all the force of the commanding genius of which he was capable. "It may be vain now in the midnight of their intoxication to tell them there will be an awaking of bitterness, it may be idle now, in the springtide of their economic frenzy, to warn them, that there may be an ebb of trouble. But the dark and inevitable hour will arrive. Then when their spirit is softened by misfortune, they will recur to those principles which made England great. Then too, perchance, they may remember, not with unkindness, those who were neither ashamed nor afraid to struggle for the cause with which was associated, principles the most popular, sentiments the most entirely national, the cause of labour, the cause of the people, the cause of England." What reading and intelligent man can truthfully deny that in England both employer and employee are at present getting worse off. Not only are the factories lying idle, but the land is lying waste, the machinery is going to rust, the army of unemployed is regularly growing larger and larger, and the trade which is done and of which so much is boasted is done at a loss. I have yet to be shown a merchant who is anxious to do a big trade without profit. I am, &c.,

JOHN S. SKEET,
November 5. Secretary Protection Union.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The most charitable way in which I can treat your correspondent, "Anti-Humbug," is to suppose that he is suffering in the same way as was Dr. Cameron Lees when he penned his notorious letter to the Scotsman. I am under no craze. I am simply an observer of facts, and on those facts I base my opinions, and "Anti-Humbug" has brought nothing forward to upset my statements. He first says, "unfortunately, my facts won't hold water," writing from a free trade point, I should have put "fortunately." He next propounds a question about Victorian farmers. I am not a Victorian farmer, nor have I seen Victoria since 1842, but should imagine they are content, because they can buy what they want cheaper than the New South Wales farmers, their own people make the agricultural implements, and supply not only them, but a very large number of New South Wales farmers as well, but as the importer comes between, the New South Wales farmer has to pay more. My allusion to sugar was quite justifiable, and I think "Anti-Humbug's" statement about nearly ruining some of the shareholders, an untruth, but that is beside the question. I did hear that one of them had to make some sacrifices to pay up the call when it was being converted into a limited company, but he held on to his shares nevertheless, and now the company are offering an increase in price for the cane. That does not look much like ruination. Without calling in the aid of the Philadelphia lawyer, I will explain to this simpleton "the twaddle about the shipping" just in the same way that I would to one of my little grandchildren. Thus, foreign or intercolonial steamers: Victoria, a protectionist colony, has a fleet running right along the coast from Adelaide to Queensland. South Australia has a fleet running from Adelaide along to Sydney. Tasmania has her fleet running to Melbourne and Sydney. New Zealand has her fleet running to ports all round. New South Wales has—now count: No. 1, Fijian; No. 2, ——. Can "Humbug" supply the blank? I am very sure he cannot. Yet New South Wales supplies the coal that keeps these fleets going—these fleets of protectionist colonies. Is not this humiliation? Free-trade Sydney, the mother colony, that boasts (ye gods, boasts) of her free trade, of her commerce, depending on her infant children, so to speak, for carrying it on, could humiliation be more complete. "Anti-Humbug," really a complete humbug, says: "I have grossly exaggerated the amount paid annually by the Sugar Company, and that I know it." Passing by his impertinence—for that always accompanies ignorance—I would suggest to him that he call upon Mr. E. W. Knox, the general manager, who is the very essence of good nature, and ask him whether the company pay hundreds of thousands annually. He will, I think, find that I might have said millions, and not have exceeded the mark. If "Anti-Humbug" cannot produce anything better, he should not waste his paper and ink to fill your columns with a lot of rubbish.

November 5. AN AUSTRALIAN.

SYDNEY SCHOOL OF ARTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As a member of the Sydney School of Arts of some years' standing, and having been previously connected with institutions with similar objects in London, kindly permit me in your columns to give my experience with reference to this very peculiar institution. I find, in the first place, that although the novel-reading portion of the members is well catered for, the scientific section of the library is much neglected; for instance, although the shelves are crowded with works bearing such comical titles as "She would be a wife," "She might be a widow," "Her heart was not her own," &c., there is scarcely one good modern work on geology, and not one on photography.

Again, I notice an entire want of system or method in the arrangements of the library; and more, a conservatism which refuses to adopt any improvement, as, for instance, in declining to adopt the simple and efficient indicators as used in the Free Public Library—the proved fact that they work well in the Government library having no influence on the authorities here.

Again, the drinking vessel of the water filter for the use of the readers is fixed between two washhand basins in the lavatory, and so cleverly arranged as to operate as a receptacle for soapsuds.

Again, two registers are kept in the library for the use of the members, one termed "suggestion book," and the other "proposal book." Wishing to recommend to the committee two London periodicals to be taken for the reading-room, and the distinction between a proposal and a suggestion being so remarkably fine, I entered my application in the wrong book; it was returned marked "obtain, if entered in the proper book." I then made my proposal in the other book, and in the following month it was again favourably endorsed. Now, as this application was made about nine months ago, and the papers applied for have not yet been obtained, I should like to know how long it takes the committee to obtain papers from London.

The secretary offers me the curious explanation that the London agent is not all he should be, and that they intend making a change. As it is possible many other members have been treated in a like manner, I think a little publicity might be beneficial to this very sleepy institution.

I must, however, state that I have always found the attendants to be most courteous and obliging, and this is the more to their credit, as I know a large portion of their time is occupied, and their patience taxed, by recommending and selecting novels for lady readers.

In conclusion, I would like to suggest the omission of the misleading and useless word "Mechanics" from the title of the "Sydney School of Arts." I am, &c.,

The following were the Melbourne quotations posted at the Exchange to-day:—Castlemaine Brewery, buyer 28s. 6d.; Perkins' Brewery, buyer 39s., seller 40s.; Perpetual Trustee, buyer 13s.; Silverton Trams, buyer 53s. 6d., seller 55s., sales 53s. 6d.

At a meeting to-day of the shareholders of the Australian Co-operative Fruit Exporting, Preserving, and Cool-Storing Company, Limited, Mr. A. Hutchison, M.L.A., in the chair, the following were elected directors, viz.:—Hon. James Inglis, Messrs. W. Marshall Moore, A. Hutchison, M.L.A., Hamilton J. Spier, Robert Hudson, J.P., and W. H. Paling. During the meeting Mr. Inglis read extracts from letters received from his Calcutta agents showing very satisfactory results from a recent shipment of oranges made by him to that market. The progress report submitted went to show that the cool chambers erected by the company are now in full working order, and it was estimated that the cool storage from these will give a very handsome profit, altogether apart from the exporting, preserving, and drying industries. Satisfaction was expressed with the results accomplished so far, and as to the ultimate success of the company.

Our latest English cable news indicates that money is rather dearer than it was a week back; the market rate of interest having risen from 3 to 3¼ per cent. The amount of the reserves had decreased from £12,100,000 to £11,800,000, but the liability had decreased in a greater ratio, the proportion of reserves to liability being 46 per cent., against 45 per cent. on the 27th ultimo. Colonial securities had given way slightly, attributed in part to the non-declaration of a dividend by the Bank of New Zealand. The fall in New Zealand 4 per cents. is £2, or from par to 98. New South Wales 3½ per cents. have receded from 99 to 98½, and South Australian 4 per cents. from 105 to 104½. The price of silver, quoted at 3s. 7¼d., is ¼d. less than it was a week back. Tin has been rapidly rising, having gone from £120 on the 27th ultimo to £135 on the 14th. Wallaroo copper, at £50 on the 3rd instant, was £3 dearer than a week before. Tallow also was 10s. per ton dearer, mutton being quoted at £24 10s.

In the Import markets to-day business on the whole was rather quiet. The month's bills have been fairly well met. The renewals asked for, although not so numerous as in some recent months, were quite sufficient to show that the colony has not yet recovered from the effects of the late depression. Still the prospects are cheering, and doubtless with the proceeds of the forthcoming crop and wool clips, debts all round will be diminished, and trade put on a better footing. So far the month's transactions have been mostly on a small scale. The breadstuffs trade to-day was very quiet, and the market steady, at late rates. In tea we note the quittance of about 250 half-chests at a shade over 60s. On Thursday an auction catalogue of about 2000 packages will be submitted at the City Mart. No important business is mentioned in sugar; 4200 bags and pockets Queensland and colonial are to be offered publicly to-morrow (Tuesday) morning. The Brisbane Courier, giving the prices of first whites as £19 10s. to £20, second whites £16 to £17 10s., and yellows £14 to £15, says that they can scarcely be said to be maintained, and are not likely to advance, at all events until it is known what stocks are available at the end of the season. It is thought that the action of growers in holding back will prevent the speculation that took place last year occurring again. From Messrs. F. C. Licht's report for 24th September we learn that although the total production of beet sugar in the first eight months of 1887, amounting to 391,684 tons, was 81,000 tons in excess of the quantity for the like period of 1886, and the imports for Europe and North America also showed a surplus of 212,000 tons on the total for the preceding year: the consumption was 369,000 tons greater, and in consequence the stocks at the end of August had fallen to 624,110 tons against 762,655 tons at the end of August, 1886. These figures go to show the probability of a higher market. Rice without change. Over 6000 bags go to auction on Thursday. In dried fruits we note sales of new currants at 4¼d.; old elemes, prime fruit, were dull at 4½d.; dates noticed at 3d. Candles are dull of sale, 6d. being full value of stearines. The month's shipments are below the average. Brewers' goods are moving off but slowly, the market being without change, either in hops or malt. The day's liquor trade was inconsiderable, and prices were unaltered. In metals galvanised iron is firm, the tenor of English telegraphic advices as to prices and freights contributing to the maintenance of values. In oils, sales of kerosene oil for forward delivery are making at full prices. Jute goods moving off at late rates. The month's shipments of cement were again on a moderate scale. Sales are reported at from 14s. 6d. to 15s. 3d., according to brand.

Messrs. Harris and Ackman will offer at auction to-morrow (Tuesday) morning, sugar, wines, spirits, &c.

The report for 1886 of the Commercial, Industrial, and Maritime Society of Antwerp shows that the importation of oranges into that port had increased from 25,486 cases in 1879 to 86,997 cases in 1885, and 58,553 cases in 1886. In 1879 more than half the oranges were imported direct from Spain. About a fourth only were imported direct in 1886, importers finding it to their interest, owing to the fiscal regulations, to import indirectly from London, nearly one-half being so imported. Antwerp, as well as English ports, may yet be found a good market for our Australian oranges, which, of course, would not compete, but would simply alternate in supply with fruit grown in northern latitudes.

The shipments from Great Britain to the colonies for the month ended September 28 were valued at £1,489,700, a decrease of £175,500 on the previous month, and £66,000 less than the amount for the corresponding month of last year. To Sydney the total was £486,100, a decrease of £75,700 on the month, and £26,200 on the corresponding month of last year. To all the other colonies except South Australia there was a decrease. In the case of that colony the shipments, amounting to £135,100, exceeded the shipments of the previous month by £38,900, and those of the corresponding month of last year by no less than £48,100, implying a very marked recovery from the depression of last year. To Sydney the shipments for the month included the following:—Drapery, £174,100; leather and saddlery, £47,390; rails and general machinery, £26,900; books, paper, and stationery, £23,225; gunpowder, 312cwt.; hardware, cutlery, £20,900; galvanised iron, 1404 tons; tin plates, 3405 boxes: linseed oil, 17,360 gallons; cement, 6240 barrels; tobacco, 35,200lb.; brandy, in bulk 9920 proof gallons, in case 5560 proof gallons; rum, 720 proof gallons; geneva, 9300 proof gallons; British spirits, in bulk 15,770 proof gallons, in case 19,430 proof gallons; red wine, 6270 gallons, white wine 1300 gallons; beer, bulk, 163 barrels of 36 gallons, glass 2170 barrels of 36 gallons; malt, 1359 quarters; hops, 192cwt.; assorted oilmen's stores, £11,680; white salt, 244 tons; rock salt, 50 tons; candles, 592cwt.; raisins, 101cwt.; currants, 2553cwt.; refined sugar, 1540cwt.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, brought forward a catalogue of 2876 bales at their wool sale to-day, and privately and by auction they sold 1502 bales. The demand throughout was very spirited, and although some of the larger clips were passed in owing to reserves being excessive, the bulk of the lots, especially those in the grease, met with ready sale. Seedy and burry wools, and scoureds, were most difficult to deal with, and prices for these descriptions were in favour of buyers. The following are the principal sales:—Greasy: Llangollen, 84 at 8½d., 48 skirts 6½d., 21 pieces 5¾d., from Cassilis; B&B over Colombo, 17 at 8½d., 4 lambs at 8¼d., from Colombo Creek; A in triangle, 21 at 8¾d., from Narandera; J. Rouse, 127 broken at 6½d.; R, 80 at 6½d.; JL over Tara Hall, 11 at 7½; DI 14 diamond, 21 at 6½d.; L in diamond over Mudgee, 18 at 7¾d.; JAB, 16 at 7½d.; M Bros over Colombo Chaos, 17 at 8¼d. Scoured: J. J. Rudd over Wagengoberembe, 12 1st pieces at 11½.; Mumbledool, 13 locks at 8d.; D. and Co. over Deepwater, 20 bellies at 12d.; 32 locks at 8½.; RJ over H, 15 1st skin at 12½d.; Y in diamond, 10 1st clothing at 10½d. A catalogue of skins was cleared at about late rates, best realising 4d. to 5d., medium 3d. to 3½d., short to 2½d.

The steamer Angerton cleared at the Customs to-day for London, via Melbourne, with 6339 bales wool, 611 bags cobalt ore, and 1204 ingots tin.

The Shandon, from Sharpness, with a freight of salt, and the Cloncaird, from Glasgow, with a general cargo, valued at £18,000, arrived to-day.

The following was the Customs revenue received to-day:—

Spirits, £2698 9s. 4d.; samples, 3s.; wine, still, £205 15s. 10d.; wine, sparkling, £5 17s. 6d.; ale, porter, and beer (in wood), £362 10s.; ale, porter, and beer (in bottle), £89 6s. 6d.; tobacco and snuff, £131 14s.; cigars, £121 11s. 6d.; tea, 331 3s. 6d.; coffee, £12 6s. 9d.; chicory (raw), £21; sugar (refined), 3s. 4d.; sugar (unrefined), £350 11s. 2d.; opium, £47 15s.; rice, £100 17s. 6d.; dried fruits, £221 5s. 10d.; specific duty, £1247 12s. 2d.; harbour and light rates, £30 10s.; pilotage—Sydney, £32 1s. 8d.; harbour dues, £6 10s.; excise on tobacco, £25; excise on beer, £268 8s.; Chinese restriction, £160; fisheries royalty, £6. THE SYDNEY MAIL.

THE CHRISTMAS NUMBER.

A FINE ART PRODUCTION.

The forthcoming Christmas Number of the Sydney Mail will be one of the finest, if not the finest, Christmas publications ever issued in Australia. The proprietors have secured for publication in it

A SPLENDID NOVEL, entitled
"THEY WERE MARRIED,"
written by that brilliant and popular author,
WALTER BESANT.

It is a beautiful and charming production, and will be welcomed and read with positive delight by all who can appreciate a good story. It is in the author's happiest vein, and affords ample evidence of his inimitable skill in the creation of exciting situations and interesting incidents. Walter Besant pourtrays character with a delightful charm, and in "They Were Married" he depicts, in infinite variety, the changeful phases of real life.

The story will be rendered additionally fascinating by a VERY LARGE NUMBER of ILLUSTRATIONS, drawn and engraved by some of the first artists of the day. Nothing finer in the way of pictures ever appeared in the Australian press. They were drawn by

R. CARTON WOODVILLE — The Late S. READ
A. FORESTIER — HAL LUDLOW
HONTBARD — HARRY FURNESS
DAVIDSON KNOWLES — W. H. OVEREND.
F. S. WALKER

These names are a guarantee of the superlative character of the illustrations which will accompany "They Were Married."

Although the story and illustrations have been procured only at a very large outlay, the proprietors have resolved not to make any extra charge for the Mail with which this Art Supplement will be presented. The price will therefore be, as usual, SIXPENCE PER COPY.

THE COLOURED SUPPLEMENT

which will be given away with the number is one of the most effective coloured pictures ever issued. The subject is exceedingly appropriate, of great artistic finish, rich in colour, and would adorn the drawing-room of any home in the colony.

Single copies will be posted to any country or intercolonial address by remitting 6d in stamps, or to Europe by adding 1d as postage.

Agents for the different country districts are now receiving orders.

As the demand for space is sure to be large, advertisers are requested to make early application.

TO-MORROW'S ECHO.

TO-MORROW being a PUBLIC HOLIDAY, THE ECHO will be published at 9 a.m., but a SECOND EDITION, containing information with regard to the Cricket Match and other interesting matters, will be issued at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

CAUTION.

BROOK'S COTTONS.

We request the assistance of the public in bringing to justice any infringement on our legal rights; and we shall be happy to pay handsomely for the conviction of any offender.

The public are cautioned against unscrupulous trades-people attempting to thrust on the consumers an inferior GLAZED Cotton purporting to be of the same character as BROOK'S PATENT GLACE COTTON. By adopting as near as they legally can our label, and the shape of our reel, persons are often able to mislead the public. For the sake of the large profit obtainable by selling an inferior article, some tradesmen are interested in pushing imitations on the market.

NOTE.—We guarantee the length of our Cottons as printed on each label. Underneath the label on each reel are stamped the words "J. BROOK and BROS." This protects the public from fraud by the removal of the labels.

SUMMARY FOR EUROPE.

Our Special Summary of colonial news, for transmission by the Orient Company's steamer Austral, will be published in the Herald of Thursday next, November 10, on which day the mail will close in Sydney. Persons desiring to send to their friends copies of the Herald can have them posted direct from this office by forwarding the necessary addresses and a penny stamp in addition to the cost of each paper.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1887.

Comparisons are odious, as everyone knows, but when they are misleading they are doubly odious. A comparison of the misleading sort has recently been made at the expense of New South Wales by a writer in the Melbourne Argus, who has endeavoured to show how much more successfully the railways of Victoria have been managed than the railways of this colony. We do not suppose for a moment that there was any intention on the part of the writer to mislead, but he has taken a narrow view of the situation, and has, therefore, done an injustice to the New South Wales railway system. Contrasting the returns of the two colonies for the year 1886, he speaks of the Victorian railways as a great success, and of the New South Wales railways as a dismal failure. The comparison, as pointed out by a correspondent, whose communication we published yesterday, is not a fair one. It is impossible to judge two railway systems by one year's working, and the year 1886 is a peculiarly unfair one to base calculations upon, for it was a very bad year for New South Wales, and a very good year for Victoria.

If it is proper to compare at all, the comparison should be made not upon the results of one year, but upon the results of a series of years. The Argus writer took the year 1886 only, and placed New South Wales in a very bad position as compared with Victoria by showing that while we have spent almost as much money upon our railways as our neighbours have done, our net earnings for the year fall short of the Victorian net earnings by nearly £360,000, while the return on the capital invested is only 2·90 per cent. in the case of New South Wales, as against 3·92 per cent. in the case of Victoria. This places us in a very unfavourable position as compared with Victoria, but if we take into account the returns for the last ten years instead of the returns for a single year, a very different state of things is disclosed. Our correspondent has compiled a table extending over a period of ten years, beginning with 1877 and ending with 1887, from which it is seen that the net earnings of New South Wales for the decade were larger proportionately than the Victorian earnings, while the return upon the invested capital is £3 18s. 8½d. per cent. for New South Wales, and only £3 14s. 11½d. for Victoria. During most of the years of the decade the New South Wales returns were better than the Victorian—as our correspondent shows the New South Wales lines were paying over 4 per cent. when the Victorian lines were saddling the State with a deficit—and it was then the fashion for the Melbourne papers to point to the results obtained in this colony as evidence that we managed our railways better than they did in Victoria. Our traffic for the last year or two has not been so profitable as that of Victoria, and it is argued therefore that our system, judged by the Victorian standard, is a failure. This is a partial and misleading view. Institutions, whatever they may be, are not to be judged by one year's results, but by results generally.

But there are other considerations which make comparisons on fair terms between the railways of New South Wales and the railways of Victoria impossible. Our circumstances, both physical and economical, are entirely different from those of our neighbours. Victoria has a small territory, while we possess a large one; her population is concentrated, while ours is scattered; she has built most of her lines through easy country, while we have encountered engineering difficulties of a serious kind, which have added greatly to the cost of the lines. It must be admitted that there has been a very rapid falling off in the productiveness of our lines during the last few years, but our Melbourne critics are looking for the cause in the wrong direction. The Argus says that "the occasion of the disaster is the effort now being made in New South Wales to tap the trade of Central Australia, and divert its drift from the Southern ports, Adelaide, and Melbourne, to Port Jackson on the Eastern coast." The "disaster," that is to say the loss of profit on our railways, has not been produced by this cause, but by several other causes. One is the season of almost unexampled depression through which the colony has passed, and the other is the construction of political lines, which have been built to please certain districts and certain representatives, without paying sufficient regard to the prospect of making them pay. Some of these lines have been a heavy charge upon the revenue, eating up the profits of other lines, and bringing down the average earnings. Victoria has had its share of political lines no doubt, but it has not suffered in this way as we have done. Some of its political lines have turned out well, and the North-eastern line, which was denounced as a waste of money, confounded the prophets by proving to be the best paying of all. We have had no such luck with our political lines, which have done as much as anything else to bring down the average earnings. The statement that our railways do not pay because we have constructed lines to tap the trade of Central Australia, which should belong to Adelaide and Melbourne, is certainly not correct. These lines themselves perhaps do not bring in a profit, but it was necessary to construct them so as to get the wool to Sydney. It must be confessed that in wet seasons we are placed at a disadvantage, because the wool then follows the river, which is the cheaper route. But, as our correspondent points out, the rivers are not always navigable, in fact the rule is that they are unnavigable, and if there were no railways some of the sheep-owners could only send their wool to market when the rivers were full, a state of things which does not frequently happen. These wool lines may not pay at present, but they are a necessity of the situation.

It is not fair to contend, because the Victorian railways are now paying better than ours that the management of the Victorian lines is better than the management of our own. It would be just as fair to say that our traffic arrangements are better than the traffic arrangements on the other side of the Murray because we have had fewer serious accidents on our lines than have been met with in Victoria. The concentration of the railways in the southern colony, and the complexity of the suburban traffic, account in a large measure, no doubt, for the frequency of serious accidents in the neighbourhood of Melbourne. It would be worse than boasting for us to say that we do not have accidents on our suburban lines like the accidents that have happened on the lines round about Melbourne, because we manage our railways better than our friends are able to do, and there is just as little reason in the Victorian boast that they manage things more cleverly over there, because they are getting better dividends out of their railway capital. The circumstances of the two colonies with regard to railway construction, as with regard to many other matters, are so very different that criticism is apt to hit the wrong mark.

When a distinguished official of a branch of the Christian Church makes such startling statements as did Cardinal MORAN on Sunday last, it is worth while speculating as to how far his opinions may be shared by his co-religionists and the adherents of his communion. For the peace of the community, and for the spirit of goodwill and tolerance, it is to be hoped that those who agree with him are not many. Among ecclesiastics in his Church, no doubt, his words would find a ready response, but they would scarcely find assent among the intelligent laity who subscribe to the tenets of the Roman Catholic faith. Cardinal MORAN, in his outlook upon the condition of that portion of the Church which does not acknowledge the Papal supremacy and the doctrines which are based upon it, has discovered that the chief aspiration of the "Protestant sects" is to unite; that the religious opinions of these bodies does not bind them to any particular form of belief; that this attempt at union would not be one of strength and vitality, but simply "a combination which meant ruin and desolation;" and that these aims and aspirations are similar to those of the Nihilists. We suspect the CARDINAL scarcely understood how sweeping and cold-blooded these statements were until he saw them, as we presume he did, in the hard black-and-white of printer's type. We are also quite sure that good people of every denomination outside of the Papal pale will have read his words yesterday morning with a somewhat startled feeling. Here have the Anglicans, the Presbyterians, the Wesleyans, the Congregationalists, and other devoted folk been adhering with much tenacity, and with sometimes more vigour and less of forbearance than the CARDINAL's opinion of their "indifferentism" would warrant, to the definitions of their beliefs, only to be told now that they have no beliefs at all. This must be very disheartening for those who have been walking all their lives within the lines of creed and doctrine that are the broad basis of the different denominations which have not considered it part of their heritage or their duty to seek for their salvation through the communion of the Western Church. It must indeed be somewhat discouraging to the CARDINAL himself to think how with but "fragmentary principles of Christianity" these "various communions" should have existed as they have done, and increased in moral power and spiritual influence as they grew in numerical membership. Or does His EMINENCE believe that all this is but evil disguised in a great moral garment, and that it has grown because evil must grow till its time be accomplished?

But we fear that the CARDINAL must be commiserated upon a blurred vision, or challenged for an unhappy ignorance. That an educated and prominent prelate should declare in the face of a by no means stupid or uncultured world that the Christian bodies with which he has no part or sympathy have cast aside the laws and teachings of CHRIST, and placing no stress upon belief, have turned to a religious Nihilism, is almost too extraordinary for common credence. Even cardinals may sometimes speak in the language of parables, and lose themselves in the intoxication of words, and we would fain believe it has been so in this case; but the evidence does not lie that way. There was plain premeditation in the statements. Many will be inclined to ask the CARDINAL if he has forgotten, when speaking of beliefs, the Thirty-nine Articles to which every clergyman of the Church of England subscribes, and of the Apostles', the Nicene, and the Athanasian creeds which are part of the service of the same Church. And if his EMINENCE has not forgotten them, he would surely be quite willing to admit that unless they were read awry, there would be found not "fragmentary principles" but the basis of the very elements of belief to which the Church of Rome gives adherence. It is not improbable also that the Westminster Confession of Faith of the Presbyterian Church has fallen under the intellectual scrutiny of Cardinal MORAN. He certainly would not complain of the lack of rigidity in belief in that confession, even though he could not agree to its definitions. It is within the last few years that a Presbyterian minister in Melbourne was obliged to withdraw from his denomination because of his uncertain ideas upon the Atonement, and within the past few months another young cleric withdrew from the same Presbytery because he was suspected of unorthodoxy. The Wesleyans likewise have not been hazy in the definition of their belief. The Apostles' Creed covers the broad ground of their faith and discipline, and if it means "elasticity of professions" there is need for the CARDINAL to look to his own hearthstone. But the Congregational body, the proceedings of which, of late, have evidently given the key-note to the address of his EMINENCE, what of them? Their Model Deed, or basis of union, provides, among other things, for a belief in the existence of GOD the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, the Fall of Man, the Incarnation, the influence of the Holy Spirit, the Divine Inspiration of the Holy Scriptures, the Immortality of the Soul, the Resurrection of the Dead, and the Final Judgment with its eternal consequences. Facing these things, how is it possible for any one, great or small, to declare that the Protestant sects are but waifs and strays among the breakers? To plead that the denominations do not live up to their defined beliefs is no argument. There are variations, and most serious ones, too, in that close religious corporation the Roman Catholic Church.

But, when all is said, has not the CARDINAL been giving play to his imagination? Has he not been hunting hares and found a camel? What secret information has His EMINENCE gained that he is able to announce that the chief aspiration of the several bodies is to unite? Certainly no such knowledge could have been acquired from the reports of the proceedings of the Synods, the Assemblies, and the Congregational Union that have been held since his arrival here. Was the cue taken from the deliberations of the Diocesan Synod of the Anglican Church, where most of the time was spent in discussing what was considered a Papal innovation in the Cathedral? It has not been patent to the public, or to the Press who watch the doings of the public, that there has been any serious move toward or advocacy of the union of the different denominations. The desirability of union may have been mentioned in the addresses at church assemblies, but it has never been considered of such vast necessity as to warrant a belief that its accomplishment was imminent. The various religious bodies are doing their work in their own way, and the differences between them are largely upon matters of Church polity and upon minor doctrinal points. But the CARDINAL'S remarks show most conspicuously how little one half of the world knows how the other half lives or thinks. We are told very often by those who do not know any better that the Roman Catholics dethrone GOD and exalt the VIRGIN MARY, that Saints answer their prayers, and that they worship images. Well, intelligent people do not believe this any more than the CARDINAL does, and from that basis of intelligence we desire also to look upon him as a sensible man as well as a cultured ecclesiastic. However, if last Sunday's utterances are repeated, we do not see how this is possible. It is not a pleasant sight to witness great divines showing a spirit of injustice or intolerance. The Church has enough to do to work against the tide of actual evil, without tapping the marshes to find more impurity. Aggressiveness is good in a good cause, but aggressive intolerance raises more unhappy phantoms than the religious devotion behind it is ever able to exorcise. The Nihilism of the Churches is but a bad dream of the CARDINAL'S, and we hope it will be followed by a seasonable awakening.

By the courtesy of the Hon. J. INGLIS we are able to give in another column some interesting information respecting his experimental shipment of fruit to the Indian market. The consignment consisted of 189 cases of oranges and 10 cases of lemons, each case containing about ten and a-half dozen. Unfortunately the S.S. Clitus, by which the fruit was shipped, made rather a slow passage, and the unloading was further delayed for the discharge of a cargo of horses at Garden Reach. As it was, the best market was nearly over when the fruit actually reached the Custom House at Calcutta, on October 14. For all that, the agents, seem to have gone to work in the most approved business fashion; and certainly their account sales may be regarded as most encouraging. Whilst placing the bulk of the shipment with a firm of auctioneers for sale, they took care to distribute specimens of the fruit to influential natives and other likely buyers, a species of advertisement which continued to bring up intending buyers after the fruit had been all disposed of. The results are seventy per cent. of sound fruit sold at a shilling per dozen; and when it is remembered that the quality of the fruit was not first class the price must be considered most satisfactory. Strange to say, the lemons, although reported to be fine and juicy, did not take at all. In the letters and Press notices received by Mr. INGLIS from his agents there are many valuable suggestions for future experiments. Amongst other things exporters are advised to shorten the time of transit as much as possible, to aim at landing the fruit during the months of August, September, and October, when supplies are scarcest in India, and to give the preference to open crates over close packing-cases. We congratulate Mr. INGLIS on the results of his very praiseworthy experiment. The fruit-producing powers of this country are practically unlimited. With our varieties of soils and of climate we ought to be able to grow almost every fruit under the sun. The difficulty heretofore has been to find a market. As a matter of fact, the absence of a paying export market has tended to make our producers unduly disparage the possibilities of local demand. It would be a most healthful thing for the people of this country to consume double or treble the quantity of fruit that has been produced here. Now that prospects of foreign markets are opening up, we may hope that our growers will be stimulated to show the best they can do, and, if so, the home market will share the benefits.

It appears, after all, that the immediate object of STANLEY'S expedition for the relief of EMIN PASHA is to be thwarted. In letters to a gentleman resident in Edinburgh, of which extracts are published in the London Times, EMIN PASHA emphatically announces his intention of remaining where he is. When the energetic explorer who has charge of the relief expedition arrives at the end of his journey, he will find that he has undertaken it in vain. EMIN PASHA holds the position he received from GORDON twelve years ago as a sacred trust, and, following the example of his illustrious chief, is prepared to make any measure of sacrifice for the amelioration of the condition of the unfortunate people among whom his lot is cast. Judging from his letters, he has strong hopes of their eventual moral and political regeneration. In any case, his resolve appears to be inexorably taken to persist in the work he is engaged in. Under no circumstances will he return with STANLEY. So far, then, the journey of the latter will be fruitless; and all the money, energy, and, it may be, life, lavished upon the expedition will be wasted as far as the relief of EMIN PASHA is concerned. There is, however, a compensation which some may consider adequate in the value accruing to science from the opening up of an unknown portion of the always interesting African continent. It does not appear that all the efforts which have been made to open up the interior of Africa to the influences of civilisation have produced in the way of results anything half so important as their contributions to various departments of science. The climate is one great bar to the efforts of the European, and next to this is the uncompromising savagery of the native races. These have been found up to this the two great barriers to the progress of civilisation in Africa. Taking into consideration the difficulty of coping with these obstacles, and the poverty of the returns which have been obtained in the process of "opening up" Africa, it may well be doubted whether the expenditure of life and wealth in the endeavour is in any way justified. Africa has within the last half-century been the theatre of the most heroic exertions which that space of time has witnessed throughout the world. Priceless lives have been spent in the cause of its progress, and the heroism of STANLEY, and the self-sacrificing devotion of EMIN PASHA, to-day show that it still possesses mysterious attractiveness for men of heroic mould.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

WEDNESDAY next, the 9th of November, being a public holiday, the following arrangements will be observed in the mail branch of the General Post Office:—The various offices of that branch will be open from 8.30 till 10 a.m. only, and the 8 a.m. delivery only will be effected by letter-carriers on that day. The country mails usually despatched in the afternoon and evening, also the coastwise, intercolonial, and foreign mails will close at 9 a.m. The iron pillar-receivers and receivers at suburban post offices will only be cleared at the first usual hour on that day.

THE Legislative Assembly will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon. There is a considerable amount of general business in the shape of notices of motions on the paper, and some of the questions are of a very debatable character. Mr. Moore will move,—"That in the opinion of the House, the additional standing order No. 5, adopted and approved May, 1887, being in contravention of the 23rd section of the Constitution Act, is ultra vires." A motion stands in the name of Mr. R. Burdett Smith to the effect that in the opinion of the House, in view of the celebration of the Centenary of the colony, some permanent memorial of its first Governor, Captain Arthur Phillip, R.N., be erected on some suitable place near the spot on which the proclamation founding the colony was read. Mr. Haynes will ask the House to rescind the resolution arrived at on the 12th July last, to the effect that all members of the Assembly who have been returned to three Parliaments, either successively or collectively, shall, on ceasing to be a member of the Legislature, be entitled to a permanent free pass on the railways. Mr. Hassall will move for a select committee to report upon the Evans combination truck, and Mr. O'Sullivan will ask for a select committee to report upon "certain charges of misconduct alleged against Mr. Addison by a meeting of licensed cabmen and drivers."

THE Hon. C. J. Roberts, Postmaster-General, returned to Sydney yesterday from Taree, where, with Messrs. See and Kethel, M.L.A.s, he last week took part in the ceremony of laying the foundation-stone of the Manning River Hospital. Mr. Roberts has resumed his official duties at the Post Office.

THE section of the Illawarra railway between Wollongong and Kiama will be opened for traffic to-morrow. The opening ceremony will not, as was anticipated, be performed by the Minister for Works.

CORRESPONDENCE received at the Treasury by the mail yesterday goes to show that the securities of this colony are steadily improving in the estimation of the English investors, and in the opinion of the leading financiers it is probable that if, as the Colonial Treasurer has publicly announced, the Government does not float a loan this year 3½ per cents will advance to par—the highest rate which the securities of these colonies have yet attained. Unfortunately telegraphic advices show that, owing to the non-declaration of a dividend by the Bank of New Zealand, colonial securities have slightly receded, our own 3½ per cents having fallen 10s., to £98 10s. In writing to a correspondent under date London, the 29th September last, Messrs. W. Westgarth and Co. state in reference to New South Wales securities:—"You will have noticed that your colony's 3½ per cents have risen 1½ per cent. during the last few days. Buyers have long hung back, hardly believing that the great issues of the last few years can have been absorbed yet; but the colony is now in such high credit that if you keep off for six months more we may have the price up to the Canadian (102)."

THE Full Court, consisting of their Honors Mr. Justice Innes, Mr. Justice Deffell and Mr. Justice Owen, sat yesterday, and were engaged all day in hearing arguments on defendant's appeal for a new trial in Manu versus Smith, plaintiff having obtained a verdict in November last year against defendant in an action of libel. The case, in which the main question involved is whether a letter written by defendant was a privileged communication, will be resumed this morning. The case of Lyons v. Hoffnung was part heard yesterday, before his Honor the Chief Justice and a jury of four. The plaintiff was Samuel Lyons, official assignee in the estate of William Clare, and the question raised was whether goods sold on credit could be stopped in transit by the sellers on their learning of the purchaser being in insolvent circumstances. Plaintiff in this case claimed goods so stopped, and valued at £500, on the part of the general creditors of the insolvent's estate. In the second Jury Court, before his Honor Mr. Justice Faucett, the action Perdrian v. Moore and another was continued and will conclude to-day. Mr. Justice Stephen sat at a third Jury Court at Darlinghurst, and tried the case of Sanguineti v. the Bank of Australasia, in which the plaintiff sought to recover £500 damages on account of the bank having wrongfully dishonoured a cheque. The jury returned a verdict for £50.

A POINT of some interest to the legal profession was decided by the Full Court on Friday last. Mr. E. P. Field applied, on behalf of Mr. S. P. Kemp, for a rule to admit him to final examination in law nine months before the expiration of his articles. Their Honors went fully into the matter, and in giving their decision against Mr. Field, stated that it was given, not against the policy of the concession sought, but in accordance with the usual practice of the Court. Their Honors were unanimous in their expression of opinion that admission to final examination before the expiration of articles of clerkship would materially induce to raising the standard of legal proficiency, and intimated that, if moved by the proper authorities, they would endeavour to alter the rules to meet that view of the case.

SOLICITORS, under a rule of Court, are obliged to register their offices with the Prothonotary, and we are informed that that official has now opened a book for the purpose of registering the names and business addresses of certificated conveyancers, with a view to their being inserted in the Law Almanack for 1888.

THE Marine Board members returned to Sydney on Saturday morning from their annual tour of inspection. They left Sydney on Wednesday, the 26th ultimo, in the s.s. Electra, and steamed south as far as Green Cape, and then proceeded to the northern limit of the coast line, Point Danger. Owing to the very favourable weather, the trip was one of the most successful the board ever made, since they were able to visit all the places of importance they wished to. At many of the points where lighthouses are placed, and at Montagu and Solitary islands fair weather is essential to landing; but with the exception that a few of the smaller bar harbours could not be entered, on account of the state of the tide, no difficulties were experienced. Great satisfaction was expressed with the state of the lighthouses and pilot stations, all of which, with one exception, were in excellent order. Point Stevens lighthouse was the only one that showed any signs of carelessness or neglect, and the Seal Rocks lighthouse may perhaps be placed first on the list. The lighthouse-keepers and their families appeared in the best of health. The trip was very satisfactory, from the business point of view, as showing that our coast is well lighted, and that the lights are well cared for, and as a pleasant outing for the Marine Board members and their friends. The members of the Marine Board who were present were Captain Hixson, president; Captains Jenkins, Moodie, M'Lean, wardens; Commander Lindeman, secretary.

IN the metropolitan district there was a very decided change in the weather yesterday. The day broke fine, and the sun shone out brilliantly until about 9.30 a.m., when a strong wind set in from the southward, and soon brought up dark masses of heavy-looking clouds, and materially reduced the temperature. Showers came with the wind squalls, but the rain was not heavy during the day; it was, however, heavier at night. Generally fine weather was reported in the country districts at 9 a.m., but it was showery in the South coast districts. The winds were generally light to fresh from S.W. to S.E. inland, but strong southerlies were blowing along the coast.

IT was announced that Sir Henry Parkes would deliver the second of his series of lectures on Great National Subjects, at the Old Masonic Hall last night, but as there were only about 30 people present at the hour fixed for commencing the proceedings, the lecture was postponed. The Mayor, who occupied the chair, was accompanied on the platform by Mr. Justice Stephen, Hon. John Sutherland, Rev. M. Archdall, Messrs. F. Smith, M.L.A., W. A. Hutchinson, John Davies, and Captain Trouton. Mr. Riley said that, owing to the inclemency of the weather, and to various other causes, one of which was probably a misunderstanding as to whether the lecture should take place that night or not, the audience, he thought, was not sufficiently numerous to ask Sir Henry Parkes, who was present, to lecture. The committee thought that in doing this they would be only consulting the desire of the audience, and Sir Henry Parkes's convenience. The Mayor further announced that the money would be returned at the doors, or the tickets made available for a future date, and the audience then left the hall.

WE are glad to learn that the health of Lady Parkes was slightly better yesterday evening than it was a day or two ago.

A HANDSOME casket, made by Messrs. Flavelle Brothers and Roberts, of George street, to hold the united addresses of the Australian hierarchy and of the Catholic children of Australia, is to be shortly presented to the Pope of Rome as a jubilee offering, in honour of the completion of his fiftieth year of active work as a priest. The casket, which has been designed by Messrs. Barlow and Roskell, the architects, is made entirely of colonial woods—myall, tulip, blackwood, and rosewood—and is 18in. by 8in., and some 10in. high. The shape of the casket is that of a flattened pyramid, and each of its four corners is supported by silver columns, with gold caps, bases, and bands. The sides are panelled and decorated with burnished silver arabesque designs; the centre panel bears the Papal arms, and other panels exhibit golden shields on which are embossed the emu and the kangaroo. The interior of the box is quite plain and padded with sky-blue silk, and the lid does not fasten down, but merely rests upon the top. A silver tablet bears the inscription—"To Pope Leo XIII, Jubilee offering of Australia, 1837-1887." The design as a whole leaves an impression of classic elegance, and the workmanship is of the most finished character, so that the Holy Father will have every reason to be pleased with the gift. It was on view the greater part of Saturday and Monday, and attracted a great amount of attention from the public.

IN response to an invitation from Senior-sergeant Dalton, of the Governor's escort, one of the old Cavalry Light Brigade, a few survivors of those who were on the field at the various engagements of '54 met on Saturday evening at O'Neill's Assembly Hotel, Hunter-street, for the purpose of commemorating the anniversary of the Battle of Inkermann. Sergeant Dalton, having quite recovered from recent illness, after the usual loyal toasts had been received, made a few remarks relative to the difference of their position now and that on the 5th November 33 years ago. On that day 40,000 Russians attacked the British camp before daybreak. The British, however, held their own with 8000 men, and fought for eight hours against such fearful odds, and ultimately defeated the Muscovite hordes. The speaker believed that our rising generation of English-speaking races would be able to render a similar account of themselves when called upon. It was regretted by many of the veterans present that some of their officers resident in Sydney did not make some attempt to commemorate the events of the Crimean campaign, as had been done in England. With regard to our colonial forces, which many people were apt to run down, Sergeant Dalton reminded those present how the New Zealand colonists held their own, and ultimately conquered the brave and intelligent Maori warriors, and this after the withdrawal of the Imperial troops. He spoke, also, of the cavalry of this colony, now about to be increased to 1000 men at the instance of his Excellency Lord Carrington, and added that as an old cavalry-man he thought it, a step in the right direction, considering the tastes and capabilities of Australians. Several appropriate songs were sung during the evening by the veterans, who wore their medals and clasps, and, having thanked their host, they expressed the hope of meeting again in larger numbers at the next Crimean anniversary. The meeting broke up at about 11 p.m.

A MEETING of the council of the Agricultural Society of New South Wales was held at the rooms, Tattersall's-buildings, yesterday. There were present Messrs. W. W. Richardson (in the chair), G. S. Yeo, J. R. Hill, G. N. Griffiths, J. P. Dowling, J. M. Perrier, and Mr. L. E. Isaacs, representative of the Carcoar Agricultural and Pastoral Society. Sub-committees were appointed to revise the prize schedule for the Centennial Exhibition, and to take charge of the advertising department. Letters were read from various kindred societies in New South Wales, offering their services to assist in making the show a success. It was resolved that a circular be sent to the newspapers, the mayors, and the police magistrates throughout Australasia, inviting their co-operation in the movement. It is arranged that the Centennial special prizes will be open only to Australasian exhibits, but the ordinary schedule will embrace both colonial and imported exhibits as usual, and it is proposed to double the whole of the money prizes in the regular schedule. It was resolved to ask the Minister for Mines to contribute the mineralogical collection now at the Adelaide Exhibition. Prizes are to be offered for the best design for the Centennial certificate of award; first prize £10, second prize £5. A letter was received from Mr. Walter Bradley, resigning his seat in the council. The resignation was received with much regret. It was arranged that the working dairy sub-committee shall meet at Moore Park at 9.15 a.m. on Thursday next. This concluded the business.

THE first prize meeting of the Artillery Association of New South Wales will take place on the 3rd, 10th, and 17th of next month, at Middle Head. In the advertisement appearing in our issue yesterday a mistake occurs in the dates, which are as above given. The association has been formed to encourage proficiency in artillery exercise among the artillery forces of the colony. The programme, copies of which have been issued to all officers commanding batteries, comprises matches with 10in. 18-ton M. L. R. guns, 80pr. M. L. R. guns, 40pr. B. L. R. guns, 16pr. M. L. R. guns, and a repository competition. Already increased activity in drill is shown by several of the batteries.

THE Australian Co-operative Fruit Exporting, Preserving, and Cool Storing Company, Limited, at a meeting yesterday elected directors, and may now be said to have begun business in a sphere in which it is admitted there is scope for well-directed enterprise. Cool chambers have been erected and work entered on in the belief that the company will be a success.

THE Mayoress's fête in aid of the Queen's Fund for distressed women promises to be a great success. It is to be held in the Exhibition Building, Prince Alfred Park, and will continue open for two days, beginning to-morrow, when Lady Carrington will perform the opening ceremony, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

THE annual meeting of the New South Wales Congregational Sunday School Union was held in the Pitt-street Church last evening, the chair being occupied by the president of the union, the Rev. Dr. Jefferis. There was a good attendance. The report and financial statement were read, and interesting addresses were delivered by the Rev. J. Robertson, M.A., and the Rev. Dr. R. W. Dale. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. W. I. B. Mote, rendered several anthems during the evening, Mr. H. C. Kent presiding at the organ. A report appears elsewhere.

THE committee of the Lithgow Colliery Disaster Fund met yesterday. The Hon. J. F. Burns occupied the chair. Sundry letters were considered. The hon. treasurer (Mr. F. Abigail) was authorised to draw a cheque for £100 to be handed to Mrs. W. Bennett; this payment to be accepted, as per her letter, in full, consequent on her re-marriage. The committee decided to continue payments to her for the children by her first marriage. The hon. secretary (Mr. Edward J. H. Knapp) was instructed to have two rooms added to Mrs. Rowe's cottage. In answer to a letter received from two of the widows, £5 each for four of them was voted, to be paid next month, in addition to the regular allowance.

A MEETING of the Ashfield branch of the Queen's Fund for the relief of destitute women was held in the local council-chambers on Friday afternoon. The Mayor, Mr. Mortley, occupied the chair. Several ladies were present. After the minutes of last meeting were confirmed the sum of £15 2s. 6d. was handed in as having been collected during the month, also a considerable sum from the sale of tickets for the concert lately given in aid of the fund. It was reported that there was now a total amount of £152 in the bank to the credit of that branch of the fund. The committee then adjourned, and intend to hold a final meeting on the first Friday in December.

THE annual meeting in connection with the anniversary of the Woolloomooloo Presbyterian Church was held on the 2nd instant. The tea meeting, which was largely attended, took place in the school-hall at 6.30 p.m. An adjournment was made to the church at 8 o'clock. At this meeting, which was opened with prayer by Rev. A. Gardiner, Rev. J. F. Henderson presided. Interesting and instructive addresses were delivered by Revs. Principal Kinross, Dr. Gilchrist, H. Macready, H. Hutchison, A. A. Aspinall, and H. Mack. Several anthems and solos were rendered by the choir and other friends, including Mrs. Innes and Mr. Edwards. Mr. J. P. S. Willson presided at the organ. Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the speakers and singers, on the motion of Mr. M'Laughlin, seconded by Mr. Lamond.

AT a meeting of the Golden Chain Lodge, I. O. G. T., held in the Congregational School-hall, Railway-street, Petersham, on Friday last, the following officers were duly elected and installed:—W.C.T., J. R. B. Campbell; W.V.T., W. Hoddle; W. Sec., H. A. Morgan; W.F.S., F. Lipscombe; W.T., F. Kirkpatrick; W. Chap., Sister Robinson; W.M., Bro. Gill; W.D.M., Sister Gill; W.G., E. E. Pidcock; W.A.S., Sister Best; Bro. Wm. Baker, W.L.D. acted as installing officer. Very satisfactory reports were received from secretary and treasurer for past quarter.

THE quarterly meeting of the Star of the East Lodge, No. 356, I. O. G. T., was held on Friday evening last, when the election of officers was proceeded with, and resulted as follows:—Bro. F. Spurway, W.C.T.; Bro. J. Flack, W.V.T.; Bro. G. Hughes, W.S.; Bro. J. Marshall, W.T.; Bro. N. Cox, W.F.S.; Sis. A. Hughes, W.C.; Bro. A. Sellors, W.M.; Bro. W. Bevan, W.G.; Bro. W. Khein, W. Sent.; Bro. G. Hughes, W.A.S.; Bro. H. Johnston, P.W.C.T.

A MEETING of the board of management of the New South Wales Typographical Association was held in the rooms, 119, King-street, on Saturday evening last. Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald (president) occupied the chair. A request was made by two members that the board should remit a fine of £5 imposed on a member, but the board suggested that the usual deposit of 10s. should be made for an appeal at a special general meeting. An expelled member was readmitted conditionally on the payment of £10 and arrears of subscriptions. The revision of rules was then proceeded with.

THE Rev. E. D. Madgwick, who has been appointed to the incumbency of St. Michael's, Surry Hills, on account of the resignation of Canon King, conducted services at St. Thomas's, Balmain, on Sunday, for the last time. The rev. gentleman preached in the morning from Luke xxii. 15, to a very large congregation, and a noticeable feature was the celebration of holy communion, when 123 persons received the elements of that sacred rite for the last time from the retiring incumbent. A deep solemnity pervaded the whole service on account of the unusual circumstances of the occasion. The church was crowded in every part when the evening service was held, and the sermon was preached from Philippians iv. 7. It being felt that it was the preacher's last benediction as the incumbent of St. Thomas's, the congregation was visibly affected. The retirement of Mr. Madgwick from his late parish will be felt by all classes of the community, he having always taken an active interest in all matters concerning the people. His place cannot easily be filled, and in a wider city charge he is sure to be an acquisition to the ranks of workers. His induction to the incumbency of St. Michael's will take place on Thursday evening, when he will at once enter upon his duties.

A CORRESPONDENT takes exception to a remark in yesterday's issue to the effect that a slight loss unduly magnified had created a panic in recent years in the case of the Savings Bank of New South Wales. What was referred to was the run on the bank for two or three days when the Oriental Bank failed.

MR. T. C. J. Foster appeared at the Darlinghurst Quarter Sessions yesterday to prosecute on behalf of the Crown, in place of Mr. Healy, who is understood to have sent in his resignation as Crown Prosecutor.

AT the Darlinghurst Quarter Sessions yesterday, before Judge Dowling, the two men, John Kelly and Alfred Marsh, convicted on Saturday of an unnatural offence, were brought up for sentence. Kelly, the younger man, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude, and 24 lashes; and Marsh was sentenced to four years' imprisonment, with 12 lashes; the flogging in each case to take place on Monday next. John Wright was found guilty of bigamy, and remanded for sentence. John Fitzgerald, charged with stealing two loads of asphalt, was acquitted. Sylvin Pinaud, a Frenchman, found guilty of stealing a quantity of articles from the Grand Hotel, Wynyard-square, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment in Darlinghurst Gaol. Thomas Wilkie and John M'Farlane were found guilty of breaking and entering, and were remanded for sentence.

AT about 9.30 p.m. on Sunday a man named Richard Treffrey, 28 years of age, was found dead on his bed at No. 81, Dargiuan-street, Glebe. The discovery was made by a fellow-boarder, who at once had medical aid procured. On Dr. Munro's arrival he pronounced life extinct. The deceased, who was a single man, had not complained of illness during the day. An inquest on the body will be held this morning.

BETWEEN 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. yesterday a melancholy boating accident happened near Greenwich, on the Parramatta River, a man named Sydney Stubbs being drowned. It appears that at about the time mentioned Stubbs and a friend named Campbell were rowing in a waterman's boat, and that on Stubbs standing up, the tiny craft capsized, and turned its occupants into the water. Campbell managed to swim part of the way to the shore, and he was then rescued by some fishermen. Stubbs, however, was not so fortunate, for he soon disappeared beneath the surface. The body was recovered shortly afterwards and was taken to the morgue at the Circular Quay to await an inquest. The deceased was a single man, 30 years of age.

YESTERDAY afternoon a horse attached to cab No. 1063, and driven by a man named George Sinclair, took fright at a tram at the intersection of King and Elizabeth streets. The animal bolted down the first-named thoroughfare for a considerable distance and the cab then came in contact with an omnibus. Immediately after the collision, Sinclair endeavoured to secure his horse by the head, but his foot being caught in one of the wheels of his vehicle, he suffered a painful injury. The axle and one of the wheels of the cab were broken. The driver had his wound dressed at the Sydney Hospital.

AT about 2 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in an unoccupied private dwelling in Silver-street, Marrickville. The Metropolitan Fire Brigade promptly turned out in answer to an alarm sent by telephone from the local council-chambers. The firemen succeeded in partly saving the building, which was constructed of brick, with iron roof, with six rooms and washhouse, but, nevertheless, the structure was severely damaged and the roof destroyed. The premises are owned by Mr. S. Tinman, and are insured. The origin of the fire is unknown.

THE following is the order of musical service at St. Andrew's Cathedral this afternoon, at 4.30:—Magnificat (Stainer), in E flat; Nunc dimittis (Stainer), in E flat; Anthem, "Thou Lord our Refuge" (Mendelssohn's).

TO-MORROW the members of the Young Men's Christian Association hold their annual excursion to Pearl Bay, and among the numerous attractions which is offered is a display by members of the gymnasium, under Mr. G. W. Renshaw. The steamers Port Jackson and Admiral will leave the jetty at foot of Phillip-street, at frequent intervals during the day. Hot and cold water will be supplied free on the ground.

THE PEACE OF EUROPE.

AUSTRIA AND RUSSIA.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Nov. 6.

It is reported that Count Kalnoky, the Austro-Hungarian Minister for Foreign Affairs, is endeavouring to bring the relations between Austria and Russia on such a footing as will afford greater quietude to both nations, almost on the fundamental conditions of a trustworthy European peace.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

VIENNA, Nov. 5.

In addressing the Hungarian Delegations to-day, Count Kalnoky expressed a hope that foreign interference in Bulgaria had been finally averted by the alliance of Austria, Germany, and Italy, while the identity of England's aims with those of the allies would contribute in a great measure to the maintenance of peace. These Powers, Count Kalnoky continued, would endeavour to induce Russia to join in the efforts of the central European powers to preserve peace to a greater extent than had hitherto been the case.

THE FRENCH WAR OFFICE SCANDALS.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Nov. 6.

In the French Chamber of Deputies yesterday, M. Rouvier, the Premier, denied that there was any foundation for the scandals levelled against President Grevy, through his son-in-law, M. Wilson, in connection with the French War Office. He declared that a Parliamentary inquiry into the use of stamps was not required.

A scene of great uproar followed. Ultimately, by a majority of seven, it was decided to institute a general inquiry into the proceedings of the War Office for the last decade, and, by a large majority, the commission appointed to make the inquiry was endowed with extensive powers.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PARIS, Nov. 5.

The Chamber of Deputies to-day resolved, by a large majority, that the inquiry into the War Office scandals should extend back for the past 10 years. The Government opposed the motion, but the subject was not made a Cabinet question.

INTERCOLONIAL NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The outbreak of measles has necessitated the closing of a considerable number of schools in the districts most affected. There are now about ten schools closed in the suburbs of Melbourne. Measles have broken out at Yarrawonga, and three fatal cases are reported to the Central Board of Health. The practice of closing the schools greatly interferes with the work of education, and therefore in future State Schools will only be closed where the buildings require thorough cleaning, where the children of the master residing on the premises are affected, or where the disease is of a virulent or malignant character.

The heavy rains have necessitated the closing of several country schools during the past few days.

To-day the Governor, accompanied by Lord Dalrymple, the Marquis of Drogheda, Rear-Admiral Fairfax, and the officers commanding the naval and military forces, visited the Heads to inspect the fortifications there. The party left by the steamer Lady Loch. Two submarine mines were exploded off Swan Island. The party disembarked at Queenscliff, returning thence by train to Melbourne.

A suicide was committed at the Garden Gully Mine, Sandhurst, on Sunday. A man whose name is unknown jumped down the shaft. He fell a distance of 450 feet, and was stopped by a cage in the shaft. His mutilated remains were found this morning when the men resumed work. No one witnessed the act, but the man had evidently removed the slabs from the mouth of the shaft before leaping down.

Dr. Moore, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Ballarat is about to proceed to Rome on a visit to the Pope. He takes 1000 sovereigns minted from Ballarat gold as a contribution to Peter's pence from the diocese. Dr. Moore also takes some handsome and valuable specimens of gold-bearing quartz for the museum at the Vatican.

In response to the Premier's request for more definite information concerning the convention between England and France in respect to the New Hebrides, Sir Graham Berry has sent the following message:—"In reference to the convention regarding the New Hebrides, her Majesty's Government consents to abrogate the legal document of 1847 relative to the Leeward Islands, off Tahiti, as soon as the other provisions of the convention be carried out. The assurances relative to commerce and convicts contained in the French note dated 24th October, 1885, will remain in force."

During the past week the Customs authorities have obtained an American shipment of Biblical Crudenses, which are word for word copies of Dr. R. Young's Analytical Crudens, which is protected by copyright. The consignee has written to the Department stating that he was unaware the works were a violation of the copyright statute, and has asked permission to return them to America.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Monday.

It is understood the Premier will make a statement in the Assembly as to the intentions of the Government with reference to the motions relating to the Thane's Creek, South Brisbane, and Croydon railways.

Mr. Chas. C. Carter, officer in charge of the Pastoral Occupation Branch of the Department of Public Lands, is retiring from that position in consequence of ill-health. He has been 26 years in the service.

TASMANIA.

HOBART, Monday.

To-day's bulletin states that news from Evandale is to the effect that Mary Lewis is much worse, and there is hardly any hope of her recovery. The other patients in quarantine are doing well. No fresh cases are reported. An influential meeting was held in Launceston to-night, at which resolutions were passed strongly urging that a permanent quarantine station be formed there, so that any outbreak might be properly dealt with at once, and the recent dangers and inconveniences be avoided.

The weather last night and to-day was stormy, with heavy rain. The season is very favourable for agriculture.

NORTHERN TERRITORY.

PORT DARWIN, Monday.

The Board of Health are still busily engaged in condemning the Chinese huts as being unfit for habitation, and are prosecuting the owners for not complying with the orders for the abatement of the nuisance.

During October 52 Europeans arrived and left, while 68 Chinese arrived and 147 left.

The escort brought down 387oz. of gold.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

ALBURY, Monday.

Owing to the exceptionally heavy rainfall, the Murray has been steadily rising since Friday last, and is now 13ft. 6in. over summer level. This is within 2in. of the greatest height attained during the August flood. All the tributaries of the Murray have also enormously swollen. The roads in several directions on the Victorian side of the river are quite impassable, all communication with the Mitta Mitta district being entirely cut off. A large sale of cattle to-day by Albury auctioneers, at Tallangatta, had to be postponed, and mail communication is temporarily stopped. It is anticipated that the high temperature prevailing during the late rains will bring down the snow from the mountains, and, in such case, an exceptionally high flood is probable in a few days more. The weather now, however, is fine.

BOURKE, Monday.

The following is the rain and rivers report:—Louth, 40 points of rain; Darling, 5ft. 6in., falling; Wilcannia, 76 points, 11ft. 8in., falling; Bourke, 76 points, 5ft. 2in., falling; Brewarrina, 50 points, 2ft. 9in., stationary; Goodooga, 42 points, low; Walgett, 75 points, low; Mogil, 29 points. The total fall here for 10 months, ending 31st October, was 19 inches 22 points. Rain fell on 45 days, the heaviest months being January, 3 inches 22 points; March, 7 inches; July, 3 inches 43 points. So far, it has been an exceptionally good season.

CAMDEN, Monday.

Great interest is being taken in the sale of the Brownlow Hill Estate farms, to come off on Friday.

The butter factory is almost completed. The directors are to be elected on Saturday week.

Slight rain fell to-day. The weather at present is unsettled.

COWRA, Monday.

The residents of Cowra are much pleased at the distinguished position acquired by Master John Walker Stevenson in the recent University examination. This youth was born here, and his home is Cowra. Mr. Rickard, his teacher, at Young, was previously teacher of the Cowra school. In addition to passing high in every subject and taking three silver medals for algebra, English history, and geology, he has been awarded the J. B. Watt exhibition prize, and has been honoured by a most flattering letter from the Registrar of the Sydney University. It is expected he will be awarded the £100 to be presented by Anthony Hordern, of Sydney, to the pupil making the best pass from the Public schools of the colony.

The recent rains have greatly benefited the crops. The grass throughout the district is most luxuriant.

DUBBO, Monday.

Last Friday the Crown lands agent sold 2038 acres of Crown lands, realising £2547 10s.

The Farmers' Union held a meeting last week, the president (Mr. R. Berteaux) being in the chair. The Land Bill was considered. It was decided to protest against extended residence as provided in the 168th clause. It was also decided to support the extension of the privilege in clause 69 to 15 years.

GOULBURN, Monday.

Mr. W. Conolly, a resident of Goulburn of about 40 years' standing, died at Manly Beach on Sunday. For some years he was returning-officer for Argyle, and at one time contested that constituency. He was widely known and universally respected.

GRAFTON, Monday.

The Colonial Sugar Company's mills are expected to finish crushing in about four or five weeks.

Mr. Smith of the Railway Department, who has been collecting information here in reference to the probable traffic on the North Coast Line, starts southward tomorrow.

KIANDRA, Monday.

Thunderstorms have been of daily occurrence for the last eight days, accompanied by more or less rain of a light description. It is cloudy and cold to-day, with showers of rain.

LISMORE, Monday.

Lieutenant Smith, now travelling through the district, collecting for the Melbourne Centennial Exhibition, left for the Tweed River on Saturday. It is expected that his efforts will be liberally responded to.

The weather during the past week has been hot, the thermometer having registered 95deg. A light thunderstorm from south-west passed over this morning.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

The funeral of Dr. Richard Harris, at Sandgate Cemetery, was largely attended. The funeral service was conducted by the Revs. A. Gordon and W. Bain, Presbyterian ministers.

A miner in the Burwood Colliery, named John Wilson, has been killed by a fall of coal.

The Parkes' reception committee met this afternoon in the Council Chambers, the Mayor of Newcastle being in the chair. It was resolved to entertain the Premier at a banquet in the Lyceum, on Monday next, at 7 o'clock. The municipal deputations will meet him on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

NUNDLE, Monday.

A sad fatality happened to a lad named Welsh on Saturday. He had climbed a tree some 40ft., in quest of a bear, and the limb he was on snapped suddenly and he fell to the ground, breaking his neck. A magisterial inquiry was held the same evening, and a verdict of accidental death returned.

QUEANBEYAN, Monday.

A heavy storm passed over the town on Saturday evening, and 150 points of rain fell. Monaro and Crawford streets were flooded, and some houses had a foot of water in them. It has been showery all to-day.

SINGLETON, Monday.

We had heavy rain on Saturday night and a little on Sunday morning; 125 points fell. The weather was beautiful and clear this morning.

WILCANNIA, Monday.

The steamer Hero arrived from down stream. The South Australian left Menindie for Wilcannia. The Undaunted left for Wentworth. The Gem left Wentworth for Morgan. The Cato arrived from the Darling.

The river is falling very fast. The reports are:—Brewarrina, 2ft. 9in.; Bourke, 5ft. 2in.; Louth, 5ft. 6in.; Tilpa, 8ft. 9in.; Wilcannia, 11ft. 8in.; Menindie, 25ft. 2in.; Pooncarie, 22ft. 4in.; Wentworth, 21ft. 8in.; Echuca, 16ft. 4in.

The weather is now fine and cool.

At the municipal council, to-night, by unanimous vote, it was decided to telegraph to Mr. Abbott, asking him to press for an alteration of the name of this electorate from Mitchell to Wilcannia. Mr. Abbott's proposed alteration is generally disapproved, as the present name is known, while that proposed would not be sufficiently definite.

WINDSOR, Monday.

Yesterday forenoon Bishop Barry preached in the Church of England here, and in the afternoon addressed about 400 people in Windsor Park. In the evening, at Richmond, he administered the rite of Confirmation to 49 candidates, including 10 from Windsor.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

INVERELL, Monday.

A meeting convened by the Mayor, to consider the Local Government Bill, was held on Saturday evening in the Town Hall. Mr. G. A. Cruickshank, J.P., went through the bill in an exhaustive speech, its tenor being that he objected strongly to the bill. The principal objections were that the whole of the revenue of the district would go to Sydney as heretofore, and none of it would be returned without the residents imposing extra taxation on themselves, and that the Government could appoint officers under certain circumstances to interfere in local matters, and report, &c., at the expense of the district. He proved by figures that it would be impossible for many farmers and landholders to pay the taxes and live clear of debt. His remarks were loudly applauded throughout. He then moved that a committee, consisting of gentlemen named, be appointed to report on the bill to a future meeting, in order that the public might properly consider the matter. Mr. T. K. B. Mayne seconded the resolution in a forcible speech. The resolution was carried unanimously, amidst applause. Alderman Stout proposed,—"That the member for the district be telegraphed to, requesting him to oppose the measure until after a future public meeting, to be held shortly." This resolution was seconded by Alderman Fawley and carried unanimously. The committee arranged to meet on Friday next.

ALLEGED WHOLESALE HORSE AND CATTLE STEALING.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

CASINO, Monday.

At the police court on Saturday the Stapleton brothers and Kinniffe were committed for trial on four charges of cattle-stealing, and Thomas Stapleton was further committed on a fifth charge. To-day Thomas Stapleton and Kinniffe were also committed on a charge of horse-stealing. Mr. Allingham applied for bail for the prisoners, which the Bench declined to grant. While the prisoners were being removed to gaol this morning, Thomas Stapleton dropped a letter for his mother, Catherine Stapleton, who was at once arrested, and upon search the letter was taken from her. She was brought up before the Bench, and discharged with a caution, on the application of Inspector Casey, who admitted that allowance should be made for the woman's feelings at seeing her sons and relations in such dire trouble. The nature of the letter has not transpired.

TRADES MOVEMENTS.

A special meeting of the Progressive Society of Carpenters and Joiners was held last night, under the presidency of Mr. J. F. Stribley, for the purpose of considering the following notice of motion by Mr. Symons, of the Trades and Labour Council, viz.:—"That this society contribute the sum of five pounds (£5) towards the fund now being raised to prosecute the claims of the Bulli widows, under the provision of the Employers Liability Act." Mr. Symons explained the object of the motion fully, and he pointed out that the services of Messrs. Slattery and Heydon, solicitors, had been retained in connection with a proposed appeal to the Supreme Court. A barrister and a junior counsel would also be required, and it was estimated that the total cost would amount to about £300. Mr Edwards opposed the proposition. He maintained that not a jury could be found in the colony, outside of members of the Trades and Labour Council and the Federated Seamen's Union, who would give a verdict in favour of the widows, under existing circumstances. He was averse to granting any money towards assisting them to go to law, and he denied that the Bulli Company had acted in a coercive manner. Mr. W. Wilson cautioned members to be extremely careful as to the manner in which they acted. The motion was but the outcome of a deep-laid scheme on the part of a few "blowhards" in the Trades and Labour Council, who sought to acquire a little cheap popularity at the cost of their fellow-workingmen. Not only that, but, in his opinion, there were several outside, "blatherskites," who were making capital out of the agitation. Mr. M'Ewing contended that the Trades and Labour Council as a body were studying their own interests, and were simply log-rolling for personal ends, in conjunction with a few stump-orating members of Parliament and self-seekers. He trusted that for the future the council would leave the Carpenters' Society alone, as their services were not wanted; and he also hoped that no further communication would be received from them. Mr. George Rigg believed that the whole movement arose through the action of a person whom he would not name, but who was well-known as the "Newtown Windbag." It would be far better to give that man £5 to shut his mouth. Mr. Symons, in replying, explained that the Trades and Labour Council were taking the matter up in the interests of trades organisations generally, whether affiliated or otherwise. The so-called "windbags" had nothing whatever to do with the distribution of the fund, and they merely sought to see that it was equitably disposed of. He stoutly defended the members of the Trades and Labour Council, who had acted disinterestedly throughout; and, in conclusion, he warned the members present that a refusal on their part to subscribe would prove to be but another nail in the coffin of their society's success. Several speakers expressed their independence, amid cries of "No threats," and the motion on being put, was negatived almost unanimously; only one hand being held up in its favour. At the same meeting it was resolved that the chairman should attend as a delegate at a public meeting which is to be held in support of the Eight-hour' Legalising Bill, which is now before Parliament.

The saddlers and harness makers met at the Protestant Hall, Mr. Cronon presiding. One new member was admitted. A deputation from the Silk Hatters submitted a written statement in connection with their unsettled dispute, and added to the explanations verbally. It was resolved unanimously to strike a levy of 6d. per financial member, at the ensuing fortnightly meeting, as a contribution towards the hatters.

The Plasterers also met—Mr. Mildwater presiding. In response to a circular which had been received from the Federated Building Trades Council, requesting the attendance of a delegate at a public meeting in support of the Eight Hours Bill, Mr. E. Darnley was nominated to attend the said gathering. The particular clause of the bill which it is sought to enact runs as follows:—"Unless there shall be an agreement in writing to the contrary, eight hours labour during any day, whether consecutively or otherwise, shall be considered a legal day's labour, and 48 such hours shall be considered a week's work in any action at law, suit in equity, or any matter or proceeding, civil or criminal, in any Court of Justice in New South Wales."

At a meeting of the Tailors' Society, which took place at Murphy's Albion Hotel, Mr. Armstrong presided. The beforementioned deputation from the Silk Hatters interviewed the members by arrangement, and were cordially welcomed. It was pointed out, however, that under a standing rule no sum of £5, or upwards, could be voted without the calling of a special meeting; and it was notified that a meeting would be duly convened in connection with the subject of the dispute.

AMUSEMENTS.

MISS AMY SHERWIN.

We understand that Miss Amy Sherwin will shortly return to Sydney, and will give two farewell concerts during the third week of the present month. As some of our readers may possibly have heard, it was under contemplation that Miss Sherwin should appear in opera, and that endeavour had been made by cablegram to engage artists in England and America to form an efficient troupe. We learn, however, that the scheme has fallen through, and have received information that the concerts mentioned will really constitute Miss Sherwin's final appearance in Sydney.

Madame Madelina Schiller, the celebrated pianiste, will be entertained this evening at a "social" gathering organised by members of the Orpheus Club. The society which thus does honour to one to whom honour is so eminently due, is composed entirely of professional musicians, and being the only society in Australia thus constituted, takes, by virtue of the fact, precedence of all colonial musical organisations. It is therefore the representative musical society of New South Wales, and it is also the only one which has recognised Madame Schiller's rightful claims to professional engagement, for it will be remembered that special arrangements were made resulting in her appearance at their concert last week—the first public conversazione of the club. Doubtless Madame Schiller will appreciate the attention thus paid to her, and the Orpheus Club will certainly gain new honour by its action. A special notice to members appears in our advertising columns.

An amateur performance of "New Men and Old Acres" is to be given on Friday next, at the Gaiety Theatre, in aid of the National Shipwreck Relief Society of New South Wales. The names of the ladies and gentlemen who are to take part are to be found in another column. The performance is to take place in the presence of his Excellency the Governor and Lady Carrington.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather last evening the Alhambra Music Hall in the Haymarket was crowded in every part on the occasion of the production of a new programme. Almost every time such a change is made there is an entire re-setting and rearrangement of the stage, and in the grouping of the various performers. Last evening in the first part the male portion of the performers were so arranged as to present the appearance of a pyramid in the centre of the stage, while a number of ladies in gay coloured costumes formed a background in the air—that is to say, they each occupied a swing, the whole of which formed a semi-circle, so giving a very pleasing effect to the whole from the front. This part, consisting of songs, &c., was of the usual entertaining character; it was followed by a medley of songs and dances, and the whole was brought to a close with the amusing farce of "The Coopers." The same programme will be presented every evening this week.

Central Broken Hill Silver-mining Company.—Messrs. Watt and Dodds have received the following report from the mining manager, under date November 2:—No. 1 shaft: Cut down and timbered 20ft. during the past week; total depth complete, 120ft. Erection of machinery: The building of the boiler is completed, and I am now getting the roof placed on the boiler shed. The flue is also connected with the stack, and the masons are now engaged in building in the foundations for the engine and the pump crank. The contractor for the poppet heads is getting on well with his work, and no time will be lost in getting the plant in position and commencing to work below.

Terrible Dick Silver-mining Company, Silverton, October 31.—Making good progress with the cutting of cistern plat, and fixing pitwork for plunger lift, which I expect to have all ready for further sinking main shaft in about two weeks. Have sunk the main shaft a further depth of 4ft. for the cistern, which we are now fixing in position. We cut a large quartz leader in the bottom of the shaft, carrying iron, pyrites, and galena. It is evidently improving, and possibly it will make ore under the quartz when the lode gets more settled and deeper down. The crosscut is now in a distance of 71ft. from shaft. The strata of ground which we are now driving through is principally slate, intermixed with quartz leaders, and showing a little pyrites, which looks very promising for making mineral. I am of opinion that we shall cut mineral in the crosscut by the look of the ground which we are driving through. The rise at the 50ft. level is up 17ft. The lode is about 2ft. wide, principally composed of iron intermixed with galena ore. This rise I am putting up for the purpose of making a pass for filling up the stopes when we commence stoping out the ground in the lower levels. We are anxiously expecting the new engine and boiler, which we hear are on the way.

Alexandra Hill Gold-mining Company, October 29.—Since last report have driven No. 5 south level 11ft.: total, 135ft. There is a little stone in the end, but of poor quality. No. 5 north level carries a foot of stone, which looks pretty well. Driven 10ft.: total, 87ft. The stone in stopes over this level is from 1ft. to 2ft. in width, and some of it is of fair quality. Have baled the water out of shaft, and resumed sinking there. Winze from No. 4 south level is down 15ft., and carried 15in. of stone, from which excellent prospects can be obtained. Sunk back shaft 20ft.: total depth, 40ft. Expect to cut the reef at 70ft. Crushing was started on 18th ultimo. It is not looking well. There are 400 tons at the mill.

Victory Gold-mining Company, Limited. October 29.—Shaft sunk 8ft., total 56ft., from No. 8 levels. There are 18in. of stone on the hanging-wall, and 10in. on the footwall. I think the two veins will meet a few feet deeper. No 8 north level driven 7ft., total 181ft. The walls here are 12ft. apart, but the country is harder. There are 12in. of stone on the hanging-wall, and a small vein on footwall. In the stopes over this level the reef is from 1 to 3 ft., and of good quality. The lower reef continues about the same, viz., 9 to 18 in. in thickness. In the stopes above the south drive in this level the reef is from 6 to 15 in., and above No. 7 level from 12 to 20 in. in thickness. No. 6 south level driven 4ft., total 190ft. In the stopes above No. 6 north level the reef varies from 10 to 18 in., some of which is heavily charged with minerals. Raised for the fortnight, 156 tons; total at surface, 400 tons.

Sunny Corner Silver-mining Company, Limited.—The secretary reports that during the week ended 5th instant one Pacific and three reverberatories ran full time, reducing 96 tons gossan, 113 tons of roasted black mineral, 4 tons of roasted matt, 44 tons of raw tailings, and 34 tons of flue dust; total of 291 tons; product of which is now being sampled and assayed, and value will be reported next week. The estimated assay values for the weeks ending 22nd and 29th ultimo are: October 22, 483 tons, £614; 29th, 356 tons, £1145. Mine: Still driving through the black mineral of the middle block, for the purpose of opening it up to have more points to work from, to meet the requirements of the new furnaces in course of construction. Ore sent to the kilns for the week taken from the south shaft workings and from the middle block. Shed finished over Nos. 1, 2, and 3 reverberatories. Now erecting shoots at the latter, to save the handling of the roasted ore and tailings composing the charges. Fair progress has been made with the brickwork of the new reverberatory. The Pacific furnace still running on litharge, slag from the old Probert Dump, and a small quantity of gossan. This slag pays well to resmelt.

Adeline Gold-mining Company, Fairfield:—The very poor belt of ground passed through during the last three weeks is giving place to the regular lode again, carrying fair gold; yesterday and to-day it has widened out to nearly 3ft., and the prospects tried from it look first-rate. We have been passing through a regular break in the formation, which had to be taken away, and left us nothing worth while reporting. In the north workings I am pushing on the tram level, and here a great improvement has taken place. The lode is larger, containing very good gold. I am also stoping towards the surface, and I have reason to believe that this part is also on the mend. I am anxiously waiting return of stone sent to Park and Lacey, and Newbury, Naughton, and Co., as these samples represent the pyrites and copper stone which are under foot and untouched, and will be worked when we receive estimate of the worth.

AUCKLAND, Monday.

At a meeting of the shareholders of the Caledonian Gold-mining Company on Saturday, it was resolved to sell the mine to an English syndicate.

DUBBO, Monday.

The find of gold reported last week is 32 miles north of Dubbo. One dish gave 1dwt., but in most instances colour only was obtained.

PERTH, Monday.

Information has just been received from a private source concerning a remarkable discovery at the new gold reef at the Jackson's Reef, Kimberley. About 120ft. from the main shaft on Jackson's Reef, to the south, an upheaval, apparently of conglomerate, ironstone, and limestone, attracted attention. On a crosscut being made it disclosed the lode which has been developed to the extent of about 20ft. in thickness. Stone obtained from this lode exhibited similar characteristics to those found in other portions of the reef, and it is estimated that it will yield equally well. The new lode extends to within a short distance of South Jackson's Reef, the prospects of which are therefore much improved. It is expected that crushing plant will be in full operation on the claim by the first or second week in January.

SILVERTON, Monday.

At the North Pinnacles Silver Mine they have found in several places galena and carbonate on the surface of two large lodes, which promise to be a valuable discovery, as there are three distinct and very large surface outcrops. Assays are being made. At the Christmas Mine, owing to its being idle so long, a large body of water had accumulated in the workings, but it has now been pumped out. The present lode is a foot wide, carrying chlorides and native silver. It is intended to sink the main shaft 50ft. deeper. At the Day Dream the lode is 16in. thick of white carbonate iron, with both lode and country getting much easier to work. At the Southern Cross the crosscut has been driven a distance of 48ft. from the shaft. At Fitzpatrick's shaft, there is a nice lode showing in the end and under the foot. At Gibson's shaft, the lode shows 3ft. wide in the face composed of galena, carbonates, and grey ore. At the Wankaroo Proprietary tin-mine the central shaft has been sunk to a depth of 36ft. from the brace. The vertical shaft is now down about 42ft. There is a large lode in this shaft intermixed with shale, but showing no tin; but cutting north of this shaft there is a lode 3½ft. wide on the footwall, showing first-class tin. This lode appears dipping west. At the Mount Euriowie tin-mine the pump shaft is now 42ft. from the surface. They are getting well on with the bywash, and are putting out 50 loads a day. Work is at a standstill at present owing to the timber from Adelaide not having arrived. In the western face north, in the Wankaroo district, prospecting has been vigorously pushed forward lately, resulting in the owners striking a rich lode. They costeened the lode about 25 feet, and put two shoots in, and were rewarded for their perseverance by a splendid show of oxide tin freely showing through the matrix. The stone cropping up on the surface can be seen carrying tin in large beads. There is every prospect of this turning out a valuable property. The weather is very cold and bleak, and threatens more rain, which is much needed.

SHIPPING REPORTS, &c.

The steamer Eurimbla left Brisbane at 2.15 p.m. on the 5th instant, and arrived in port at 8.50 a.m. on the 7th. Experienced light northerly winds to Smoky Cape, and variable winds thence to arrival.

The three-masted schooner May Newton cleared at the Customs yesterday for Melbourne, via Manning River, in ballast, and was moved from Darling Harbour to an anchorage below Garden Island. She will probably sail to-day.

The steamer Wakatipu was lying alongside the Circular Quay yesterday, taking in Chinese goods, ex Sikh, for transhipment to New Zealand. The Wakatipu is to leave for Wellington and southern ports of New Zealand to-day.

The schooner Sovereign, hailing from Auckland, arrived in port yesterday afternoon, after a smart passage of a little over four days from Maryborough, Queensland. The Sovereign, like the Three Cheers, has the unmistakable appearance of an Auckland built craft, and seems a strong, well-finished vessel in every particular, the excellent order in which she is kept adding greatly to the general effect. Captain Robert Caitcheon, who is well known as an old intercolonial trader, has command, and reports clearing Wide Bay bar on the 2nd instant, and experienced fine weather and N.E. winds until the night of the 6th, when the wind fell away to calm. Yesterday morning, while the schooner was off Broken Bay, a strong southerly wind set in, and the little craft had to beat her way to port. She sailed in, and came to an anchor off Grant's Wharf, Milson's Point.

The barque Blengfell, of Liverpool, was spoken by the Cloncaird on August 23, in 12·44 N., and 27·14 W.; also the barque Aberlemno, from London, for Batavia, 47 days out, on September 7, in 12·29 S., and 34·7 W.

Messrs. Lorimer, Rome, and Co. have been advised that the China Navigation Company's steamer Tsinan left Hongkong for Sydney and Melbourne, via Singapore and Port Darwin. She arrived at Port Darwin yesterday.

The steamship Yeoman, of the British-Australian line, passed Gabo Island at 6.45 p.m. yesterday, bound from Fremantle to this port.

The barque Cloncaird, which has made several voyages to this port, arrived yesterday from Glasgow with a full cargo of general merchandise, after a voyage of 100 days. Captain William Murdoch is again in charge of the vessel, and reports that she left the docks on July 30 and had light winds down Channel. A departure was taken from Tuskar on August 3, and a moderate run was had thence to 22·25 N., where the N.E trades were picked up. They proved very indifferent, and gave out in 15·58 N., where they were succeeded by the usual doldrums. In 5·12 N. the S.E. trades set in strong and steady but well easterly, and the Equator being crossed on September 2, in 27·45 W., were kept to 17·58 S. Thence fresh S.W. and westerly winds, with the usual weather, were met with along to the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope, which was crossed on September 22 in 43·12 S. The Cloncaird made her easting on a mean parallel of about 43°, with principally moderate to strong westerly winds, at times increasing to gales and high seas. On October 7, when in 65·19 E. and 43· S., the Cloncaird was caught in the thick of a heavy gale from the westward, and for 18 hours she had to lay to. A tremendous sea accompanied the storm, and the decks were kept continually flooded. During the height of the gale the barque pooped a sea which stove in the cabin doors and flooded the cabin, destroying several charts and books; a large body of the water also found its way down into the lazarette, where a quantity of the stores were destroyed, and it is considered most likely that a portion of the cargo will also be found to be damaged. All hands had to be kept baling out for a considerable time before the water could be got rid of. The mizen stay and the jib stay were carried away in the same gale. In another struggle with the elements on October 27, when the wind blew very hard from S.E. round to the southward and S.W., accompanied with high cross sea, the vessel shipped a heavy sea, which smashed both sides of the starboard lifeboat, carried away part of the galley skylight, and started the topgallant rail from the fore part of the fore-rigging aft to the gangway. Several stanchions on the port side of the bulwarks were also started. This storm, which was encountered in 39·25 S. and 136· E., was followed by more moderate weather to Cape Otway, which was rounded on October 29, and the westerly breeze ran the Cloncaird through the Straits and up to Cape Howe, but there the wind came in light from the northward, with thick weather, and continued to port. The Cloncaird was towed in by the Glenelg, and anchored below Garden Island. She arrives in very good order. The vessel will to-day be moved to a discharging berth at Moore's Wharf.

To-day the Orient Company's R.M.S. Iberia is to be berthed at the company's wharf after the departure of the R.M.S. Austral.

The steamer Corinna crossed the Mersey bar at 2.15 a.m. on the 5th instant, and entered the Heads at 9.30 a.m. on the 7th. After having passed by the health officer, the Corinna came up to the company's jetty, Grafton Wharf. She experienced strong E.S.E. to N.E. winds, with high sea, and dull, thick, rainy weather to Mon ague Islands, and light variable winds and smooth sea, thence to port.

The barque Speedwell, from Kaipara, was yesterday moved from Neutral Bay to an anchorage in Pyrmont Bight.

The schooner Three Cheers, which arrived on Saturday, was yesterday moved from Johnston's Bay to a berth at the Auckland Timber Company's Wharf.

The iron barque Brunette, which had such a long and tempestuous passage from Dungeness to Melbourne with a cargo of sugar, arrived yesterday afternoon from the latter port with part freight of sugar for the Colonial Sugar Refining Company. She left Melbourne as far back as the 14th of last month, but owing to continued head winds it was not until the 26th that she cleared Port Phillip Heads. The winds were adverse almost from the time of leaving until yesterday morning, when the southerly came away and carried the barque to port. She was towed in by the Admiral, and berthed at Knox's Wharf, Johnston's Bay.

The steamship Angerton, loaded by Messrs. Dalgety and Co., Limited, cleared at the Customs yesterday for London, with 6339 bales wool, 611 bags cobalt ore, and 1294 ingots tin. She is to sail this morning.

The R.M.S. Alameda, hence to San Francisco, via ports, left Auckland at 6 p.m. yesterday for Honolulu.

A tug boat left the Bellinger River yesterday, at 12.30 p.m., for the Solitary Islands.

The steamer Gulf of Venice, hence to London, via ports, passed Gabo Island at 4.25 p.m. yesterday. She is due in Melbourne to-day.

The steamer Rockhampton arrived at Melbourne from Calcutta yesterday.

The iron-clipper Shandon, which arrived in port early yesterday morning, was granted pratique by Dr. Sibley soon after daylight, and towed from Watson's Bay to Neutral Bay. Some two and a half years have elapsed since the Shandon was last here; but Captain Mordaunt is still in charge of her, and brings her into port in a neat and trim condition. The Shandon left Sharpness on July 23, and experienced winds from S.W. to W.S.W. down Channel. The pilot was landed on the 25th, and a departure was taken from Lundy Island the same day, moderate weather prevailing from there till the N.E. trades were picked up in 28· N. and 21· W. These were moderate but steady to 15· N., where they gave out, and were followed by moderate and variable S.W. winds. Crossing the Equator on August 31 in 21· W., the Shandon had S.E. trades, moderate throughout, from 2· S. to 18 S., and moderate to strong N.N.W. to W.N.W. winds till the 19th September, when she encountered a heavy gale from the same quarter, but without any accident happening. The meridian of Greenwich was crossed on September 21 in 39 S., with strong winds from N.N.W. to N., which lasted till the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope was crossed, in 40 S., on September 26. The longitude was made between 40· and 43·, with a continuation of gales from N.W. to S.W., and high seas, which kept the decks constantly flooded almost all the way along. During one gale encountered on October 9 in 43· S. and 82· E. a heavy sea broke over the ship, which smashed the lifeboat and carried all moveables about the decks overboard, besides knocking the carpenter down and injuring him so severely that he was laid up for three weeks afterwards. Several other severe storms were encountered, but no damage was done. Tasmania was rounded on the 22nd October, and light to strong northerly winds were had from there to 39· S. and 153· E., reached on October 31, when a heavy S.W. gale, lasting 12 hours, was encountered. There was then a return to head winds, from N.N.E. to N.N.W., which continued until arrival. The Shandon is to be berthed at Dalton's Wharf to-day.

The steam-punt William and John, which sank on Sunday night alongside the Circular Quay, was still in the same position yesterday. She will probably be raised in a day or two.

The French steamship Dupleix, of the M.M. Company's line, which has been courteously given as flagship for the Balmain regatta, is to-day to be moved from the Circular Quay to the regatta moorings.

The departure of Messrs. W. Howard Smith and Sons' steamer for Brisbane and Northern ports has been postponed until to-morrow.

The C. and R. R. S. N. Company's steamer Electra is to leave the Harbour to-night for the Clarence River, her first trip with passengers and cargo in the coastal trade.

A meeting of the Marine Board was held yesterday, when the sinking of the schooner Ada and Ethel formed the subject of an inquiry. After hearing evidence, the board adjourned giving their decision in the case until Monday next.

The American barque H. G. Johnson returned here from Brisbane yesterday, having been taken up at this port by Messrs. Scott, Henderson, and Co. to load a cargo of wool. Sailing on Friday last at noon, she experienced light N.E. winds till Sunday night, and head winds after that till arrival. The vessel was towed in by the Geebung, and anchored below Garden Island.

The schooner Sea Bird, from Whangaroa, N.Z., with a freight of kauri timber, entered the Heads at 6.30 p.m. yesterday, and was towed by the steamer Warrung to an anchorage in Waterview Bay. Captain Beser reports that she sailed on the 23rd ultimo, and had light westerly and variable winds till the 26th, when the wind shifted to N.E. and freshened. On the 31st it backed to S.W., and, blowing fresh, veered from that quarter till arrival.

The New Zealand Herald of October 29 reports that at a sale of shipping and landed property, held by Messrs. B. Tonks and Co. on the previous day, there was a large attendance, but for landed property little or no bidding was obtainable while only one of the vessels offered was sold. This quietness was no doubt due—as the auctioneer remarked—to the information published yesterday respecting the Bank of New Zealand not paying a dividend this half-year. The first property offered was 32-64ths of the brigantine Stanley. The interest was started at £600, and slowly rose to £825, at which figure it was knocked down to Captain D. H. M'Kenzie. The whole of the barquentine Devonport was next offered, but at the bid of £1125, given by the liquidator, the vessel was passed in, as was also the 32-64ths of the barquentine Yolanda, the highest bid for her being £1100.

PRODUCE MARKET—Monday.

The sales at Darling Harbour terminus this morning were well attended by the trade. In forage buyers operated with more freedom than of late, prime descriptions still meeting with the greatest attention, and for these values ruled firm; other sorts unaltered. The demand for wood was weak. At the wharfs average arrivals were received from Northern Rivers, Southern ports and the neighbouring colonies. Business opened quietly. Onions receded in value, but other lines were unchanged. At Darling Harbour sales the following rates were realised:—

Wood.—Supplies coming forward more freely caused a weaker inquiry at per ton:—Billet, 8s to 10s 6d; bundle, 1s to 11s; log, 8s to 11s; bakers', 9s to 13s.

Hay.—Fairly good consignments, and comprising a larger proportion than usual of prime quality, for which competition was animated. Other kinds were also in better request. Best oaten, in bundles, 4s 7d to 5s 8d per cwt.; other kinds, from 2s 6d to 4s 1d; lucerne, in truss, 1s 9d to 2s 5d; wheaten, in bundles, 3s 10d; sheaves, 3s; oaten and wheaten, in bales, 4s 1d.

Straw.—Larger market than at previous sales. Clean and bright, in bundles, 2s to 2s 10d per cwt.

Chaff.—Only a small proportion of good lots forward. Oaten, in bags, 2s 2d to 5s 5d per cwt.; off qualities, from 2s 2d.

On the wharfs the following were the wholesale quotations:—

Maize.—In addition to the usual river shipments a New Zealand port arrival was also received. Good river parcels quoted at 3s 10d per bushel.

Oats.—Stocks augmented by a small New Zealand consignment yesterday. Bright stout heavy feed steady at 2s 1d to 2s 2d per bushel; other kinds from 1s 10d; seed to 2s 3d.

Barley.—Best Cape seed is nominally worth 3s to 3s 6d per bushel.

Bran.—Unimproved at 8d per bushel for parcels by rail. New Zealand quoted at 7½d.

Pollard.—Still weak at 8d per bushel.

Hay.—Light shipments from the Hunter River this morning. Prime dry green lucerne steady at £2 10s to £3 per ton; other sort, especially inferior, is quiet from 25s.

Chaff.—Stocks supplemented by a Victorian supply this morning. Good Adelaide and Victorian parcels, £4 15s to £5 5s per ton; interior, from £3.

Onions.—The balance of late arrivals from Victoria, together with last night's shipment, being in excess of requirements caused a reduction in values. £8 per ton is quoted.

Potatoes.—The market is unaltered at 32s 6d per ton for Circular Head, some holders quoting 35s; New Zealand, from 20s; new River potatoes, £4.

Butter.—Slack. Best Illawarra dairy sorts 6d per lb.; roll, 6d; factory-made, to 8d.

Cheese.—Ample supplies. The demand continues weak for ordinary colonial descriptions at 2d to 4d per lb.; loaf cheese 4½d.

Bacon.—Ham-cured southern is most in request at 6d to 7d per lb.; machine-cured worth 6d to 6½d; heavy and rough pieces, 3d to 5d; ham, 6d to 9d.

Lard.—Unimproved at 3d per lb. for finely rendered in bladders. In bulk from 2d.

Honey.—Good and clear, 4d to 5d per lb. Other sorts from 2½d.

Eggs.—Additions to stocks chiefly from the Northern rivers this morning. Quoted at 11d per dozen.

Poultry.—Fair request at per pair:—Fowls, 3s to 4s 6d; ducks, 3s 3d to 5s; geese, 7s to 9s; turkeys, 8s to 12s.

Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report that at their grain sale yesterday they quitted medium feed oats at 1s 11d; good, 2s 1d to 2s 1½d; medium maize, 3s 9d, prime realising 3s 10d.

FAT STOCK SALES.

At Homebush fat stock sales on Monday, 934 head of cattle were yarded. The market was unaltered, and rather dull. The best lot of bullocks averaged £5 15s per head, others from £5 18s. No cows were forward. The number of sheep to hand, 18,934, was in excess of requirements, and sales were slack at easier values. The best lot of merino wethers sold at 10s 2d per head; others from 4s 11d. Lambs realised 6s 5d to 9s 2d per head. The following sales are reported:—By Messrs. Pitt, Son, and Badgery.—108 bullocks, J. Wallacombe, £6 11s 1d; 1037 wethers (wool), G. and C. [illegible], 572 wethers (wool), 9s 4d; 256 wethers (wool), Walhallow Estate, 9s 1d, 142 wethers (wool), 9s, 155 lambs (wool), 9s to 9s 2d, [illegible] lambs (wool), 7s 4d, 324 wethers, S. THE SYDNEY MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The medical school in connection with the Sydney University was initiated some five years ago with the insignificant number of four students, but it has grown so well that there are now more than 50, including one lady medical student, who are diligently pursuing the course of medicine. When Professor Stuart, the professor of anatomy and physiology, came to Sydney to start the school he had a cottage hastily erected as a temporary school in which to carry on the work until such time as the new building, which was then only conceived, but which now displays its magnificent proportions and beautiful design in the University ground, was completed. This cottage, it is hardly necessary to say, is quite inadequate to present requirements, not to speak of the future. The necessity for a building of the large dimensions of that just being completed, and which has already been described in detail in the Herald, has no doubt been sometimes questioned, but by making a comparison with Melbourne where there is a flourishing medical school, all doubt should disappear. With its million of inhabitants Victoria has about 250 medical students, so that considering our already greater and more rapidly increasing population, our medical school, in the light of the accommodation now being made ready, will in all probability at no distant period have on its roll more than 250 students. It should be stated that the Melbourne medical school has been in existence for upwards of twenty years.

Any visitor to the Sydney University will be struck with the imposing appearance of the new medical school. It is situated on the right hand or southern side of the University looking towards the city, and its long axis is at right angles to that of the University. It forms no part of the quadrangle which may some day complete the University, and this separation has been designedly adopted in order to permit of the extension of the medical school which in a comparatively young and fast-growing country may be found necessary. Owing to the circumscribed sphere in the quadrangle this extension would in a large measure, had the medical school been erected therein, have been rendered almost impossible. Furthermore, the noble building would have been lost to the view in such a position. The principal façade of the school is seen from the Newtown-road, on which it looks in all the majesty and beauty of its form. The best view of the edifice, however, is to be had from Cleveland-street, into which it fits so well in the vista that one would think it had been so arranged, though we are informed it is merely an accident. The eastern façade dominates the city, and will, when the work is completed, be placed in connection with the University building by the continuing of the asphalt esplanade. The school is built of the very best Pyrmont stone, the various shades of colour harmonising to produce a most pleasing effect. The style of architecture is the Gothic, and the building is in three divisions, joined by three central portions, so that the southern and northern façades present each three distinct gables. In this way, taking in the eastern and western ends, there are altogether eight distinct ends or projections, each of which contains a large lecture room or theatre. This renders extension of the building very easy at any time. It economises expense and trouble, and permits of additions being made without injuring in the least the character of the design. The basement, owing to the slope of the ground, is at the western end only, and runs along one half the length of the entire building. Its ample space is broken up into several conveniently shaped apartments, which will be utilised as preparation rooms and cellars, and for other purposes essential in schools of this description. The walls are very thick, and the rooms will therefore always be found cool. On this floor also are the refreshment rooms, the lavatories, retiring rooms for the lady students, and the resident porter's quarters, and all, indeed, admirably arranged. The ladies will have no reason to complain. Professor Stuart has well considered their comfort, for he says the school is to be open to all without distinction. The ground floor contains the principal portion of the laboratory accommodation, and is traversed by a wide corridor running the whole length of the building; and each segment is traversed by a smaller corridor, running at right angles to the main corridor. On the upper floor are six large rooms—that is to say, a dissecting room, with five lecture theatres for the eight departments of the school—anatomy, physiology, pathology, materia medica, medicine, surgery, midwifery, and medical jurisprudence. These rooms will be fitted with galleries. We noticed that they are much higher than any of the others, and that the windows take up a large amount of wall area. The ventilation should, therefore, be good, even in the presence of large classes. The corridors on this floor correspond to those of the lower floor.

Rising out of the central part of the building is a fine tower, over 100 feet high, embellished with nicely-worked turrets, something after the style of the University tower. But this tower is more than an ornament. In it is a water tank having a capacity of 20,000 gallons, chiefly intended as a provision in case of fire, but partly to drive various pieces of apparatus in the laboratories.

From whatever point looked at, whether as a handsome building or a useful one, this new medical school is certainly a worthy addition to the University of Sydney. It is designed to give every accommodation for the teaching and study of pure medical science. It is in close proximity to the Prince Alfred Hospital, between which and the school a special pathway is to be made, by which the students may speedily pass from one institution to the other. The hospital being the clinical field for the school, the correlative importance of this arrangement cannot be over-estimated. But, in addition to this, the three colleges—St. John's, St. Andrew's, and St. Paul's—are in the same ground, thus enabling students from a distance to reside on the field of their operations. We must pause, however, to say the building is not yet ready for occupation. The walls are all complete, the roof is on, and everything is ready for the finishing trades. The specifications for the completion of the building are all prepared, and tenders are to be called for the plastering, flooring, and finishing work generally this week or next. The grounds are in great disorder; but steps will be taken during the next few days to arrange for the carrying out of this work also. We are given to understand that there should be no difficulty in having the building ready for the formal opening on the 26th of January next, and completely finished and ready for use about March. Professor Stuart urged on the Jennings Government the advisability of making the opening of the school a feature in the celebration of the centenary, and the matter has been brought under the notice of Sir Henry Parkes with the same object. Marking as it does an important epoch in the intellectual life of the colony, the opening of such an institution should form a prominent feature in the approaching celebration.

RECONSTRUCTION OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I do hope the rebuilding of this great institution will be designed by some one who understands the business. Space is always desirable. I would therefore suggest that iron girders, iron pillars, &c., be used instead of stone pillars and wooden girders, for in one of our splendid (as far as outside appearance goes) Government buildings the supports are so thick that the light is almost shut out of several of the rooms, rendering it necessary, whenever the sun is overcast, to light the gas; and I assure you the gas item bill alone must cost the colony some fabulous outlay.

For quick baking. Raises bread, biscuit, rolls, muffins, and all kinds of cake, without the aid of yeast, saleratus, or cream of tartar, rendering them lighter, sweeter, and more palatable and wholesome. Avoids all decomposition of the flour as caused by yeast rising, thereby saving a large percentage of its most nutritive elements, making the flour go one-fourth further. Food raised by the Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot, even by dyspeptics, with impunity. Maintains its full strength in any climate any length of time. Endorsed by the United States Government Chemists, and by the leading physicians and hygienists of America, and adopted for use by the United States Government. Guaranteed absolutely pure and wholesome.

Sold only in tins.

In the list of stations the column headed W.T. gives the state of the weather at 9 a.m., b, standing for blue sky; c, detached clouds; d, drizzling rain; f, fog; g, gloomy; h, hazy; m, misty; n, frosty; o, overcast; p, passing showers; r, rain; s, snow; t, thunder; u, threatening. The next column, M'x gives the maximum temperature for previous 24 hours; M'n the corresponding minimum temperature; r'n, the rain for the previous 24 hours. The symbols used in the map are explained on the margin. At each coast station the wind symbol is placed like a vane pointing to the direction from which the wind is coming. A clear circle with it means fine weather; a circle with bar, cloudy weather; and a black spot, raining. Next to this symbol are placed figures denoting the number of miles the wind is moving per hour; next, a symbol showing the state of the sea; and, lastly, figures denoting the shade temperature at 9 a.m. The barometer curve shows the state of barometers round the coast from Perth to Cooktown:—Pt. Perth; Ay, Albany; Ea, Eucla; CB, Cape Borda; A, Adelaide; Ro, Robe; P, Portland; M, Melbourne; W P, Wilson's Promontory; Go, Gabo; E, Eden; Ma, Moruya; C G, Jervis Bay; Wg, Wollongong; S, Sydney; N, Newcastle; P M, Port Macquarie; C, Clarence River; B, Brisbane; R, Rockhampton; Ct, Cooktown. Inland the state of barometer is given in figures at Albury, Deniliquin, Wentworth, Menindie, Bourke, and Alice Springs. The barometer curve enables one at a glance to trace the depressions, beginning with Western Australia, and passing along eastwards; northerly winds preceding them, and southerly following.

The rainfall on Sundays or holidays, when this map is not published, is in all cases included in the quantities shown by the next following map.

9 A.M. OBSERVATIONS.

Western Australia.—Generally fine, with light E. to N.E. winds and smooth sea. Extremes of barometers and temperature: Esperance Bay, 30.33; Carnarvon, 29·96 and 86·; Albany, 63·.

South Australia.—Generally overcast and gloomy south of Beltana, with fresh S.W. to S.E. winds and moderate to rough sea; showery at places in S.E. parts; rain has fallen generally south of Beltana; heaviest in S.E. and on Mount Lofty Ranges. Naracoorte, 1·72; Macclesfield, 2·65; Riverton, 1·31; and Watervale, 1·10 inch; heavy rains are also reported from the north coast; Port Darwin had 2·47in. rain. Extremes of barometers and temperature: Eucla, 30·38; Port Darwin, 29·86; Daly Waters, 85·; and Cape Northumberland, 52·.

Victoria.—Generally cloudy and squally, and in parts showery; fresh S.W. to S.E. winds; moderate sea. Rain has fallen generally; heaviest 1·09in., at Portland; Ballarat, 0·82; Horsham, 0·80; other stations, from 0·20 to 0·50in. Extremes of barometers and temperature: Portland, 30·21, Omeo, 30·03; Horsham, 62·; and Ballarat, 49·.

Tasmania.—Generally cloudy and showery; fresh to strong S.E. winds; moderate to rough sea. Rainfall: Generally from 0·09 to 0·44in. Extremes of barometers and temperature: Hobart, 30·20; Circular Head, 30·13; Southport, 45·; and Low Heads, 53·.

New Zealand.—Showery and squally from N.W. in Cook Strait; fine, with N.E. winds, in north; gloomy, with S.E. winds, in south. Barometers: In North, 30·10·; to southward, 29·80·.

Queensland.—Fine in extreme north, more or less cloudy and gloomy over the remainder of the colony; light to fresh N.E. to N.W. winds, smooth sea. Rain has fallen in the Bourke district and on the Darling Downs. Bourketown reports 3·29 inches rain. Extremes of barometers and temperature: Townsville, 29·99; Thursday Island, 29·90·; Cooktown, 85·; and Roma, 72·.

New South Wales.—Generally fine, with more or less clouds, and at places gloomy; showery in south coast districts, winds are generally light to fresh S.W. to S.E.; along the coast rather strong, squally southerlies; the sea is smooth to moderate, but rather rough off Gabo Island. During the past 48 hours rains fell generally over the colony except in N.W. and N.E. parts. The heaviest falls occurred within lines joining Eden, Albury, Dubbo, Quirindi, Singleton, and Bodalla, on which area of 18 scattered stations had from 1in. to 1½in. Extra station: Bega, 1·37in. rain. Extremes of barometers and temperature: Wentworth, 30·26; Cape St. George, 29·81; Lismore, 78·; and Kiandra, 46·.

3 P.M. OBSERVATIONS.

South Australia.—Adelaide, S.S.E., 18, cloudy, temperature 60·.

Victoria.—Portland, S.S.E., 28, cloudy, sea smooth, temperature 55·; Melbourne, S., 13, threatening, temperature 56·; Cape Schanck, E.S.E., 23, cloudy and misty, temperature 58·; Wilson's Promontory, E., 23, cloudy and misty, sea moderate, temperature 53·; Lakes Entrance, S.S.E., 34, fine but cloudy, temperature 60·.

New South Wales.—Menindie, S., 28, fine, temperature 88·; Wentworth, S., 28, fine, but cloudy, temperature 64·; Deniliquin, S.S.W., 14, fine, but cloudy, temperature 70·; Eden, S.W., 28, raining, light east sea, temperature 58·; Moruya, S., 42, overcast, blowing a gale, sea rising, temperature 64·; Cape St. George, S.S.E., 56, cloudy, sea rising, temperature 65·; Sydney, S.S.E., 25, overcast, squally, and cool, sea rising, temperature 61·; Newcastle, S.S.E., 56, stormy, sea moderate, temperature 62·; Port Macquarie, S.W., 28, fine and sultry, sea smooth, temperature 81·; Clarence River, S.E., 14, cloudy and dull, sea smooth, temperature 73·; Walgett, calm, cloudy, temperature 81·; Dubbo, S.E., 14, stormy looking, temperature 73·; Goulburn, S.E., 14, dull, temperature 68·; Balranald, W., 14, cloudy and cool.

Queensland.—Townsville, N., 23, fine, but unsettled, temperature 80·; Mackay, E., 13, fine and warm; Rockhampton, N.E., 13, cloudy, temperature 83·; Cape Moreton, N.W., 18, heavy showers, temperature 72·; Brisbane, calm, raining, temperature 76·; Hughenden, S., 56, cloudy and threatening; Boulia, N., 18, cloudy; Blackall, N.W., threatening; Roma, W.N.W., 8, cloudy temperature 81·.

Government Notices.

Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney,
October 31, 1887.

BOTANY.—PETITION FOR A MUNICIPALITY.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, directs the publication, in accordance with the Municipalities Act of 1867, of the substance and prayer of a petition addressed to his Excellency, and signed by 313 persons, praying that their locality therein described may be erected into a Municipality, under the name of the Borough of Botany, and be divided into three Wards.

HENRY PARKES.

The Petitioners state that they are persons who, upon incorporation, would be liable to be assessed for municipal rates in respect of property or household residence.

That the population of the proposed Municipality is not less than 2000, and the area thereof does not exceed 9 square miles.

That the following are the boundaries proposed, viz. :—

MUNICIPALITY.

Bounded on the north by a straight line commencing at a point on the Bunnerong-road, about 8 chains south from Bird's Gully to the Botany-road, at the southern side fence of the Roman Catholic Church, and thence westerly by the northern fence of the water reserve to its most northerly point, and from thence continuing by that fence in a south-westerly direction to the waters of Cook's River, where that river enters Botany Bay; on the west and south by the waters of Botany Bay to the boundary of the Randwick Municipality at Bunnerong; and thence on the east by part of the Randwick Municipality, and by the Bunnerong-road to the point of commencement near Bird's Gully, excluding the main Botany-road.

WARDS.

That "Booralee" Ward consist of that portion of the proposed area lying between the water reserve fence on the north, the Botany-road on the east, and the waters of Botany Bay to Bunnerong on the west and south.

That "Cook" Ward consist of that portion of the proposed area lying between the boundary of North Botany on the north, the Botany-road to Wilson-street on the west, Wilson-street on the south, William-street and a straight line from thence to the northern boundary line on the east.

That "Banks" Ward consist of that portion of the proposed area lying between the Botany-road from Wilson-street to Bunnerong on the west, the Bunnerong-road on the east, the northern boundary on the north, and by "Cook" Ward to the point of commencement at Wilson-street.

And your Petitioners pray that the Municipality may be constituted under the name of the Borough or Municipality of "Botany."

And your Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF HURSTVILLE.

PETITION FOR DIVISION INTO WARDS.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, directs the publication, in accordance with the Municipalities Act of 1867, of the substance and prayer of a Petition from the Council of the Municipal District of Hurstville, representing that the population of that Municipal District now exceeds 1000, and praying for the division thereof into three wards.

HENRY PARKES.

The petitioners state that there are not less than 2000 inhabitants within the boundaries of the Municipality, and that the present and future interests of the ratepayers would be greatly forwarded by the division of the Municipal District into three wards.

The following are the boundaries of the proposed wards :—

BEXLEY WARD.

Commencing at the intersection of the Illawarra Railway Line with the Harrow-road; thence by a line along the centre of that road, being the south-west boundary of the Municipal boundary of West Botany, as notified in the Government Gazette of the twenty-first day of December, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six; thence by the south-western boundaries of that Municipal District bearing north-westerly, northerly, again north-westerly to Wolli Creek, which forms the south-eastern boundary of the Municipal District of Canterbury, as notified in the Government Gazette of the eighteenth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine; thence by the boundaries of that Municipal District bearing south-westerly to the bridge at Croydon-road; thence by the centre of that road bearing southerly, then westerly, then south, to the centre of Forest-road; thence by a line between Fulford, Kylfoil, Carlton Estate, and John Roberts's forty acres, which intersects the Illawarra Railway Line; thence by the said line bearing north-easterly to the point of commencement.

HURSTVILLE WARD.

Commencing at the south-west boundary of Bexley Ward, on the Illawarra Railway Line, at the eastern boundary of John Roberts's forty acres; thence by the centre of the said line bearing westerly and then south-westerly to Joseph Rylan's thirty acres; thence by a line bearing northerly, between J. Newman's sixteen and twenty-six acres; thence by the said line to the western boundary of Penshurst Park; thence by that boundary to the Broad Arrow-road; thence by the southern boundary of the Municipal District of Canterbury bearing south-easterly to the bridge at Wolli Creek, at the north-western boundary of Bexley Ward; thence by a line bearing south-westerly, then westerly, then south along the centre of Croydon-road, to the point of commencement.

PEAKEHURST WARD.

Commencing at the north-west boundary of Hurstville Ward at Broad Arrow-road; thence by a line along the centre of that road south-westerly to the centre of Bond's-road, which forms the east boundary of James Ryan's thirty-six acres; thence by a line along the centre of that road northerly to meet the easterly prolongation of a line along the centre of the road dividing James Ryan's thirty-six acres aforesaid from Robert Lack's fifty acres; thence by that prolongation line and its westerly continuation to the centre of Belmore-road; thence by a line along the centre of that road southerly to meet the easterly prolongation of a line along the centre of the road dividing Mary Shepley's fifty acres from George Pashley's eighty acres; thence by that line westerly to Saltpan Creek; thence by Saltpan Creek to George's River, and by that river to the Illawarra Railway Bridge; thence by the centre of that railway line to the eastern boundary of Joseph Rylan's thirty acres, which forms the south-west boundary of Hurstville Ward; thence by a line along the west boundary of Hurstville Ward to the point of commencement.

"Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that your Excellency will be pleased to cause all such acts to be done and performed in compliance with the Municipal Act of one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and that the necessary proclamation may be made in the Government Gazette declaring the Municipal District of Hurstville shall in future be divided into three Wards as before named, and be governed by nine Aldermen."

SILENCE IS GOLDEN.—In the home circle it is extremely disagreeable to be annoyed with discordant sounds. We expect to leave noise and bustle in the busy city, and come to our home for quiet—and after all perhaps we find a whirring racketty sewing-machine, clattering away as if noise was a special requirement in the art of sewing. The remedy for this evil is to put the noisy pest in an outhouse, and buy in its stead one of those SILENT MACHINES known as the AUTOMATIC, or Self-regulating, which give no trouble—make no noise—are liked by all who buy them; can be used by the delicate invalid with safety, and are real home treasures. ARMIDALE.

(BY OUR TRAVELLING REPORTER.)

II.

Armidale is a very clean place. Since it was incorporated in 1863 the municipal representatives of the people have done very fair work. The roads are well kept, and, unlike those of Tenterfield and Glen Innes, and even Inverell, do not become impassable after a shower. The reason for this is because there is good natural drainage here to carry off the storm water. The soil also is red and gravelly, and not black and sticky, like that of towns farther north. The first Mayor of Armidale was Mr. George Allingham, who is still alive, and holds the position of returning officer for the New England electorate. There were elected with that gentleman five other aldermen, viz., Messrs. J. Moore, T. B. Fitzgerald, John Trim, James Tysoe, and Franklin Jackes. With the exception of Mr. Jackes, these gentlemen are all living. Mr. Jackes left an excellent name as the founder of the largest orchard on the plateau to which reference will presently be made. The present Mayor of the town is Mr. G. Holmes, the landlord of the New England Hotel, of which it will be remembered Mr. Scholes was formerly proprietor. It is estimated that the municipal boundaries include 650 buildings. The capital value of the rated property is a quarter of a million, and the annual value £25,000. The general rates amount to about £1200, and there is a lighting rate which yields half as much again. The roads and streets within the municipality are some 50 miles in length, and 20 miles have been formed, and to some extent lighted with gas. The council of the day have also had a town hall erected at an expense of £6000.

The climate of this district seems quite as pure as that of the Blue Mountains, and the altitude is equal to that of many stations on that line that residents of Sydney seek for recuperative purposes. The atmosphere is remarkably clear, and the drives are superior to those you meet on the western mountains. For these reasons many people come from Sydney to these latitudes in search of health, and unless there is something organically wrong with their constitutions, they almost invariably secure it. You may get more home life here, and less solitude than you do on the mountains.

The fruit industry must eventually become a very considerable one in this part of New England. At present the principal growers are Messrs. Jackes Brothers, of Orchardfield, who have 106 acres under trees; Mr. George Faint, of Spring Valley, who has 50 acres; Mrs. Craigie, who has 12; Mr. John Yeomans, of Greenhill, 20; and Mr. J. Moore, of Moore Park, who has 14 acres. In addition to these, however, there are many small growers, and people generally who have spare land are also commencing to utilise it for fruit-growing. No doubt before many years the hills here will abound with fruit trees just as those do which you see in the vicinity of Hobart. Orchardfield, the property of Messrs. Jackes Brothers, is situated about five miles from the city, on the main northern road towards Uralla. As its size indicates, it is perhaps the largest orchard in the colony, and at the present moment it presents a most beautiful appearance, the whole of the trees being in bloom. Apples and cherries are the chief fruits grown in the district which, however, is also the home of the pear, the plum, the quince, the walnut, and the smaller fruit trees of the old country. People come here from all quarters for the fruit, and orders from Sydney for it are very numerous. It is sent to all towns between this and the Queensland border, those on the north-western line as far as Walgett, and those between this and Sydney. The manufacture of cider has been attempted and attended with only moderate success, and the making of jam has been confined to that desired for domestic purposes. This season, however, Messrs. Jackes Brothers intend preserving fruit on the American principle of evaporisation. Hops, it is said, will grow well here, but at present the labour required for their production is too expensive, and consequently the industry is not engaged in. For the fruit generally, and for cherries particularly, there is a good demand, and those who will patiently wait for their trees to bear need not despair of obtaining a ready sale for their produce. As the orchards increase in extent and number, and the quantity of fruit produced is correspondingly enlarged, it seems probable that the manufacture of cider and the jam industry will be engaged in, and will furnish two additional valuable exports from the district.

There are in Armidale three imposing ecclesiastical edifices—an Anglican Cathedral, a Roman Catholic Cathedral, and a Presbyterian Church. The exterior of the first is decidedly dingy. It is built of brick, and the Armidale bricks have the peculiarity of turning nearly black as they become exposed to the atmosphere. A large amount of money was expended on the structure, but so far no tower or spire has been erected in connection with it, and it, therefore, presents rather a stunted appearance. The Roman Catholic Cathedral is more imposing, and is brighter in appearance. It also has neither tower nor spire, but as it is on a higher elevation it is much more conspicuous. The Presbyterian Church is the brightest looking of the three. The ecclesiastical property held by the Roman Catholic denomination is valuable, and is becoming increasingly so. The land alone consists of nine acres, and is pretty centrally situated, and besides the cathedral a bishop's residence, a nunnery, a high school, a parochial school and other buildings have been erected on it. A portion also has been laid out in gardens. The interior of the cathedral is very handsomely fitted up. The residence of the Bishop is closely adjacent to the cathedral, and is a two-storied brick building of considerable magnitude. The Dean, one of the merriest men in the district, dwells in the same place, and judging from the general comforts of the place his reverence has very agreeable quarters. The rooms are very cheerfully furnished, and altogether it does not appear to be a bad thing to be either a dean or a bishop after all, that is, of course, setting the austerities of the church aside. The dean has a well-selected library, and does not confine his selections solely to religious works. One of the prettiest features in connection with the cathedral, however, is the garden which surrounds it. This is under the care of Francis, a lay brother, and is replete with flowers of the choicest varieties, which have been gathered from Italy, Germany, France, and England, and is principally remarkable for its collections of pansies, and double primroses, the latter of which are white, mauve, and magenta, as well as the original colour. Brother Francis is an interesting study. He is an Italian, and belonged to the same order as the bishop, and he came to the colony as his personal attendant.

The great feature of interest in this fine church property, however to an outsider is the nunnery. This building is also closely adjacent to the cathedral. It is handsomely built of brick, and is two stories high, and it is surrounded with five acres of land, a large portion of which has been converted into gardens. Ordinary mortals will stroll around the fences and wonder what kind of a life is led by the nuns inside. They regard the place as an awful abode of mystery, and if they have listened to an Escaped Nun they picture the inmates as something which should be avoided as altogether uncanny. If they entered the nunnery they would be never more astonished in their lives. There is perhaps less mystery about it than you would like to have; and, apart from their frequent devotional exercises, these ladies appear to lead quite an every-day kind of life. There was in England once a fanatical member of Parliament who periodically introduced a motion for the official inspection of such places as these. Cui bono? They are—at least this one is—open to the supervision of any well-behaved citizen, male or female, who chooses to enter, and from 5 o'clock in the morning, when the nuns arise, until 9 in the evening, when they retire, the mother superior will show visitors through every part of the institution, and explain every detail, with the exception, perhaps, of the cells in which the nuns sleep, and a lady, if she were inquisitive enough, might even be permitted to inspect those.

The regulations do not admit of their roaming beyond the boundary fences: but if they find their lives inside too irksome, or not to their tastes, the gates are open and they can leave the institution when they like. As a matter of fact, their entrance into a convent means their retirement from the world, and then their lives are such busy ones that they have no time for outside matters. At all events, if they wish to "escape" they can do so. The mother superior here smiles when you speak of a nun "escaping." She herself (she is a German) says she is so happy that she would not change places with the Empress of Germany. Though in seclusion from the world, as it is generally known, and though never sharing in its dissipations and coarser pleasures, these people have a great deal of home enjoyment. They learn from the newspapers what transpires outside, and they have abundance of music. Several of them are ardent musicians and they gratify their tastes on the piano, the harmonium, or the violin, and among their instruments here there are also a tambourine, a banjo, and a cornet. Physically they are strong; a weak constitution would fail under the rigorous discipline, and the regularity of their habits gives them a hearty desire for open-air enjoyment, and you will see them here playing lawn tennis, and even rounders, with their scholars, as though they were children themselves; and you will hear their boisterous merriment mingling with that of their young playmates a long way off. They run two schools—a high school and a parochial school, and, so far as the German and French teachers are concerned, they would appear to be proficient in the act of instruction, for Mother Xavier states that at Duderstadt all teaching nuns had to undergo an examination at the hands of the Government before they were permitted to engage in the work of instruction. In the high school there are about 40 children, and in the parochial about 150, several of the scholars being Protestants. Their chapel, which was designed by Mr. Henry Elliott, of Armidale, is one of the most charming and daintiest structures of the kind you could imagine. It is small but excellently furnished, and is highly ornate with figures, station-pictures, and the other ecclesiastical elegancies they revere. Suffice it to say, that the nuns of Armidale seem a very happy group, and those who have eaten with them, talked and laughed more with them than did the writer, played with them and sang with them, and have familiarised themselves more with their inner life, say that a nun's lot is really what they themselves say it is—a very happy one.

LOSS OF LIFE AT SEA.

Dealing with the report of the Royal Commission on "Loss of Life at Sea," the Times of 14th September writes as follows:—

The report opens with a brief history of recent legislation in regard to merchant shipping and an examination of the results produced by the Act of 1876, the last important measure which dealt with the subject. The issue of this examination is eminently unsatisfactory. "When we look," says the report, "at the general results of the legislation thus referred to upon the loss of life and property at sea in British vessels, it is most unsatisfactory to find that no sensible effect has been produced in the reduction of this loss. . . . It appears that from 1874 to 1883 inclusively there was a marked increase in the losses of British ships, and in the lives of those employed on them." Later statistics, however, have considerably modified this melancholy conclusion. From the returns of three additional years, 1884-6, "it appears that the loss of life among crews and officers in merchant vessels registered in the United Kingdom, which was 2019 in 1883, fell in 1884 to 1181, in 1885 to 1190, and in 1886 to 1067; and this loss, which had averaged 1979 for the three previous years, fell on an average for the three years 1884-6 to 1146, a reduction of 42 per cent., showing a very great and satisfactory diminution." This diminution may be accounted for partly by a difference of weather, partly by a marked and very general decrease in the valuations of ships in policies of insurance—which, however, as the commissioners point out, did not begin to take effect till the spring of 1885—partly by the depression of trade, which led to the laying up of many inferior vessels. One of these causes—the decrease in the valuation of ships—is manifestly attributable, in some part at least, to the greater care on the part of some shipowners, induced by the great public attention directed to the subject of loss of life at sea in 1884; and "in any case," as the commissioners very pertinently remark, "it would appear that a large proportion of the loss of life in previous years was due to causes within control, and therefore preventable." On the other hand, the commissioners decline to attribute the diminution observed in 1884-6 to the legislation of 1874 and 1876. They consider that this legislation has to a great extent failed, and they inquire at considerable length into the causes of its failure. As the result of this examination they conclude that, for a variety of reasons which we have not at present space to examine, it is not expedient to attempt to proceed further in the direction of that legislation, so far as it tended to transfer the responsibility of shipowners to the officials of the Board of Trade, but that some alternative method should be sought for securing effective precautions against preventable loss of life at sea. "The other alternative policy which is possible is t[illegible] of increasing the direct civil responsibility of [illegible]owners for sending their vessels to sea in a [illegible] worthy condition and keeping them in this condition." [illegible] civil responsibility is threefold—first to underwriters, secondly to charterers and owners of cargoes, and thirdly to officers and men employed on the vessels. The first responsibility is by far the most important, and is consequently examined by the commissioners at great length. The others are subsidiary, and need not detain us on the present occasion. If the law of marine insurance could once be settled on a firm, equitable, and satisfactory basis, we should secure the most effective guarantee against preventable loss of life at sea, because we should engage the self-interest of shipowners on the side of prevention, precaution, and seaworthiness. The subject is a very intricate one, and one in which dogmatism is peculiarly out of place; but we presume that no serious exception can be taken to the proposition that it is not consistent with reason, with morality, or with policy that a shipowner should be able to make a profit out of the loss of his ship. There is no doubt that this is possible under the existing law of marine insurance; and those who object to measures for rendering it impossible in future must be prepared to show, not only that the practice is rare, but that its prohibition would result in so much confusion and inconvenience to shipowners and to the shipping interests in general, that the mischief done would be out of all proportion to the advantages secured.

The first proposition, at any rate, is one which it would be very difficult to establish in face of the evidence advanced by the Commissioners. "It is certain," they say, "that there have been instances in which ships have been lost with all hands, and where the owners, by being insured for more than the full value of the vessels, and all reasonable expectations of freight and profit, have been considerable gainers by the loss. . . . Mr. Hollams, a solicitor with great experience in cases of marine insurance, states that it has happened a great many times in his knowledge that shipowners have made a profit out of the loss of their vessels, and to a very considerable extent." This is evidence of the most serious import; but even in default of such evidence it seems to stand to reason that, if the law permits a shipowner to make a profit out of the loss of a ship, there will be found some shipowners unscrupulous enough to take advantage of this state of the law. Shipowners are but men, though we have no doubt that as a class they are upright and honourable men. But in every class there are some unscrupulous men who will stick at nothing where profit is concerned; and even a shipowner who is perfectly honourable and conscientious may quite unconsciously slip into habits of inattention and carelessness when he is secure against the natural consequences of such faults. "An owner," as the Commissioners very truly say, "who is fully insured, as compared with one who is uninsured or who bears part of the risk himself, is almost insensibly deprived of many of the motives or inducements to care and caution which must inevitably be entertained by the other." And, again, "the interference with the responsibility of shipowners resulting from full insurance has its bearing upon every matter connected with shipping, the construction of the ship, its loading, its equipment, its manning, its officers and crew, and the sailing directions given to them." It may be urged that in case of full insurance the responsibility and interest of the shipowner are merely transferred to the underwriter, and that the latter will be impelled by self-interest not to insure any ship beyond its value, and not to insure an unseaworthy ship at all. "In practice," say the commissioners, "this is not the the case," and they give at length their reasons for this opinion. In fact there is no doubt that ships are not unfrequently over-insured, that they are lost when over-insured to the great advantage of the shipowner, and that there has been of late years "a tendency in the practice of shipowners more and more to cover by insurance every loss which by any possibility could fall upon them, thus reducing their motives to do all in their power to prevent loss. It has also been stated that of late years there has been a great increase of 'honour policies,' by which the underwriters are bound in honour to pay on loss of the vessel without any question as to the interests of the insurer." Such a system is manifestly contrary to public policy and public morality. If it produces less evil than might be anticipated, that is greatly to the credit of shipowners as a class; but, even so, a system is manifestly defective, not to say vicious, which makes it a man's interest to do wrong and leaves it only to his conscience to restrain him. However strong his conscience may be, it is, at any rate, safer to have self-interest on the same side. From all this it follows that it is desirable so to amend the law of marine insurance as to secure, in the words of the Commissioners, "that every shipowner insuring his vessel should retain some uninsured interest." The principle is, in our judgment, unimpeachable; the main difficulties lies in giving it practical effect. The Commissioners propose that there shall be implied in every policy a warranty that the insurer will remain his own insurer for 3 per cent. of the valuation, and that a person knowingly making a false claim should forfeit the whole of his policy. "We think," say the Commissioners, "that a provision of this character would be effectual, and that it would only inconvenience the small minority of owners who may desire to evade the law or to make fraudulent claims." At any rate such provision would make it impossible for the future for a man to make a profit, as some men certainly do at present, out of the loss of his ship.

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Are admitted by thousands to be worth a GUINEA a BOX for Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as wind and pain in the stomach, sick headache, giddiness, fullness and swelling after meals, dizziness and drowsiness, cold chills, flushings of heat, loss of appetite, shortness of breath, costiveness, scurvy, blotches on the skin, disturbed sleep, frightful dreams, and all nervous and trembling sensations, &c. The first dose will give relief in 20 minutes. This is no fiction, for they have done it in thousands of cases. Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

For females of all ages these pills are invaluable, as a few doses of them carry off all gross humours, open all obstructions, and bring about all that is required. No female should be without them. There is no medicine to be found to equal BEECHAM'S PILLS for removing any obstruction or irregularity of the system. If taken according to the directions given with each box, they will soon restore females of all ages to sound and robust health.

For a weak stomach, impaired digestion, and all disorders of the liver, they act like "MAGIC," and a few doses will be found to work wonders upon the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the long-lost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse into action with the ROSEBUD of health the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are FACTS admitted by thousands, embracing all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the nervous and debilitated is that BEECHAM'S PILLS have the largest sale of any patent medicine in the world.

BEECHAM'S MAGIC COUGH PILLS.

As a remedy for Coughs in general, asthma, difficulty of breathing, shortness of breath, tightness and oppression of the chest, wheezing, &c., these Pills stands unrivalled. They speedily remove that sense of oppression and difficulty of breathing which nightly deprive the patient of rest. Let any person give Beecham's Cough Pills a trial, and the most violent cough will in a short time be removed.

Caution.—The public are requested to notice that the words "Beecham's Pills, St. Helens," are on the Government Stamp affixed to each box of the pills. If not on, they are a forgery.

Prepared only and sold wholesale and retail by the proprietor, T. Beecham, chemist, St. Helens, Lancashire, England, in boxes at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold by all Druggists and Patent Medicine Dealers throughout the colonies.

SIR HENRY PARKES says he won't allow the Government Workshops to step in and compete with LOCAL ENTERPRISE.

READ HIS SPEECH on the question in LAST FRIDAY'S PAPERS.

Whose were the lowest colonial tenders for the manufacture of railway engines? WHY, HUDSON BROTHERS'.

Who have the largest plant in the colony to do the work? WHY, HUDSON BROTHERS.

Then, who are sure to get the contract! WHY, HUDSON BROTHERS.

What does this mean! Why, simply that Hudson Brothers will have work enough to keep them going for years.

Will not this INCREASE THE PRICE of MOUNT MORGAN NORTH!

1. HARROWBY BRUSH FARM.

A Magnificent ORCHARD PROPERTY, just come to bearing, in A1 order, and yielding a handsome income.

AREA 40 ACRES, together with Caretaker's Residence, and all Improvements.

The Orchard Crops include ORANGES, GRAPES, APRICOTS, PEACHES, PLUMS, APPLES, PASSION FRUIT, &c., &c.

The whole to be Sold in ONE LINE, as above; or 2.

Failing to find a Purchaser for the FREEHOLD, the WHOLE of the SUMMER FRUIT CROP as under:—

Lot A.—The whole of the Summer Fruit growing on 14 Acres, being the youngest trees in the orchard, together with the Summer Fruit on 4 Acres of matured trees.

Lot B.—The whole of the Summer Fruit growing on about 6 Acres.

Lot C.—The GRAPES and PASSION FRUIT on about 3½ Acres.

In 1885, 7½ TONS of GRAPES were SOLD.

In 1886, 6 TONS of GRAPES were SOLD, and it is estimated that fully 4 TONS were lost through the heavy rains.

The Crop this year is heavy, and bids fair to be highly remunerative.

Inspection of the Property and Growing Crops is invited at once. Mr. J. Mondel is in charge, and will show intending purchasers round.

HARDIE and GORMAN will sell, under instructions from the TRUSTEES, Messrs. THOS. DALTON (Dalton Brothers), and JAMES BURNS (Burns, Philp, and Co., Limited), at their Rooms, Pitt-street, at 11.30 o'clock, WEDNESDAY, 16th NOVEMBER, The above described fine Orchard Property, suited for a gentleman's estate, or for investment.

EXCELLENT RESIDENCE of 12 rooms, with kitchen and storeroom detached

STORE BUILDINGS consist of one large shop or store, handsomely fitted up, and five other apartments, one of which is the post-office

TEN WORKMEN'S HOUSES, of from 4 to 8 rooms each, nearly new

STERN-WHEEL DROGHER, with 16-h.p. engine and multitubular boiler, steam winch, &c.

THIS PROPERTY is situated on one of the most picturesque and beautiful headlands on the Karuah or Booral River, and formed part of the A.A. Company's property. It is about the only available piece of freehold land to be had on the north side of Port Stephens harbour commanding deep water. The river is here crossed by a punt connecting with the Raymond Terrace-road at Sawyer's Point. No expense has been spared in the erection and finish of the residence, nor in the preparing and planting of the orchard and garden, which are of large area, and stocked with choice fruit trees of every description.

To the speculator or sportsman the opportunity offers of acquiring a splendid residence, with abundance of fishing and shooting, and either selling or sub-letting the mills and workmen's cottages, and then leaving 15 acres for subdivision.

Timber is plentiful on Crown lands to the rear of the company's property, and within easy distance of accessible creeks, whence it is conveyed by the drogher.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH will sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY, 11th November, at 11 o'clock, THE ABOVE WELL-KNOWN PROPERTY.

Inventory, Ground Plan, &c., may be seen at the Rooms. (1526)

The above large and valuable block, consisting of Ruse's 100-acre grant and Stahl's two grants, parish of St. Matthew, at Riverstone. It is manifest to anyone knowing the district for even the last four years that valuable improvements have been made in many directions thereon, and there can be no doubt that year by year greater strides of advancement will occur.

Plan on view. (1447)

COUNTY OF MACQUARIE.

THE REDBANK ESTATE, situate on the Hastings River, about 14 miles from Port Macquarie, containing about 2480 Acres of Land, or 2435 exclusive of roads.

FOR POSITIVE SALE, under the direction of the Master in Equity.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY, the 18th of November, 1887, at 12 o'clock.

The above extensive block of land, having a frontage of about 50 chains to the north bank of the HASTINGS RIVER, and running back about 4 miles. About 333½ acres on the frontage, extending to the GOWRIE-ROAD, are described as very rich alluvial soil, nearly all cleared and under cultivation, and yielding a rental of £190 per annum. The produce of the property is easily conveyed to PORT MACQUARIE, the RIVER HASTINGS being navigable for vessels of light draught close to the estate. The rest of the land is forest timbered with blackbutt, gum, and other large descriptions, well-grown and of marketable value.

PLAN ON VIEW AT THE ROOMS. TERMS AT SALE.

FULL PARTICULARS of TITLE can be obtained from Messrs. Want, Johnson, and Co., Norwich-chambers, Hunter-street, Sydney; and from Messrs. Bradley and Son, solicitors, 58, Margaret-street, Sydney, solicitors for the estate. (1402)

Deposit; 25 per cent. on or before 31st December, 1887; and the remaining half as above provided.

PLAN in course of preparation by Messrs. PIKE and OWEN, Surveyors, Sydney.

Lithographs on application to the Auctioneers.

F. W. A. Downes, Esq., on the Estate, will show intending purchasers the Property.

Solicitors to the Estate—Messrs. STAIN and MOORE, Exchange, Sydney.

The Auctioneers, in placing these valuable Farms in the market for public competition, beg to point out the high quality of the land for the cultivation of lucerne, maize, and other produce, and that their situation is convenient for the supply of fresh food to the metropolis, being only about 4 miles from CAMDEN, and thence by tram and train.

Brownlow Hill is surrounded by Residential and other first-class Properties, now in the hands of the energetic and enterprising gentlemen mentioned above, whose efforts and capital cannot fail to bring the Camden District to the front, and its lands to a high state of productiveness and profit.

The Estate has been subdivided carefully into areas ranging from 40 to 180 acres, so as to suit all classes of buyers, and it is now for public sale, by order of the trustees of the will of the late J. F. Downes, Esq., the opportunity of acquiring a farm in such a noted and advancing district should be availed of at the coming auction. It may be mentioned that the Camden Co-operative Dairy Factory is in course of erection close to the boundary of this property, a step which is likely to be followed by other similar enterprises, showing the high esteem entertained by capitalists for the rich character of the Camden District.

Important SALE of STATION PROPERTY, with Superior MERINO SHEEP.
WINGADEE WEST STATION,
on the Castlereagh River, and situated near Coonamble, New South Wales.
POWERS, RUTHERFORD, and CO. (in conjunction with Messrs. Dalgety and Co., Limited) are instructed by Messrs. Andrew Tobin and Sons to SELL by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Sale Rooms of Messrs. Dalgety and Co., Limited, 86, Bourke-street West, on FRIDAY, 2nd December next, at half-past 2 o'clock p.m., WINGADEE WEST,
comprising the following runs:—Gungalma, Gungalma North, Pier Pier East, Tunder, Dahomey No. 2, Merriossay, and Upper Merriossay, being the western portion of the well-known WINGADEE STATION, and containing an area of about
123,600 ACRES,
comprising about 28,330 acres freehold and 8000 acres resumed area, the balance being leasehold area.
With the Station will be sold about 65,800 Merino SHEEP, as follow:—
EWES.
10,000 weaners
5,000 two-tooth
5,000 four-tooth
5,000 eight-tooth
6,000 five years
9,000 six years and upwards
40,000
WETHERS.
15,000 weaners
5,000 two-tooth
5,000 six-tooth
25,000
RAMS.
800
The above will consist of a fair run of the ages mentioned of the sheep now depasturing on the Wingadee runs, excepting the studs. The Wingadee sheep are too well-known to need comment. They have been carefully classed every year, and no expense has been spared in the selection of the most desirable rams.
The Wingadee brand is one the most favourably known in the London wool market, where, for years past, it has brought the highest prices for scoured wool.
The improvements are first-class, the homestead is substantial and well built, and contains seven rooms, the bachelors' quarters six rooms, also kitchen, stabling, stores, and other outbuildings. There is also a cottage at Gungalma, and a hut with yards at Tunder.
The property is divided into 20 paddocks by about 140 miles of five, six, and seven wire fencing. There are four sets of drafting yards, judiciously placed for working the sheep. It is well watered, having about 17 miles frontage to the right bank of the Nedgera Creek, about nine miles double frontage to the Moulma Creek, about five miles frontage to the left bank of the Moulma Creek, and about 16 miles frontage to the left bank of the Castlereagh River. There are eight dams and 22 tanks suitably placed through the paddocks.
Further particulars and orders to inspect can be had on application to the agents.
